Inclusion without Representation in Latin America Mala Htun, 2016-01-14 This book analyzes why and how fifteen Latin American countries modified their political institutions to promote the inclusion of women Afrodescendants and indigenous peoples Through analysis and comparison of experiences in Argentina Bolivia Brazil Chile Colombia and Mexico the book accounts for the origins of quotas and reserved seats in international norms and civic mobilization It shows how the configuration of political institutions and the structure of excluded groups set the terms and processes of inclusion Arguing that the new mechanisms have delivered inclusion but not representation the book demonstrates that quotas and reserved seats increased the presence in power of excluded groups but did not create constituencies or generate civic movements able to authorize or hold accountable their representatives Inclusion without Representation in Latin America Mala

Schwindt-Bayer, 2018 In the past thirty years women s representation and gender equality has developed unevenly in Latin America Some countries have experienced large increases in gender equality in political offices whereas others have not and even within countries some political arenas have become more gender equal whereas others continue to exude intense gender inequality These patterns are inconsistent with explanations of social and cultural improvements in gender equality leading to improved gender equality in political office Gender and Representation in Latin America argues instead that gender inequality in political representation in Latin America is rooted in institutions and the democratic challenges and political crises facing Latin American countries and that these challenges matter for the number of women and men elected to office what they do once there how much power they gain access to and how their presence and actions influence democracy and society more broadly The book draws upon the expertise of top scholars of women gender and political institutions in Latin America to analyze the institutional and contextual causes and consequences of women s representation in Latin America It does this in part 1 with chapters that analyze gender and political representation regionwide in each of five different arenas of representation the presidency cabinets national legislatures political parties and subnational governments In part 2 it provides chapters that analyze gender and representation in each of seven different countries Argentina Chile Costa Rica Uruguay Mexico Brazil and Colombia The authors bring novel insights and impressive new data to their analyses helping to make this one of the most comprehensive books on gender and political representation in Latin America today Routledge Handbook of Afro-Latin American Studies Bernd Reiter, John Antón Sánchez, 2022-11-08 This Handbook provides a comprehensive roadmap to the burgeoning area of Afro Latin American Studies Afro Latins as a civilization developed during the period of slavery obtaining cultural contributions from Indigenous and European worlds while today they are enriched by new social configurations derived from contemporary migrations from Africa The essays collected in this volume speak to scientific production that has been promoted in the region from the humanities and social sciences with the aim of understanding the phenomenon of the African diaspora as a specific civilizing element With contributions from world leading figures in their fields overseen by an eminent international editorial board this Handbook features original authoritative articles organized in four coherent parts Disciplinary Studies Problem Focused Fields Regional and Country Approaches Pioneers of Afro Latin American Studies The Routledge Handbook of Afro Latin American Studies will not only serve as the major reference text in the area of Afro Latin American Studies but will also provide the agenda for future new research equitable and just The Logics of Gender Justice Mala Htun, S. Laurel Weldon, 2018-03-01 When and why do governments promote women's rights Through comparative analysis of state action in seventy countries from 1975 to 2005 this book shows how different women's rights issues involve different histories trigger different conflicts and activate different sets of protagonists Change on violence against women and workplace equality involves a logic of status politics feminist movements leverage international norms to contest women's subordination Family law abortion and contraception which challenge the historical claim of religious groups to regulate kinship and reproduction conform to a logic of doctrinal politics which turns on relations between religious groups and the state Publicly paid parental leave and child care follow a logic of class politics in which the strength of Left parties and overall economic conditions are more salient The book reveals the multiple and complex pathways to gender justice illuminating the opportunities and obstacles to social change for policymakers advocates and others seeking to advance women's rights Negotiating Gender Equity in the Global South Sohela Nazneen, Sam Hickey, Eleni Sifaki, 2019-03-04 The Open Access version of this book available at <https://doi.org/10.4324/9781351245623> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license The fact that women have achieved higher levels of political inclusion within low and middle income countries has generated much speculation about whether this is reaping broader benefits in tackling gender based inequalities This book uncovers the multiple political dynamics that influence governments to adopt and implement gender equity policies pushing the debate beyond simply the role of women's inclusion in influencing policy Bringing the politics of development into discussion with feminist literature on women's empowerment the book proposes the new concept of power domains as a way to capture how inter elite bargaining coalitional politics and social movement activism combine to shape policies that promote gender equity In particular the book investigates the conditions under which countries in sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia have adopted legislation against domestic violence which remains widespread in many developing countries The book demonstrates that women's presence in formal politics and policy spaces does not fully explain the pace in adopting and implementing domestic violence law Underlying drivers of change within broader domains of power also include the role of clientelistic politics and informal processes of bargaining coalition building and persuasion the discursive framing of gender equitable ideas and how transnational norms influence women's political inclusion and gender inclusive policy outcomes The comparative approach across Uganda Rwanda South Africa Ghana India and Bangladesh demonstrates how advancing gender equality varies by political context and according to the interests surrounding a particular issue Negotiating Gender Equity in the Global South will be of interest to students and scholars of gender and development as well as to activists within governments political parties nongovernmental organizations women's movements and donor agencies at national and international levels who are looking to develop effective strategies for advancing gender equality Elections in Latin America Kevin Pallister, 2024-02-27 Even as several Latin American countries have regressed to authoritarian rule in the

