The Global Historical and Contemporary Impacts of Voluntary Membership Associations on Human Societies David Horton Smith, 2018-07-17 Reviewed here is global research on how 13 types of Voluntary Membership Associations (MAs) have significantly or substantially had global impacts on human history societies and life. Such outcomes have occurred especially in the past 200 years since the Industrial Revolution circa 1800 CE and its accompanying Organizational Revolution. Emphasized are longer term historical and societal or multinational impacts of MAs rather than more micro level individual or meso level organizational outcomes. MAs are distinctively structured with power coming from the membership not top down. The author has characterized MAs as the dark matter of the nonprofit third sector using an astrophysical metaphor. Astrophysicists have shown that most physical matter in the universe is dark in the sense of being unseen not stars or planets.

Towards an Institutional Theory of Community and Community Associations Carl Milofsky, 2019-08-26 This article argues the position that the symbolic sense of community is a product of action by associations and larger community based organizations. It draws on a theory from urban sociology called the community of limited liability. In the past this theory first articulated by Morris Janowitz has mostly been used to argue that residents living in a local neighborhood feel a sense of identification with that area to the extent that the symbolism of that neighborhood has been developed. This article extends Janowitz's theory to apply to local associations and their efforts to create activities movements and products that encourage residents to expand their sense of symbolic attachment to a place. We argue that this organizational method has long been used by local associations but it has not been recognized as an organizational theory. Because associations have used this approach over time communities have a historical legacy of organizing and symbol creating efforts by many local associations. Over time they have competed collaborated and together developed a collective vision of place. They also have created a local interorganizational field and this field of interacting associations and organizations is dense with what we call associational social capital. Not all communities have this history of associational activity and associational social capital. Where it does exist the field becomes an institutionalized feature of the community. This is what we mean by an institutional theory of community.

Nonprofit Organization Governance Stijn Van Puyvelde, 2016-08-29 Organizational governance has become a popular and important topic in third sector research. This review focuses on the governance of paid staff nonprofit organizations also called nonprofit agencies which are characterized by a hierarchical structure where the board has the power and the responsibility to ensure that governance functions are carried out. In this review Van Puyvelde discusses previous literature on nonprofit organization governance. Next a wide array of theoretical perspectives are presented that may be useful when studying the governance of nonprofit organizations. In order to analyze a number of important contemporary governance challenges some of these theories are integrated by using a paradox perspective. The underlying idea is that depending upon the governance challenge under consideration a different combination of theoretical perspectives may be required Van Puyvelde concludes that different theoretical frameworks can co exist in the literature each addressing a different issue in nonprofit governance

The French Nonprofit Sector Laura Nirello, Lionel Prouteau, 2018-08-20 This article deals with the literature on the French nonprofit sector NPS A preliminary part is devoted to presenting and discussing the characteristics that shape the approaches to this sector in France We stress the strong influence of legal categories on the sector's definition and in this context the importance of the status inherited from the 1901 Act on contracts of association This raises a problem for a more analytical approach to the sector because the diversity of the nonprofit organizations NPOs regulated under this Act risks being overshadowed In this first part we also underline the primacy accorded in France to the concept of the social economy which has today become the social and solidarity economy SSE over that of the nonprofit sector In the second part the article outlines some landmarks in the history of the French NPS French NPOs were for many years objects of suspicion arbitrariness and repression on the part of the public authorities and this persisted until the 1901 legislation on contracts of association was enacted However this hostile context did not prevent the sector from having a richer existence than is sometimes admitted This literature review also focuses on empirical studies of the sector placing a particular emphasis on the more recent ones These French studies basically adopt two types of approach The first is concerned essentially with the NPOs and focuses its attention on their economic importance whether measured in terms of financial resources employment or less frequently added value The second approach investigates the kinds of individual participation the sector engenders by examining the various forms it takes such as membership of NPOs or voluntary work This review ends with the analysis of the challenges that NPS faces in a context characterized by the increasing constraints on public funding changes in the nature of such funding with a substitution of contracts for subsidies an increased competition among NPOs as well as between NPOs and for profit enterprises The article concludes that despite the advances in research on the French NPS some aspects like formal volunteering and the role of voluntary associations are still understudied while others like informal groups and informal volunteering are almost totally ignored

The State of Nonprofit Sector Research in Japan Aya Okada, Yu Ishida, Takako Nakajima, Yasuhiko Kotagiri, 2017-11-06 Despite a long history the organized field of research on voluntaristics in Japan has emerged only in the past two decades This article presents a comprehensive review of voluntaristics research in Japan through an overview of past studies and recent hot topics Nonprofit sector and voluntary action research now termed voluntaristics Smith 2016 is reviewed here using four approaches organizational economic employment and charitable giving Discussion of recent changes in the political legal environment for nonprofit agencies and associations as well as of collaboration among nonprofits governments and businesses are presented The article also covers some of the key topics in recent years including rising social movements and advocacy social impact bonds social capital and information and communication technologies ICT and social media In discussing the emergence expansion and diversification of nonprofit research in Japan the article makes two main arguments First we argue that studies of voluntaristics are rather recent in Japan still in pursuit of their own originality Second we argue that nonprofit research in Japan is constantly looking for an ideal relationship with practice Research appears to have not fully caught up with the changing landscape of nonprofits in action and research has not been able to guide practice into the best next steps The article highlights characteristics of nonprofit sector research in Japan as well as suggesting key questions for future research

