The Agrarian Law of Yucatan (Classic Reprint) Yucatan Yucatan, 2015-07-10 Excerpt from The Agrarian Law of Yucatan That the national aspiration is clearly summed up to day in the conquest of the economic independence of the Mexican people the only condition that will permit them to make free and happy homes That riches concentrated in the hands of a few do not make any people happy and much less when the monopoly embraces the land the only source of riches That fundamentally the right to the land of certain people when there are thousands that have been organized like a herd to till it obtaining only the crumbs of production is from every point of view iniquitous and the greatest imposition that has existed in the world in order to sustain the chosen ones at the expense of the ignorant inevitably spreading fanaticism among them That before the universal destruction of all the religious systems and the commercial spirit in order to obtain the happiness of the people there rises finally the clear conception that every man has the right to obtain by means of work that which signifies his well being directly from natural sources which means that every man has a right to a piece of land in which by cultivation and by all the forms of work which modern economy teaches he may obtain all that is necessary to sustain himself with a certain amount of comfort and with the opportunity to practice the social relations necessary for the elevation of his spirit gaining in addition certain means for economy for his old age all of which signifies material welfare for his family which is the foundation in general terms of the happiness of peoples That decidedly the securing of this well being is the most burning necessity of the Nation and it is the final conquest of the Revolution which is synthesized in the decree of January 6 1915 issued by the First Chief of the Constitutionalist Army D Venustiano Carranza who finally announced the necessity of solving the agrarian problem in Mexico by creating the small property and intensifying production which constitutes the national wealth and when shared the happiness of the people That in conformity with the said decree the public commons shall be established again or what in the spirit of the word means lands for the people and that at the same time that the lands are to be given to the people the increase of the production must be assured which would not happen if the commons should be in cultivation and should be handed over to the community without any restriction or regulation which would undoubtedly bring about an immediate devastation of what exists That the same decree may establish clearly that if there are no commons the necessary land will be dispossessed in order that the people may work it thus establishing forever the right of dispossession by reason of public need About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
