Sternberg, 2016-07-15 How can creative individuals and societies adapt to complex 21st century conditions Will civilizations thrive or collapse in the decades to come if they are not creative enough or if they are too creative Interest in these questions is growing however until now there has been inadequate understanding of the socioeconomic and cultural trends and issues that influence creativity This book provides that understanding while yielding insights from many of the world's leading creativity researchers and educational experts The book begins with a big picture interdisciplinary overview of the socioeconomic cultural and technological pressures emerging from 21st century globalization and describes some ways in which those pressures simultaneously suppress distort and invigorate creativity in general and creative education in particular After that prominent scholars of creativity and education use their impressive knowledge bases to clarify how we can adjust our thoughts and actions in order to give ourselves the best possible chances for success in this complex world The world's problems are complex messy and seemingly intractable but history tells us that human creativity finds solutions to even the most daunting problems This book collects perspectives on creative development from many of the most respected scholars and educators working in creativity and innovation today helping chart a path forward for creativity in the 21st century Jonathan Plucker Julian C Stanley Endowed Professor of Talent Development Johns Hopkins University A volume taking on macro opportunities and macroproblems by editors Ambrose and Sternberg is a treat for readers who want to think big and think forward Kick back for an imaginative journey that reaches back to early global insights but propels us solidly into the 21st century and beyond Ann Robinson Past President National Association for Gifted Children      Educating the More Able Student Martin Stephen, Ian Warwick, 2015-03-05 An unprecedented collaboration between leading names from the independent and state sectors this thought provoking book addresses the current crisis in education for the most able Grounded in the classroom the authors draw on their own first hand experiences and international research to scrutinise techniques and practices from leading countries exploring the more divisive issues that have damaged teaching worldwide Demonstrating what works well in teaching the most able and also what does not work the book offers a radical solution a stimulus to thought and a way forward for teachers academics and all those with responsibility for ensuring high standards in education including governments and members of regulatory authorities      The Palgrave Handbook of Transformational Giftedness for Education Robert J Sternberg, Don Ambrose, Sareh Karami, 2022-04-23 This handbook examines what education would look like if it prepared gifted students to transform the world to make it a better place for all not just for those who receive extra resources from schools in return for being labeled as gifted The editors explore how transformationally gifted people can seek to make the world a better and more just place they try to make a positive meaningful and possibly enduring contribution to changing things in the world that are not working They do not view giftedness merely as a transaction whereby in exchange for being labeled as gifted they accrue benefits to themselves such as a more prestigious education more income or residence in a more exclusive community The overarching aim of this book is to present conceptions of what identification and instruction of the gifted would look like if the focus of gifted education was transformational rather than transactional What if gifted education did not focus so much on acceleration vs enrichment or pull out versus in class integration but rather on how to be gifted in giving back in using one's gifts to create a better world Creative