Review and Assessment of China's Nonprofit Sector after Mao David Horton Smith,2016-11-21 Published research in English is reviewed on the Nonprofit Sector NPS in mainland China since Mao's death in 1976 A large diverse and rapidly growing NPS exists but openly political Nonprofit Organizations NPOs outside the Communist Party and its control are prohibited China has civil society in the narrower sense a substantial civil society sector or NPS exists However the party state in China continues to play a dominating role in regard to the NPS especially for registered NPOs Freedom of association is still limited in China especially for national associations which are nearly all Government Organized Nongovernmental Organizations GONGOs not genuine NGOs NPOs The broader scope definition of civil society focuses on functioning civil liberties and the ability of NPOs in general to influence significantly the government on various policy issues In these terms China has a weak but slowly emerging civil society with far more associational freedom than under Mao

Philanthropy in Contemporary Africa Jacob Mwathi Mati, 2017-01-23 Despite the availability of a wide range of literature on what is can be construed to be philanthropic behaviour in Africa there is limited conceptual discussion on what constitutes philanthropy in African context s Yet philanthropic behaviour is culturally rooted phenomena manifesting in diverse forms expressions and models This review contributes to a growing body of literature on conceptions and manifestations of African philanthropy The review illustrates a complex plurality of actions that fall under cultures and practices of giving in Africa These include the giving of money time knowledge influence and visibility in support of a cause valuable goods and body parts organs from living and dead While some of these actions conform to dominant Western notions of philanthropy others do not From an analysis of these practices this paper proposes that African philanthropy can be conceptually structured on the basis of spheres of philanthropic practice and the underlying bases and motivations for philanthropy On spheres of philanthropic practice at least three forms of philanthropy exist institutional formal non institutional non formal informal direct and a hybrid form that blends practices from the formal and informal spheres On motivations for giving the predominant forms are based on mutuality solidarity and counter obligation inherent in collectivist and humanistic African philosophies of life Further motivations are drawn from religious obligations institutional requirements on corporate bodies and institutional arrangements in the development process There are nonetheless significant overlaps between spheres of practice and motivations in contemporary philanthropic practices in Africa For instance philanthropic culture in Africa manifests as religious giving donations to individuals or institutions mutual aid reciprocal self help revolving fund organisations corporate social responsibility activities and individual family donations to public benefit organisations These practices highlight a rich tapestry of spheres of practice and motivations for giving practices where the wealthy and the poor are equally involved The review concentrates by choice on giving of money and time volunteering especially informal volunteering due to dearth of academic literature on other forms of giving as philanthropy in Africa

Determinants of Individual Prosociality and of Collective Social Solidarity- Cohesion David Horton Smith, 2019-08-26 The foundations of volunteering charitable giving voluntary associations voluntary agencies and other aspects of the Voluntary Nonprofit Sector VNPS collectively and of individual voluntary action lie in various aspects of human nature and societies These foundations may be referred to variously as altruism morality ethics virtue kindness generosity cooperation social solidarity and prosociality eusociality These foundations of the VNPS and specifically of social solidarity and prosociality are the subjects of this literature review article book The central goal is providing a comprehensive and interdisciplinary theoretical framework for understanding explaining and predicting such phenomena based on two versions of the author's S Theory 1 Individual System Level General S Theory of Human Behavior as presented briefly here and in greater detail elsewhere Smith 2015 2020a 2020b Smith 2 Social System Level General S Theory of Collective Prosociality Social Solidarity as partially sketched here for the first time in print Social System Level General S Theory of collective Prosociality Social Solidarity argues that collective social solidarity can be better explained with a broader than usual range of factors as major causal influences beyond normative systems Individual prosociality behavior can be best explained and understood using the author's Individual System Level General S Theory of Human Behavior Prosociality includes a instrumental task oriented helping behavior such as formal and informal volunteering or charitable giving for non household non immediate family persons and also informal care of residential household immediate family persons plus b expressive prosociality or sociability that involves positive interpersonal relations with one or more other persons both in the residential household immediate family or outside of it based on feelings of attachment fellowship friendship affection and or love Prosociality and social solidarity are clearly human universals as Brown 1991 concludes from anthropological studies on hundreds of mostly preliterate societies on all continents Such individual human prosociality activities often have positive short and long term consequences for the people who do them

