New York Literature Collection Stories:

New York Stories Bob Blaisdell, 2016-10-20 This compilation of classic short fiction presents stories inspired by life in the great metropolis Contributors include O Henry Melville Cather Wharton Wodehouse Langston Hughes Junot Diaz and others

The New York Stories of Elizabeth Hardwick Elizabeth Hardwick, 2010-06-01 Elizabeth Hardwick was one of America's great postwar women of letters celebrated as a novelist and as an essayist Until now however her slim but remarkable achievement as a writer of short stories has remained largely hidden with her work tucked away in the pages of the periodicals such as Partisan Review The New Yorker and The New York Review of Books in which it originally appeared This first collection of Hardwick's short fiction reveals her brilliance as a stylist and as an observer of contemporary life A young woman returns from New York to her childhood Kentucky home and discovers the world of difference within her A girl's boyfriend is not quite good enough his silvery eyes light and cool revealing nothing except pure possibility like a coin in hand A magazine editor's life falls strangely to pieces after she loses both her husband and her job Individual lives and the life of New York the setting or backdrop for most of these stories are strikingly and memorably depicted in Hardwick's beautiful and razor sharp prose

Robert Penn Warren, Shadowy Autobiography, and Other Makers of American Literature Joseph R. Millichap, 2023-08-18 Toward the end of his career Robert Penn Warren wrote It may be said that our lives are our own supreme fiction Although lauded for his writing in multiple genres Warren never wrote an autobiography Instead he created his own shadowy autobiography in his poetry and prose as well as his fiction and nonfiction As one of the most thoughtful scholars on Robert Penn Warren and the literature of the South Joseph Millichap builds on the accepted idea that Warren's poetry and fiction became more autobiographical in his later years by demonstrating that that same progression is replicated in Warren's literary criticism This meticulously researched study reexamines in particular Warren's later nonfiction in which autobiographical concerns come into play that is in those fraught with psychological crisis such as Democracy and Poetry Millichap reveals the interrelated literary genres of autobiography criticism and poetry as psychological modes encompassing the interplay of Warren's life and work in his later nonfiction. He also shows how Warren's critical engagement with major American authors often centered on the ways their creative work intersected with their lives, thus generating both autobiographical criticism and the working out of Warren's own autobiography under these influences. Millichap's latest book focuses on Warren's critical responses to William Faulkner, John Crowe Ransom, Herman Melville, Nathaniel Hawthorne, John Greenleaf Whittier, and Theodore Dreiser. In addition, the author carefully considers the black and female writers Warren assessed more briefly in American Literature: The Makers and the Making. Robert Penn Warren's Shadowy Autobiography and Other Makers of American Literature presents the breadth of Millichap's scholarship, the depth of his insight, and the maturity of his judgment by giving us to understand that in his writing Robert Penn Warren came to know his own vocation as a poet and critic and as an American.

A History of American Literature 1900 - 1950

Christopher MacGowan, 2024-05-13 A look at the first five decades of 20th century American literature covering a wide range of literary works, figures, and influences. A History of American Literature 1900-1950 is a current and well-balanced account of the main literary figures, connections, and ideas that characterized the first half of the twentieth century. In this readable, highly informative book, the author explores significant developments in American drama, fiction, and poetry and discusses how the literature of the period influenced and was influenced by cultural trends in both the United States and abroad. Considering works produced during America's rise to prominence on the world stage from both regional and international perspectives, MacGowan provides readers with keen insights into the literature of the period in relation to America's transition from an agrarian nation to an industrial power, the racial and economic discrimination of Black and Native American populations, the greater financial and social independence of women, the economic boom of the 1920s, the Depression of the 1930s, the impact of world wars, massive immigration, political and ideological clashes, and more. Encompassing five decades of literary and cultural diversity in one volume, A History of American Literature 1900-1950 covers American theater, poetry, fiction, non-fiction, memoirs, magazines, and literary publications and popular media. It discusses the ways writers dramatized the immense social, economic, cultural, and political changes in America throughout the first half of the twentieth century. It explores themes and influences of Modernist poets, expatriate novelists, and literary publications founded by women and African Americans. It features the work of Black writers, Native Americans, Asian Americans, and Jewish Americans. A History of American Literature 1900-1950 is essential reading for all students in upper-level American literature courses as well as general readers looking to better understand the literary tradition of the United States.

