Arts, Inc. Bill Ivey, 2008-05-10 In this impassioned and persuasive book Bill Ivey the former chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts assesses the current state of the arts in America and finds cause for alarm Even as he celebrates our ever emerging culture and the way it enriches our lives here at home while spreading the dream of democracy around the world he points to a looming crisis The expanding footprint of copyright an unconstrained arts industry marketplace and a government unwilling to engage culture as a serious arena for public policy have come together to undermine art artistry and cultural heritage the expressive life of America In eight succinct chapters Ivey blends personal and professional memoir policy analysis and deeply held convictions to explore and define a coordinated vision for art culture and expression in American life

Performing Social Change on the Island of Ireland Ciara L. Murphy, 2023-05-22 This book examines the relationship between moments of significant social change on the island of Ireland and performance practice during the twentieth and twenty first centuries It examines how moments of significant change influence not only the content of performance practice but also the form and function of theatre production and reception This book investigates how the Troubles and subsequent Peace Process Second Wave Feminism the Celtic Tiger and neoliberalism social revolution and the COVID 19 pandemic impacts the form and function of performance practice across the island of Ireland Although these forms of theatre and performance making refer to varied and distinct lineages of practice internationally there are key parallels that compel a study of their inter relationality in a specific Irish context This book explores how the performance of Ireland illuminates histories and stories that are on the margins illuminating the lived realities of everyday life through the presentation of moments of violence oppression and trauma as something that is as important as the larger narratives often ascribed to nationhood This book asks how performance practice engages with and informs moments of major social change on the island of Ireland through the distinct yet intersecting lenses of place performance form and social context over the course of almost a century of Irish theatre and performance practice

Socially Engaged Art after Socialism Izabel Galliera, 2017-05-30 Reclaiming public life from the ideologies of both communist regimes and neoliberalism their projects have harnessed the politically subversive potential of social relations based on trust reciprocity and solidarity Drawing on archival material and exclusive interviews in this book Izabel Galliera traces the development of socially engaged art from the early 1990s to the present in Bulgaria Hungary and Romania She demonstrates that in the early 1990s projects were primarily created for exhibitions organized and funded by the Soros Centers for Contemporary Art In the early 2000s prior to Bulgaria Hungary and Romania entering into the European Union EU institutions likewise funded socially conscious public art in the region Today socially engaged art is characterised by the proliferation of independent and often self funded artists initiatives in cities such as Sofia Bucharest and Budapest Focusing on the relationships between art social capital and civil society Galliera employs sociological and political theories to reveal that while social capital is generally considered a mechanism of exclusion in the West in post socialist contexts it has been leveraged by artists and curators as a vital means of communication and action

Artistic Citizenship David James Elliott, Marissa Silverman, Wayne D. Bowman, 2016 Foundational Considerations Dance Movement based Arts Media Technology Music Poetry Storytelling Theater Visual Arts Beyond the Sovereign Self Grant H. Kester, 2023-11-17 In Beyond the Sovereign Self Grant H. Kester continues the critique of aesthetic autonomy begun in The Sovereign Self showing how socially engaged art provides an alternative aesthetic with greater possibilities for critical practice. Instead of grounding art in its distance from the social, Kester shows how socially engaged art developed in conjunction with forms of social or political resistance encourages the creative capacity required for collective political transformation. Among others, Kester analyzes the work of conceptual artist Adrian Piper, experimental practices associated with the escrache tradition in Argentina, and indigenous Canadian artists such as Nadia Myre and Michèle Taïna Audette showing how socially engaged art catalyzes forms of resistance that operate beyond the institutional art world. From the Americas and Europe to Iran and South Africa, Kester presents a historical genealogy of recent engaged art practices rooted in a deep history of cultural production beginning with nineteenth century political struggles and continuing into contemporary anticolonial resistance and other social movements.

New Trends in the Study of Haredi Culture and Society David N. Myers, Nechumi Malovicki-Yaffe, 2024-12-15 Who are Haredim? And why are they the source of both increasing attention and continuing misunderstanding? New Trends in the Study of Haredi Culture and Society draws on the innovative research of leading scholars from a variety of disciplines including history, religious studies, demography, linguistics, and geography to trace the growing prominence of Haredi, often called ultra-Orthodox Jews, in Jewish life. Haredi Jews are committed to preserving a measure of segregation from the rest of society consistent with the guiding principles of their forebears; yet increasingly they are appearing more visibly and assertively in public spaces. Demographic analysis suggests that they will constitute a much larger share, nearly one quarter of the world Jewish population, over the next twenty years. By examining the evolution of political, cultural, and social trends in Haredi communities across the globe, this interdisciplinary and transnational volume sheds important light both on Haredi communities and on the societies of which they are part.

Engaging Social Media in China Guobin Yang, Wei Wang, 2021-05-01 Introducing the concept of state-sponsored platformization, this volume shows the complexity behind the central role the party-state plays in shaping social media platforms. The party-state increasingly penetrates commercial social media while aspiring to turn its own media agencies into platforms. Yet state-sponsored platformization does not necessarily produce the Chinese Communist Party's desired outcomes. Citizens continue to appropriate social media for creative public engagement at the same time that more people are managing their online settings to reduce or refuse connection, inducing new forms of crafted resistance to hyper-social media connectivity. The wide-ranging essays presented here explore the mobile radio service Ximalaya FM, Alibaba's evolution into a multi-platform ecosystem, livestreaming platforms in the United States and China, the role of Twitter in Trump's North Korea diplomacy user generated content in the news media the emergence of new social agents mediating between state and society social media art projects Chinese and US scientists use of social media and reluctance to engage with WeChat Ultimately readers will find that the ten chapters in this volume contribute significant new research and insights to the fast growing scholarship on social media in China at a time when online communication is increasingly constrained by international struggles over political control and privacy issues