A Review of Social Economy Research in Canada

Laurie Mook, Jack Quarter, 2019-02-11 Canada is a federal parliamentary democracy officially bilingual English and French and one of the most multicultural countries in the world Indeed more than one fifth of Canada's population consists of first generation immigrants and a similar percentage classify themselves as visible minorities A confederation of ten provinces and three territories Canada has a current population of over 36 million people who live across an expansive geographic area that constitutes the second largest country in the world In this multifaceted context the social economy of Canada plays an important role in bridging the public and private sectors to form a strong social infrastructure Quarter Mook and cooperatives both non financial and financial There are distinct traditions of the social economy in anglophone and francophone parts of Canada There are also traditions specific to particular populations such as the Black social economy Hossein 2013 and the Indigenous social economy Restoule Gruner Sengupta Vieta Wuttunee 2010 In this review we look at the anglophone research on the social economy noting that there are also French language research institutions and educational programs focusing on the social economy however a review of these is beyond our scope After providing an overview of the concept of social economy in Canada we summarize research on its scope and size in the Canadian context Next we focus on voluntaristic behaviors of giving volunteering formal and informal and participating Our focus shifts to describing the infrastructure supporting research of the sector including key academic and umbrella associations and networks as well as formal and informal education programs Finally we describe key funders of social economy research including government and foundations

A Survey of Voluntaristics David Horton Smith, 2015-11-24 This article provides a survey of the growth of research on Nonprofit Sector and Voluntary Action Research now termed simply voluntaristics The author founded the organized global interdisciplinary socio behavioral science field of voluntaristics in 1971 with his formation and establishment of the Association for Research on Nonprofit Organizations and Voluntary Action ARNOVA www.arnova.org Both ARNOVA and its interdisciplinary academic journal Nonprofit and Voluntary Sector Quarterly NVSQ have served as initial models for the global diffusion of this interdisciplinary field now present in all inhabited continents and with upwards of 20 000 academic participants in at least 130 nations and territories and likely more Voluntaristics after more than 40 years of growth now qualifies as a new global integrative academic discipline in the socio behavioral sciences and related social professions not just as one of many interdisciplinary fields of research according to six defining criteria for a discipline However the author prefers to label voluntaristics as an inter discipline since its hallmark is the interdisciplinary study of all voluntary nonprofit sector VNPS phenomena

The Routledge Companion to Philanthropy Tobias Jung, Susan D. Phillips, Jenny Harrow, 2016-05-17 Philanthropy the use of private resources for public purposes is undergoing a transformation both in practice and as an emerging field of study Expectations of what philanthropy can achieve have risen significantly in recent years reflecting a substantial but uneven increase in global wealth and the rolling back of state services in anticipation that philanthropy will fill the void In addition to this experiments with entrepreneurial and venture philanthropy are producing novel intersections of the public non profit and private spheres accompanied by new kinds of partnerships and hybrid organisational forms The Routledge Companion to Philanthropy examines these changes and other challenges that philanthropists and philanthropic organisations face With contributions from an international team of leading contemporary thinkers on philanthropy this Companion provides an introduction to and critical exploration of philanthropy discussing current theories research and the diverse professional practices within the field from a variety of disciplinary perspectives The Routledge Companion to Philanthropy is a rich and valuable resource for students researchers practitioners and policymakers working in or interested in philanthropy

Spatial Transformation Milad Abassiharofteh, Jessica Baier, Angelina Göb, Insa Thimm, Andreas Eberth, Falco Knaps, Vilja Larjosto, Fabiana Zebner, 2022 What can be understood by spatial transformation how does it manifest itself and what are the characteristics of transformation processes This Research

Report addresses these questions and presents current research projects and approaches from an academic and practical planning perspective. A central point of reference is the concept of a Great Transformation which stems from an expert report by the German Advisory Council on Global Change (WBGU). It outlines the profound changes in the economy and society towards sustainability that will become necessary in the future, describing them as a Great Transformation. Likewise, social upheavals also manifest themselves in space, enabling spatial changes to be understood as spatial transformations. However, on a detailed level, it remains unclear what is to be understood by spatial transformation processes and how they manifest themselves. Against the background of this need for further research, this Research Report addresses concrete issues in the research and shaping of spatial transformation processes. The aim is to systematise the largely unordered or disordered knowledge of spatial transformation processes and to contribute to a common understanding of the associated concepts which can form the basis for further research and for the steering of these processes. The articles on the following topics show how spatial and social transformation processes are mutually dependent and what opportunities and challenges interdisciplinary research designs can offer in this context: Perspectives on transformation processes; Social and settlement structures in change; Regional development and innovation; Transformation processes in the so-called Global South; New challenges for planning processes and stakeholders; Research on transformation. The contributions to theoretical, methodological and practical approaches are intended to stimulate a critical discussion on spatial transformation that is open to new interdisciplinary perspectives.