Faulkner, Aviation, and Modern War Michael Zeitlin, 2021-12-02 Faulkner's Aviation and Modern War frames William Faulkner's airplane narratives against major scenes of the early 20th century: the Great War, the rise of European fascism in the 1920s and 30s, the Second World War, and the aviation arms race extending from the Wright Flyer in 1903 into the Cold War era. Placing biographical accounts of Faulkner's time in the Royal Air Force, Canada, against analysis of such works as Soldiers Pay (1926

All the Dead Pilots 1931 Pylon 1935 and A Fable 1954 this book situates Faulkner's aviation writing within transatlantic historical contexts that have not been sufficiently appreciated in Faulkner's work Michael Zeitlin unpacks a broad selection of Faulkner's novels stories film treatments essays book reviews and letters to outline Faulkner's complex and ambivalent relationship to the ideologies of masculine performance and martial heroism in an age dominated by industrialism and military technology

Updating the Literary West,1997 Western writers says Thomas J Lyon in his epilogue to Updating the Literary West have grown up with the frontier myth but now find themselves in the early stages of creating a new western myth The editors of the Literary History of the American West TCU Press 1987 hoped that the first volume would begin not conclude their exploration of the West's literary heritage Out of this hope comes Updating the Literary West a comprehensive reference anthology including essays by over one hundred scholars A selected bibliography is included with each piece In the ten years since publication of LHAW western writing has developed a significantly larger presence in the national literary stream A variety of cultural viewpoints have developed along with new tactics for literary study New authors have risen to prominence and the range of subjects has changed and widened Updating the Literary West looks at topics ranging from western classics to cowboys and Cadillacs and considers children's literature ethnicity environmental writing gender issues and other topics in which change has been rapid since publication of LHAW This volume again affirms the West's literary legitimacy status hard earned by the Western Literary Association and the lasting place of popular western writing as part of the growing and changing literary and American experience An excellent reference for a wide range of readers and an invaluable resource for scholars and libraries Selected list of contributors James Maguire Fred Erisman Susan J Rosowski Gerald Haslam Tom Pilkington A Carl Bredahl Richard Slotkin John G Cawelti Robert F Gish Ann Ronald Mick McAllister

Science Fiction and the Dismal Science Gary Westfahl, Gregory Benford, Howard V. Hendrix,2019-11-27 Despite the growing importance of economics in our lives literary scholars have long been reluctant to consider economic issues as they examine key texts This volume seeks to fill one of these conspicuous gaps in the critical literature by focusing on various connections between science fiction and economics with some attention to related fields such as politics and government Its seventeen contributors include five award winning scholars five science fiction writers and a widely published economist Three topics are covered what noted science fiction writers like Robert A Heinlein Frank Herbert and Kim Stanley Robinson have had to say about our economic and political future how the competitive and ever changing publishing marketplace has affected the growth and development of science fiction from the nineteenth century to today and how the scholars who examine science fiction have themselves been influenced by the economics of academia Although the essays focus primarily on American science fiction the traditions of Russian and Chinese science fiction are also examined A comprehensive bibliography of works related to science fiction and economics will assist other readers and critics who are interested in this subject

Literature and Sound Film in Mid-Century Britain Lara Ehrenfried, 2025-03-27 What happened to cinema and literature when synchronized sound was introduced to the film industry in the late 1920s Literature and Sound Film in Mid-Century Britain studies the paths of film and text following this event It asks how British cinema responded to the introduction of sound and how mid-century literature took up the challenge of the synchronized audio-visual entertainment experience offered by this media change By examining the technological and industrial histories of film and its narrative strategies and by drawing links to twentieth-century literary culture this study offers a new way of approaching mid-century writing and its media ecology Developing innovative audio-visual close readings this book offers a multi-sensory multi-media approach that reframes the relationships between cinema and literature in the twentieth century The study addresses a wide range of film genres such as musical film screwball comedy the thriller documentary and melodrama alongside the writings of a large group of authors including Elizabeth Bowen Patrick Hamilton Evelyn Waugh Lewis Grassie Gibbon Henry Green Jean Rhys Ivy Compton Burnett and Eric Ambler It covers an expansive range of films and texts of the 1930s and 1940s and invites readers to comprehensively rethink mid-century media culture by arguing for a growing synergy of film and text