Women, Power, and Property Rachel E Brulé, 2020-10-22 Quotas for women in government have swept the globe Yet we know little about their capacity to upend entrenched social political and economic hierarchies Women Power and Property explores this question within the context of India the world's largest democracy Brul employs a research design that maximizes causal inference alongside extensive field research to explain the relationship between political representation backlash and economic empowerment Her findings show that women in government gatekeepers catalyze access to fundamental economic rights to property Women in politics have the power to support constituent rights at critical junctures such as marriage negotiations when they can strike integrative solutions to intrahousehold bargaining Yet there is a paradox quotas are essential for enforcement of rights but they generate backlash against women who gain rights without bargaining leverage In this groundbreaking study Brul shows how well designed quotas can operate as a crucial tool to foster equality and benefit the women they are meant to empower

Women and Power in Africa Aspiring Campaigning and Governing examines women s experiences in African politics as aspirants to public office as candidates in election campaigns and as elected representatives Part I evaluates women s efforts to become party candidates in four African countries Benin Ghana Malawi and Zambia The chapters draw on a variety of methods including extensive interviews with women candidates to describe and assess the barriers confronted when women seek to enter politics The chapters help explain why women remain underrepresented as candidates for office particularly in countries without gender based quotas by emphasizing the impact of financial constraints fears of violence and resistance among party leaders Part II turns to women s experiences as candidates during elections in Kenya and Ghana One chapter provides an in depth account of a woman s presidential bid in Kenya demonstrating how gendered ethnicity undermined her candidacy and another chapter presents a novel evaluation of the media s coverage of women candidates in Ghana Part III turns to women as legislators in Namibia Uganda and Burkina Faso asking whether women engage in substantive representation on gendered policy issues once in office The chapters challenge the assumption that a critical mass of women is necessary or sufficient to achieve substantive representation Taken together the book s chapters problematize existing hypotheses regarding women in political power drawing on understudied countries and variety of empirical methods By following political pathways from entry to governance the book uncovers how gendered experiences early in the political process shape what is possible for women once they attain political power Oxford Studies in African Politics and International Relations is a series for scholars and students working on African politics and International Relations and related disciplines Volumes concentrate on contemporary developments in African political science political economy and International Relations such as electoral politics democratization decentralization the political impact of natural resources the dynamics and consequences of conflict and the nature of the continent s engagement with the East and West Comparative and mixed methods work is particularly encouraged Case studies are welcomed but should demonstrate the broader theoretical and empirical implications of the study and its wider relevance to contemporary debates The series focuses on sub Saharan Africa although proposals that explain how the region engages with North Africa and other parts of the world are of interest Series Editors Nic Cheeseman Professor of Democracy and International Development University of Birmingham and Ricardo Soares de Oliveira Professor of the International Politics of Africa University of Oxford

Has Democracy Failed Women? Drude Dahlerup,2017-11-10 Why are women still under represented in politics Can we speak of democracy when women are not fully included in political decision making Some argue that we are on the right track to full gender equality in politics while others talk about women hitting the glass ceiling or being included in institutions with shrinking power not least as a result of neo liberalism In this powerful essay internationally renowned scholar of gender and politics Drude Dahlerup explains how democracy has failed women and what can be done to tackle it Political institutions including political parties she argues are the real gatekeepers to elected positions all over the world but they need to be much more inclusive By reforming these institutions and carefully implementing gender quotas we can move towards improved gender equality and greater democratization
