This format can be used for either a hand-over report or an end-of mission report.

The 1st objective of the report is to provide an overview of how logistics and administration are arranged in the programme or field location, what are the key responsibilities and how things are managed.

The 2nd objective is also to clearly identify what are the current problems and the pending things to be implemented.

For each chapter think about what has been already done, what are the next objectives and which opportunities/problems you identified?

special importance is attached to exploration of the planet Mars because it is the most like Earth of the planets in the solar system and the place where the first detection of extraterrestrial life seems most likely to be made. The failures in 1999 of two NASA missions Mars Climate Orbiter and Mars Polar Lander caused the space agency's program of Mars exploration to be systematically rethought both technologically and scientifically. A new Mars Exploration Program plan summarized in Appendix A was announced in October 2000. The Committee on Planetary and Lunar Exploration (COMPLEX), a standing committee of the Space Studies Board of the National Research Council, was asked to examine the scientific content of this new program. The goals of this report are the following: Review the state of knowledge of the planet Mars with special emphasis on findings of the most recent Mars missions and related research activities; Review the most important Mars research opportunities in the immediate future; Review scientific priorities for the exploration of Mars identified by COMPLEX and other scientific advisory groups and their motivation and consider the degree to which recent discoveries suggest a reordering of priorities; and Assess the congruence between NASA's evolving Mars Exploration Program plan and these recommended priorities and suggest any adjustments that might be warranted. Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports, 1995. Lists citations with abstracts for aerospace related reports obtained from world wide sources and announces documents that have recently been entered into the NASA Scientific and Technical Information Database.

Planetary Protection Classification of Sample Return Missions from the Martian Moons European Science Foundation, European Space Sciences Committee, National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on Planetary Protection Requirements for Sample Return Missions from Martian Moons, 2019-06-20. An international consensus policy to prevent the biological cross contamination of planetary bodies exists and is maintained by the Committee on Space Research (COSPAR) of the International Council for Science which is consultative to the United Nations Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space. Currently COSPAR's planetary protection policy does not specify the status of sample return missions from Phobos or Deimos, the moons of Mars. Although the moons themselves are not considered potential habitats for life or of intrinsic relevance to prebiotic chemical evolution, recent studies indicate that a significant amount of material recently ejected from Mars could be present on the surface of Phobos and to a lesser extent Deimos. This report reviews recent theoretical, experimental, and modeling research on the environments and physical conditions encountered by Mars ejecta during certain processes. It recommends whether missions returning samples from Phobos and/or Deimos should be classified as restricted or unrestricted Earth return in the framework of the planetary protection policy maintained by COSPAR. This report also considers the specific ways the classification of sample return from Deimos is a different case than sample return from Phobos. Assessment of the Report of NASA's Planetary Protection Independent Review Board National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee to Review the Report of the NASA
