Glocalising Approaches to Learning and Teaching English Natalia Wright, 2025-02-27

This volume focuses on glocalization in English language teaching and learning examining the challenges of its implementation. It describes the innovative practices of multilingual TESOL practitioners from various parts of the world offering nuanced perspectives on how to glocalize teaching methods, curricula, materials and teacher preparation. The chapters spanning different levels of education weave together theory and practice highlighting strategies to successfully navigate the complex relationships between global demands and local needs in language teaching and learning. This edited book presents empirical research studies which together provide the evidence-based knowledge necessary to effectively teach linguistically and culturally diverse students. Beyond academic discussion, this book serves as a practical guide for those involved in teacher preparation offering strategies and practical applications of glocalized approaches to developing programs for pre-service educators. Above all, the book invites all language teaching professionals to embrace glocalization practices in response to the increasingly plurilingual and pluricultural world in which they operate. Proceedings of

IAC-TLEI 2016 collective of authors, 2016-04-05 International Academic Conference on Teaching Learning and E-learning in Budapest Hungary 2016 IAC TLEI 2016 Friday Saturday April 15 16 2016 Exploring Lexical Inaccuracy in Arabic-English Translation Yasir Alenazi, 2022-10-31

This book presents a case study on lexical error analysis in the translation products of Arab English majors at the university level with important implications for Arabic-speaking countries. It provides detailed analyses and explanations of the main lexical areas that cause specific difficulties for these students while also identifying their potential sources. The respective chapters discuss several areas related to the context of the research: the field of SLA, error analysis, language transfer, error taxonomies, language learning, language teaching and translation training. The analyses and findings presented here contribute to the linguistic field by developing a comprehensive list of lexical error categories based on form, content and origin of influence regarding translation products. In addition, the book sheds light on the pedagogical aspects contributing to the enhancement of ESL/EFL teaching in the Arab context as well as other contexts where English is taught as a foreign language. The book will help educators and curriculum writers in designing materials and language researchers as a groundwork for their studies of L2 learners' written products. International Education

Programs and Political Influence I. Wilson, 2014-04-16 Exchange programs are often considered to create goodwill for host countries among foreign citizens yet is this the case? Drawing on a wealth of research with participants and alumni of exchange programs, Iain Wilson shows that the pursuit of goodwill receives little return and distracts these programs from the benefits they are able to deliver. International Perspectives on English as a Lingua Franca Hugo Bowles, Alessia Cogo, 2016-04-29

This collection brings new insight into the relationship between English as a lingua franca and language teaching. It explores how the pedagogy of intelligibility, culture and language awareness as well as materials analysis and classroom management can be viewed from an ELF perspective in school and university contexts. Innovations and Challenges in Grammar Michael McCarthy, 2020-05-19 Innovations and Challenges in Grammar traces the history of common understandings of what grammar is and where it came from to demonstrate how rules are anything but fixed and immutable In doing so it deconstructs the notion of correctness to show how grammar changes over time thereby exposing the social and historical forces that mould and change usage The questions that this book grapples with are Can we separate grammar from the other features of the language system and get a handle on it as an independent entity Why should there be strikingly different notions and models of grammar Are they in compatible Which one or ones fit s best the needs of applied linguists if we assume that applied linguists address real world problems through the lens of language And which one s could make most sense to non specialists If grammar is not a fixed entity but a set of usage norms in constant flux how can we persuade other professionals and the general public that this is a positive observation rather than a threat to civilised behaviour This book draws upon both historical and modern grammars from across the globe to provide a multi layered picture of world grammar It will be useful to teachers and researchers of English as a first and second language though the inclusion of examples from and occasional references to other languages French Spanish Malay Swedish Russian Welsh Burmese Japanese is intended to broaden the appeal to teachers and researchers of other languages It will be of use to final year undergraduate postgraduate and doctoral students as well as secondary and tertiary level teachers and researchers in applied linguistics second language acquisition and grammar pedagogy
