Political Theology and Islam Paul L. Heck, 2023-11-15 Paul L Heck's Political Theology and Islam offers a sophisticated and comprehensive analysis of sovereignty in Islamic society beginning with the origins of Islam and extending to the present This wide ranging study sets out to answer an unassumingly tricky question What is politics in Islam Paul L Heck's answer takes the form of a close analysis of sovereignty across Islamic history approaching this concept from the perspective of political theology As he illustrates the history of politics in Islam is best understood as an ongoing struggle for a moral order between those who occupy positions of rulership and religious voices that communicate the ethics of Islam and educate the public in their religious and moral devotions In this sense sovereignty in Islam is split between ruling powers and pious communities whose interactions range from close cooperation to outright competition Heck shows that it is precisely through these interactions that Islamic conceptions of sovereignty are constructed and negotiated Political Theology and Islam's first section spells out the concepts and methods for the study of politics in Islam as a struggle for a moral order one not only involving varied claims to sovereignty but also a general determination to realize the righteousness of Islam that stands at the heart of the message that the Prophet Muhammad conveyed to his society in seventh century Arabia The following sections demonstrate through examples from both the past and today's worldwide Muslim community the diverse ways in which the umma the community of Muslims has struggled for a moral order that recalls its prophetic message Deftly moving in various political theaters and through a wide range of intellectual traditions Heck's book will emerge as a touchstone of scholarship in the field of Muslim politics and intellectual thought

Public Religion and the Politics of Homosexuality in Africa Adriaan van Klinken, Ezra

Chitando, 2016-04-14 Issues of same sex relationships and gay and lesbian rights are the subject of public and political controversy in many African societies today. Frequently these controversies receive widespread attention both locally and globally such as with the Anti Homosexuality Bill in Uganda. In the international media these cases tend to be presented as revealing a deeply rooted homophobia in Africa fuelled by religious and cultural traditions. But so far little energy is expended in understanding these controversies in all their complexity and the critical role religion plays in them. This is the first book with multidisciplinary perspectives on religion and homosexuality in Africa. It presents case studies from across the continent from Egypt to Zimbabwe and from Senegal to Kenya and covers religious traditions such as Islam, Christianity and Rastafarianism. The contributors explore the role of religion in the politicisation of homosexuality, investigate local and global mobilisations of power, critically examine dominant religious discourses and highlight the emergence of counter discourses. Hence they reveal the crucial yet ambivalent public role of religion in matters of sexuality, social justice and human rights in contemporary Africa.

The Faceless Terrorist Sophie Roche, 2019-05-31 How could a person portrayed as a terrorist by the Tajik state also be seen as a mujahid fighter in Islam and be a cousin all at the same time? Is this just a matter of perspective and conceptualization? To believe in the protection of concepts to safeguard groups and individuals from the uncertain character of the world is to deny the existence of chance and the contradictions in life. This book uses approaches from existential anthropology to enquire into the question of how concepts and experiences relate. The focus is on the way the notions jihad, mujahid and terrorism were used during a military intervention in Tajikistan in 2010. The book includes long term ethnographic material, popular pamphlets on Islam and an internet analysis of the conflict offering new insights into how concepts and experiences relate. Since the end of the Soviet Union the people from the republic of Tajikistan have struggled to find a place in the larger Muslim world, a painful process unfolding in relation to global events, discourses and politics. The primary readership for the book will come from academia and policy makers. The book presents novel material on a fascinating and highly important topic: the nature of ostensibly Islamist political violence against the state in Tajikistan.
