Out of the Mist , Medieval French on the Move Leah Tether,Patrick Moran,Anne Salamon,2025-03-17 When Keith Busby published his field shaping Codex and Context in 2002 the work was referred to as groundbreaking and monumental It prompted scholars of medieval literature to return to manuscripts in their droves However Busby's Codex and Context would also enact another more gradual movement His formulation of the term medieval Francophonia to describe the presence power and effect of French outside France would filter steadily into academic enquiry The term and concept are now widely recognised and applied in global scholarship including in multiple major projects dedicated to the topic This volume brings together a series of cutting edge studies of medieval Francophonia covering in one place and for the first time the fullest scope of the concept's remit with contributions on history historiography language literature culture society and authority At the same time as offering a timely contribution to the field this volume pays tribute to Busby's life work not only to pioneer medieval Francophonia but also and moreover to encourage the study of the medieval through material philology Each of the studies here written by Busby's friends and colleagues thus roots its approach in a material context The Indo-European Puzzle Revisited Kristian Kristiansen,Guus Kroonen,Eske Willerslev,2023-05-11 This book examines the impact of ancient DNA research and scientific evidence on our understanding of the emergence of Indo European languages in prehistory Offering cutting edge contributions from an international team of scholars it considers the driving forces behind the Indo European migrations during the 3rd and 2nd millennia BC The volume explores the rise of the world's first pastoral nomads the Yamnaya Culture in the Russian Pontic steppe including their social organization expansions and the transition from nomadism to semi sedentism when entering Europe It also traces the chariot conquest in the late Bronze Age and its impact on the expansion of the Indo Iranian languages into Central Asia In the final section the volumes consider the development of hierarchical societies and the origins of slavery A landmark synthesis of recent exciting discoveries the book also includes an extensive theoretical discussion regarding the integration of linguistics genetics and archaeology and the importance of interdisciplinary research in the study of ancient migration Economic Zooarchaeology Peter

Rowley-Conwy, Dale Serjeantson, Paul Halstead, 2017-05-31 Economic archaeology is the study of how past peoples exploited animals and plants using as evidence the remains of those animals and plants The animal side is usually termed zooarchaeology the plant side archaeobotany What distinguishes them from other studies of ancient animals and plants is that their ultimate aim is to find out about human behaviour the animal and plant remains are a means to this end The 33 papers present a wide array of topics covering many areas of archaeological interest Aspects of method and theory animal bone identification human palaeopathology prehistoric animal utilisation in South America and the study of dog cemeteries are covered The long running controversy over the milking of animals and the use of dairy products by humans is discussed as is the ecological impact of hunting by farmers with studies from Serbia and Syria For Britain coverage extends from Mesolithic Star Carr via the origins of agriculture and the farmers of Lismore Fields through considerations of the Neolithic and Bronze Age Outside Britain papers discuss Neolithic subsistence in Cyprus and Croatia Iron Age society in Spain Medieval and post medieval animal utilisation in northern Russia and the claimed finding of a modern red deer skeleton in Egypt's Eastern Desert In exploring these themes this volume celebrates the life and work of Tony Legge zoo archaeologist and teacher

Inter- and Intracultural Differences in European History Textbooks Carol Morgan, 2005 Papers from a conference held in Feb 2002 at the University of Bath

Archaeology and Folklore Amy Gazin-Schwartz, Cornelius J. Holtorf, 2005-06-23 Archaeology and Folklore explores the complex relationship between the two disciplines to demonstrate what they might learn from each other This collection includes theoretical discussions and case studies drawn from Western Europe the Mediterranean and North They explore the differences between popular traditions relating to historic sites and archaeological interpretations of their history and meaning

Ideal Homes Rena Maguire, 2024-04-01 The purpose of archaeology is to reconstruct and present the past as it was lived warts and all Too often that ideal has been restricted to the affairs and structures of the great and often not so good ignoring what happened after the battles were won or lost Everyday life carried on for the vast majority of people who cooked built walls and fences herded and tended animals and made pottery metal tools and foodstuffs Each of these domestic tasks required tools and equipment and each object tells a story of the user's identity both regional and personal This volume presents a selection of worldwide studies of domestic objects and lives from Scottish ceramics to Mayan urban zones Each of these chapters demonstrate the commonalities humans share when there is no place like home enhancing archaeological knowledge of the realities of life in the past

