Fiction and Non-fiction Writing Frames Jane Richards, 2000 This new resource from Wellington Square contains a book of writing frames and a durable companion Big Book the perfect shared writing resource for your lower ability children

Tale, Performance, and Culture in EFL Storytelling with Young Learners Licia Masoni, 2019-10-10 This book analyses the interplay between storytelling with specific reference to oral retellings of authentic picture books language learning culture and emotions in the EFL pre school and primary classroom Using a multidisciplinary approach it applies oral narrative studies as well as research on shared reading with children and literature in picture books to foreign and second language teaching theory and practice while also discussing the impact of EFL storytelling on intercultural understanding Although specifically conceived for teaching English as a foreign language most contents apply to foreign second language teaching to young children in general

Child Development in Practice Pamela May, 2010-11-05 How should children feel about themselves and their learning How do I know what children have learnt and how can I move them on How can I ensure that resources are available for children to use actively and independently In today's busy setting an understanding of child development sometimes gets overlooked yet it lies at the heart of effective practice Child Development in Practice provides an approachable user friendly base from which to plan ways of working with children that are developmentally appropriate and will enable them to learn enjoyably and effectively Drawing on recent research the book thoughtfully discusses sound principles of child development alongside descriptions of every day practice It then offers practical advice on how to fully utilise the key areas in an early years setting including the creative area books and stories and the outside and shows how to plan and implement integrated topics where teaching is cross curricular and holistic Throughout a series of key questions are presented to encourage practitioners to reflect on why they are teaching in certain ways and increase their understanding of children's developmental needs Directly linking theory and practice this book aims to give students and practitioners the knowledge and confidence they need to help children become active interactive and independent learners

Mathematics in the Primary School Sandy Pepperell, Christine Hopkins, Sue Gifford, Peter Tallant, 2014-03-18 Now in its third edition Mathematics in the Primary School has been updated to reflect recent mathematics curriculum documentation and revised standards for QTS Key areas include The role of talk in learning maths Teacher questioning Development of children's reasoning Creative engagement with maths Assessment for learning and self assessment Suggested resources for teachers including ICT Providing a coherent set of principles for teaching primary mathematics across the main topics in the curriculum the authors explore children's understanding of key areas of mathematics at reception infant and junior levels Important principles and teaching approaches are identified including the use of calculators and computers and there is an emphasis on mental mathematics and problem solving supporting key issues raised by the Williams review 2008 Case studies are used throughout to illustrate how different teaching approaches are put into practice and how children respond to them and there is advice on planning organisation and assessment of mathematical learning in the classroom Emphasising the importance of teachers own mathematical knowledge and offering clear guidance and practical advice this book is essential reading for students NQTs and practising teachers with a focus on primary mathematics      Supporting Readers Maggie Moore,Barrie Wade,1995 This book examines current provision in the teaching of reading for children at Key Stage 2 who are experiencing difficulties Using innovative methods which avoid traditional structured approaches dramatically better results can be achieved      Growing Point,1982-05      The Family in English Children's Literature Ann Alston,2008-06-03 From the trials of families experiencing divorce as in Anne Fine's Madame Doubtfire to the childcare problems highlighted in Jacqueline Wilson's Tracy Beaker it might seem that the traditional family and the ideals that accompany it have long vanished However in The Family in English Children's Literature Ann Alston argues that this is far from the case She suggests that despite the tales of family woe portrayed in children's literature the desire for the happy contented nuclear family remains inherent within the ideological subtexts of children's literature Using 1818 as a starting point Alston investigates families in children's literature at their most intimate focusing on how they share their spaces their ideals of home and even on what they eat for dinner What emerges from Alston's study are not so much the contrasts that exist between periods but rather the startling similarities of the ideology of family intrinsic to children's literature The Family in English Children's Literature sheds light on who maintains control who behaves and how significant children's literature is in shaping our ideas about what makes a family good      The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2000      Managing the Literacy Curriculum Michael Beveridge,Malcolm Reed,Alec Webster,2005-08-03 This book focuses on a critical period for pupils between the ages of nine and thirteen when the demands made on children's literacy change fundamentally and when children establish life time patterns of reading and non reading It provides a framework for teachers and managers to help set up a whole school approach to literacy based on a series of steps which enable managers to find out how literacy is perceived by teachers and effectively used within classroom contexts Practical guidance on how schools can help pupils who have literacy difficulties on methods of assessment and reporting and on how outside agencies can be involved will be particularly helpful to teachers and heads of department      GAO Review ,1985      The Playbill ,1962      At Home Pasadena Jill Alison Ganon,Sandy Gillis,2008-11 A richly photographed book showcasing the most beautiful creative and or interesting homes and gardens in a city famous for them      Children's Literature in Second Language Education Janice Bland,Christiane Lütge,2013-02-14

Leading international scholars and teacher educators explore the latest research into the effective uses of children's literature in language teaching for children and young adults      The Ladies' Home Journal Edward William Bok, 1922

Picture Books for the Literacy Hour Guy Merchant, Huw Thomas, 2013-12-19 First Published in 2000 Over the last 30 years growth in the popularity and provision of books for children has been remarkable The quality and inventiveness of children's authors and illustrators have led some to think of the picture book as a new art form This book is a celebration of some of this work and it concentrates on the potential that picture books have for the teaching and learning of literacy The aim of this book is to encourage colleagues to take a closer look at some of their favourite picture books and to see how they can be used as a starting point for enjoyable and challenging literacy work in primary classrooms Believing that teachers do not need to rely on schemes to structure their English curriculum and with this in mind this book includes 24 popular titles that have been identified in terms of their potential for delivering exciting text sentence and word level work Written to be used as a resource and anticipate that many readers will be most interested the commentaries on the picture books contained in Chapters 3-7 and the accompanying photocopiable activity sheets      We Just Keep Running the Line LaGuana Gray, 2014-11-05 The poultry processing industry in El Dorado Arkansas was an economic powerhouse in the latter half of the twentieth century It was the largest employer in the interconnected region of South Arkansas and North Louisiana surrounding El Dorado and the fates of many related companies and farms depended on its continued financial success We Just Keep Running the Line is the story of the rise of the poultry processing industry in El Dorado and the labor force composed primarily of black women upon which it came to rely At a time when agricultural jobs were in decline and Louisiana stood at the forefront of rising anti welfare sentiment much of the work available in the area went to men driving women into less attractive labor intensive jobs LaGuana Gray argues that the justification for placing African American women in the lowest paying and most dangerous of these jobs like poultry processing derives from longstanding mischaracterizations of black women by those in power In evaluating the perception of black women as less than white women less feminine less moral less deserving of social assistance and less invested in their families and communities well being Gray illuminates the often exploitative nature of southern labor the growth of the agribusiness model of food production and the role of women of color in such food industries Using collected oral histories to allow marginalized women of color to tell their own stories and to contest and reshape narratives commonly used against them We Just Keep Running the Line explores the physical and psychological toll this work took on black women analyzing their survival strategies and their fight to retain their humanity in an exploitative industry      PSHE and Citizenship Judy Hunter, Sheila Phillips, 2002 For primary teachers this book covers the core and foundation subjects for National Curriculum PSHE and Citizenship courses The photocopiable activities cover key topics that are linked to the outcomes and include step by step instructions
