Structure and Change in Indian Society Milton B. Singer, Bernard S. Cohn, Recent theoretical and methodological innovations in the anthropological analysis of South Asian societies have introduced distinctive modifications in the study of Indian social structure and social change This book reporting on twenty empirical studies of Indian society conducted by outstanding scholars reflects these trends not only with reference to Indian society itself but also in terms of the relevance of such trends to an understanding of social change more generally The contributors demonstrate the adaptive changes experienced by the studied groups in particular villages towns cities and regions The authors view the basic social units of joint family caste and village not as structural isolates but as intimately connected with one another and with other social units through social and cultural networks of various kinds that incorporate the social units into the complex structure of Indian civilization Within this broadened conception of social structure these studies trace the changing relations of politics economics law and language to the caste system Showing that the caste system is dynamic with upward and downward mobility characterizing it from pre British times to the present the studies suggest that the modernizing forces which entered the system since independence parliamentary democracy universal suffrage land reforms modern education urbanization and industrial technology provided new opportunities and paths to upward mobility but did not radically alter the system The chapters in this book show that the study of Indian society reveals novel forms of social structure change

They introduce methods and theories that may well encourage social scientists to extend the study of change in Indian society to the study of change in other areas Milton Singer 1912 1994 was Paul Klapper Professor of Social Sciences and professor of anthropology at the University of Chicago He was a fellow of the Academy of Arts and Sciences He was also chosen as a distinguished lecturer by the American Anthropological Association and was the recipient of the Distinguished Scholar Award of the Association for Asian Studies Bernard S Cohn 1918 2003 was Professor Emeritus of Anthropology at the University of Chicago He was widely known for his work on India during the British colonial period and wrote many books on the subject of India including India The Social Anthropology of a Civilization 1971 An Anthropologist among the Historians and Other Essays 1987 and Colonialism and its Forms of Knowledge 1996 National Immunization Conference Proceedings, 1993 Current Drishti \(Supplementary Material\) 2024 \(24130-M\) \(E-Book\) SSGCP GROUP, 2024-12-14 Current Drishti Supplementary Material 2024 24130 M E Book

Economic Development and Planning in India Vishwambhar Nath, 2010-01-01. The book is a collection of essays written by Dr Vishwambhar Nath who had retained his interest in Economic Development and Planning in India throughout his life. He was associated with the Planning Commission since its inception in 1950. He worked for the Planning Commission for 14 years from 1950-66 with a break from 1960-63 and in research and writing until 2002 when he died suddenly. The chapters contained in the volume discuss the essential ingredients in planning for development: objectives, ideology, goals, and resource endowments available and their utilization to maximize the rate of economic growth and development of social sectors. It gives a survey of natural resources, need for regional planning, identification of the regions, regional disparities in economic and social development, etc. It further details the experience of the country during 50 years of planning from 1950-2000 and goals and strategies for development up to 2020. Although several of his writings on Regional Development and Planning, Planning for Urban Growth and Metropolitan Cities, and Rural Development, as well as Administration and Development Planning, have been being brought out in volumes dealing with these areas, this volume touches on these subjects and goes on to discuss regional distribution of industries and entrepreneurship, growth poles in the economy, issues of sustainable development, and contribution of bureaucrats, entrepreneurs, and managers in the planned development process, as well as that of the public and private sectors. Finally, the author reminisces on the excitement that was aroused during the initial period of development planning, as well as decline in the expectations from the planning process and its importance. He conjectures that while the planning for economic development will continue in India, the age of Five Year Plans is over.

Eradicating Energy Poverty Manashvi Kumar Singh, 2022-02-07. Decentralized energy systems paradigm calls for a evidence-based policy for local resource assessment and a context-specific energy needs assessment for overcoming barriers to decentralized energy systems in India. The pristine bedrock of the book comprises theoretical underpinnings of empiricism.

behaviourism and realism These concepts find their extension through inter disciplinary and the mixed methods approach adopted for understanding spaces and cultures of energy consumption Demand side management in energy sector entails migration from a target based TB approach towards an evidence based EB approach for designing context based policies in respect of energy demand and an associated policy shift from a techno economic regime towards a socio technical regime embedded in appropriate contexts Prosumerism holds the key to democratization of energy systems in India Toilet

Adoption in Rural India Saswata Biswas,Indranil De,Gyan Mudra,Deepa Gupta,2024-03-28 This book examines sanitation and toilet access across rural India focusing on psychological socio cultural infrastructural and normative barriers to the initiative of Swachh Bharat Mission SBM While sketching the evolution of sanitation policies in India it assesses their impact on sanitation behaviour It also studies the implications of variations in caste religion and geography on toilet usage across Indian states By analysing data from various states and intensive micro level studies of three states i e rural Bihar Gujarat and Telangana this volume Suggests that socio cultural factors are as significant as economic factors in shaping sanitation behaviour Argues that the concepts of cleanliness and pollution are often determined by the social cultural context rooted in historical events that have shaped traditional beliefs and ideas about space Explores gendered perspectives on the usage of and access to toilets Highlights the limited effectiveness of Information Education and Communication IEC programs in encouraging toilet adoption and emphasizes the need for information dissemination at the ground level Gives recommendations for enhancing the adoption of toilets in rural India including provision for more than one toilet per household uninterrupted access to water and behavioural change to combat open defecation This book will be useful to students studying sociology psychology social work and development studies It will also be an invaluable companion to NGOs social workers and activists actively involved in water sanitation and hygiene Moreover this book holds immense value as a pivotal resource and point of reference for policymakers engaged in rural development with a specific focus on Sustainable Development Goals Structure and Change in Indian Society Bernard S.
