The Scientifiction Novels of C.S. Lewis Jared Lobdell, 2014-09-17 Used by C S Lewis himself the term scientifiction is revived here as it once encompassed not only what we call science fiction but also that indeterminate field of the 1940s and 1950s sometimes referred to as science fantasy leading up to Ray Bradbury along with a portion of that great realm that has come since the advent of The Lord of the Rings to be called fantasy Rather as an eighteenth century novel may pre date the divide between novel and romance so C S Lewis's interplanetary novels may be considered to pre date the modern divide between fantasy and science fiction and thus be thought of as scientifictional in nature The stories dealt with are those in which Elwin Ransom is a character the three usually called the space trilogy Out of the Silent Planet Perelandra and That Hideous Strength and the time fragment entitled The Dark Tower Lengthy chapters are devoted to each of the four Ransom stories The book presents a study of Lewis the nature of science fiction the nature of Lewis's Arcadian science fiction and his and its place in English literary history

Willa Cather and E. M. Forster Alan Blackstock, 2020-04-01 Though both Willa Cather and E M Forster have been alternately praised as progressives and criticized as conservatives the novels of both writers embody the tenets of liberal humanism while at the same time reflecting the tensions associated with modernism though both of these terms have come under intense critical scrutiny in recent years And while a few critics have offered brief comparisons of individual works or particular tendencies of Cather and Forster none has provided the systematic comparative analysis of the relationship between liberal humanist modernist tensions and the search for transcendence in their work that this book offers The principal aims of the present study are to locate the imagined alternatives to the lamentable present embodied in the novels of both writers and to explore how literature and the arts might assist in transcending the deficiencies and disunities of life in the modern era