Masculinity and Place in American Literature since 1950 Vidya Ravi, 2019-05-15 American literature has long celebrated the figure of the self-made man and the idea of establishing selfhood particularly male selfhood in nature However during the crisis of masculinity that swept across America in the middle of the twentieth century a generation of writers started exploring a different kind of a man This was a figure who was concerned not so much with the loss of the West or the desire to recover a wilderness but with how to live in an ordinary domesticated continent Masculinity and Place in American Literature since 1950 explores the role of place in negotiating reinforcing and subverting articulations of hegemonic masculinity in the work of four American writers from the latter part of the 20th century John Cheever John Updike Raymond Carver and Richard Ford The book argues that American fiction by white male writers between the 1950s and the present day is compelled by the troubled and troubling relationship between masculinity and place This relationship is deeply embedded in how ideals of masculinity are predicated upon the experience of the physical world and how the symbolic logic of masculinity is continually subverted by alternative conceptions of dwelling and ecological consciousness

Surviving the Crossing Jessica Rabin, 2005-12-20 By examining the fiction of three women modernists Willa Cather Gertrude Stein and Nella Larsen this book complicates binary paradigms of national gender and ethnic identities in the interwar period In place of essentializing categories of identity Jessica Rabin explores the liberating and dislocating ramifications of using multiple subject positions as a means of representing identity While these three authors have been studied in non intersecting categories pioneer literature high modernism and the Harlem Renaissance respectively Jessica Rabin traces their similarities showing how the dispersal of fixed identities are facilitated by the language of fiction

Voices of Russian Literature Sally Laird, 1999-04-29 Voices of Russian Literature presents in depth interviews with ten of the most interesting figures writing in Russian today They range from established authors such as Fazil Iskander and Andrei Bitov who began their careers in the post Stalinist Thaw to newcomers like Viktor Pelevin hailed as one of the most original writers of the present era It offers an insiders account of the fate of Russian literature over the past four decades Rather than cataloguing the opinions of dissidents or defenders of the former regime it presents the views of artists who have sought against the odds to express their unique visions of a changing world Each interview acquaints us with the author's distinctive voice and provides important insights into the genesis and interpretation of individual works Sally Laird has prefaced the interviews with biographical and critical sketches of each writer and her introductory essay sets the whole in historical context Voices of

Russian Literature will be fascinating reading for anyone interested in Russia's contemporary literary experience How to Do Things with Books in Victorian Britain Leah Price, 2013-10-27 How to Do Things with Books in Victorian Britain asks how our culture came to frown on using books for any purpose other than reading When did the coffee table book become an object of scorn Why did law courts forbid witnesses to kiss the Bible What made Victorian cartoonists mock commuters who hid behind the newspaper ladies who matched their books binding to their dress and servants who reduced newspapers to fish n chips wrap Shedding new light on novels by Thackeray Dickens the Brontës Trollope and Collins as well as the urban sociology of Henry Mayhew Leah Price also uncovers the lives and afterlives of anonymous religious tracts and household manuals From knickknacks to wastepaper books mattered to the Victorians in ways that cannot be explained by their printed content alone And whether displayed defaced exchanged or discarded printed matter participated and still participates in a range of transactions that stretches far beyond reading Supplementing close readings with a sensitive reconstruction of how Victorians thought and felt about books Price offers a new model for integrating literary theory with cultural history How to Do Things with Books in Victorian Britain reshapes our understanding of the interplay between words and objects in the nineteenth century and beyond
