On Mended Wings Transforming Lives And Communities In Nicaragua:

On Mended Wings Carol Van Klompenburg, Donna Biddle, 2011-11 Outrageous That's how one person described the vision of a transformed Nicaragua This goal was born more than a decade ago when a group of North American missionaries from different organizations and denominations joined forces with Nicaraguan leaders to form a community of Christians known as the Nehemiah Center This community has launched training programs to lead Nicaraguan people to see what a God centered society might look like The training has led many to change their lives and their marriages then to transform their churches and communities In these pages you'll meet Lourdes Rivas an uneducated pastor's wife forced to make her home behind a curtain inside the church building and Daniel Aragon once a leader in the Sandinista army and a drug addict You'll read about villagers who scavenge in the town dump to survive and about Nelson a gang member who lost his leg by machete when other gang members turned on him Through these stories and many others you will learn how Nicaraguans are being transformed and then working in their communities to transform others Although significant these transformations within Nicaragua are only part of the story The Nehemiah Center recognizes that people around the globe are in need of transformation It seeks to help North American visitors recognize their own poverty influenced by materialism and selfishness in ways that will lead them to develop their own strategies to transform their lives churches and communities in North America In a very personal way On Mended Wings shares firsthand the stories of people who discovered healing and who work to heal others Transforming Nicaragua is happening one individual one marriage one church one community at a time Their stories reveal that this work of transforming a country is in the end not outrageous It's contagious To Be Reborn Carol Van Klompenburg, 2020-11-19 Written as a sequel To Be Reborn records a second decade in the life of Nicaragua's Nehemiah Center But it is far more than a simple continuation of the first volume On Mended Wings It is a story in which almost everything has changed In Nicaragua's tumultuous history its people have weathered natural disasters war injustice and poverty But they have been resilient surviving and sometimes thriving In its second decade the Nehemiah Center has done the same In the face of a Nicaraguan political crisis with lockdowns confrontations and deaths it offered processes for making peace and healing trauma In the midst of worldwide reductions in charitable giving it minimized costs narrowed its focus found new funding sources and balanced its budget It trained church leaders to be the hands of Jesus in a hurting world It offered teaching in God's principles for marriage and for managing money It facilitated friendships between North American and Nicaraguan churches resulting in spiritual growth for both groups During its second decade the Nehemiah Center has adapted to changing times But its purpose has remained firm transforming lives in service to the Lord of all To Be Reborn is the dramatic story of that ongoing work Railroad Age Gazette, 1894 The Animals' Agenda, 1988 Choice, 1997 Solidarity with the People of Nicaragua James B. McGinnis, 1985