Redefining Irishness in a Coastal Maine City, 1770-1870 Kay Retzlaff, 2021-11-18 Redefining Irishness in a Coastal Maine City 1770 1870 Bridget's Belfast examines how Irish immigrants shaped and reshaped their identity in a rural New England community Forty percent of Irish immigrants to the United States settled in rural areas Achieving success beyond large urban centers required distinctive ways of performing Irishness Class status and gender were more significant than ethnicity Close reading of diaries newspapers local histories and public papers allows for nuanced understanding of immigrant lives amid stereotype and the nineteenth century evolution of a Scotch Irish identity Rewriting History Dennis Harding, 2020-01-09 In Rewriting History Dennis Harding addresses contemporary concerns about information and its interpretation His focus is on the archaeology of prehistoric and early historic Britain and the transformation over two centuries and more in the interpretation of the archaeological heritage by changes in the prevailing political social and intellectual climate Far from being topics of concern only to academics the way in which seemingly innocuous issues such as cultural diffusion or social reconstruction in the remote past are studied and presented reflects important shifts in contemporary thinking that challenge long accepted conventions of free speech and debate Some issues are highly controversial such as the proposals for the Stonehenge World Heritage sites Others challenge long held popular myths like the deconstruction of the Celts and by extension the Picts Some traditional tenets of scholarship have yet remained unchallenged such as the classical definition of civilization itself Why should it matter Are the shifting attitudes of successive generations not symptomatic of healthy and vibrant debate Are there grounds for believing that current changes are of a more disquieting character denying the basic assumptions of rational argument and freedom of enquiry that have been the foundation of western scholarship since the Enlightenment Re writing History offers Harding s personal evaluation of these issues which will resonate not only with practitioners and academics of archaeology but across a wide range of disciplines facing similar concerns International Congress of Roman Frontier Studies 20 Ángel Morillo Cerdán, Norbert Hanel, Esperanza Martín, 2009 This massive three volume set publishes the proceedings of the 2006 Limes conference which was held in Leon a total of 138 contributions Naturally these cover a vast range of topics related to Roman military archaeology and the Roman frontiers The archaeology of the Roman military in Spain and contributions by Spanish scholars are prominent whilst other themes include the internal frontiers the end of the frontiers and the barbarians in the empire the fortified town in the late Roman period soldiers on the move and the early development of frontiers Further sessions had a regional focus Majority of essays in English some in Spanish German and Italian Hillforts: Britain, Ireland and the Nearer Continent Gary Lock, Ian Ralston, 2019-06-27 The Atlas of Hillforts of Britain and Ireland project 2012 2016 compiled a massive database on hillforts by a team drawn from the Universities of Oxford Edinburgh and Cork This volume outlines the history of the project offers preliminary assessments of the online digital Atlas and presents initial research studies using Atlas data The Atlantic Celts Simon James, 1999 The Celtic peoples of the British Isles hold a fundamental place in our national consciousness In this book Simon James surveys ancient and modern ideas of the Celts and challenges them in the light of revolutionary new thinking on the Iron Age peoples of Britain Examining how ethnic and national identities are constructed he presents an alternative history of the British Isles proposing that the idea of insular Celtic identity is really a product of the rise of nationalism in the eighteenth century He considers whether the Celticness of the British Isles is a romantic fantasy even a politically dangerous falsification of history which has implications in the current debate on devolution and self government for the Celtic regions Landscape,

Memory and History Pamela J. Stewart, Andrew Strathern, 2003-05-20 How do people perceive the land around them and how is that perception changed by history This book explores this question from an anthropological angle assessing the connections between place space identity nationalism history and memory in a variety of different settings around the world Taking historical change and memory as key themes it is a broad study that will appeal to a readership across the social sciences Contributors from North America Australia New Zealand Taiwan and Europe explore a wide variety of case studies that includes seascapes in Jamaica the Solomon Islands the forests of Madagascar Aboriginal and European notions of landscape in Australia place and identity in 19th century maps and the bogs of Ireland contemporary concerns over changing landscapes in Papua New Guinea and representations of landscape and history in the poetry of the Scottish Borders

Archaeology and Ancient History Eberhard W. Sauer, 2004-07-31 Challenging both traditional and fashionable theories this collection of pieces from an international range of contributors explores the separation of the human past into history archaeology and their related sub disciplines Each case study challenges the validity of this separation and asks how we can move to a more holistic approach in the study of the relationship between history and archaeology While the focus is on the ancient world particularly Greece and Rome the lessons learned in this book make it an essential addition to all studies of history and archaeology
