Paper Tigers Jeffrey Lewis, 2014-10 This book examines how the nuclear weapons policy forces and posture of the People's Republic of China have evolved from the mid 1950s to the present Using newly available open source information including Chinese language resources it documents the development of Chinese views about nuclear weapons China's nuclear weapons testing program its production of fissile material and the deployment of its current nuclear forces The author places the debate about the future of China's nuclear posture in the context of its nuclear past arguing that the United States and China should focus the current dialogue about nuclear weapons on questions of regional security and strategic stability Handbook of US-China Relations Andrew T.H. Tan, 2016-08-26 This Handbook addresses the key questions surrounding US China relations what are the historical and contemporary contexts that underpin this complex relationship How has the strategic rivalry between the two evolved What are the key flashpoints in their relationship What are the key security issues between the two powers The international contributors explore the historical political economic military and international and regional spheres of the US China relationship The topics they discuss include human rights Chinese public perception of the United States US China strategic rivalry China's defence build up and cyber war Paper Tigers Jeffrey G. Lewis, 2014 This book traces the evolution of China's nuclear weapons policies forces and posture Neoclassical Realism and the Underdevelopment of China's Nuclear Doctrine Paolo Rosa, 2018-04-06 This book addresses the under researched discourse of the evolution of Chinese nuclear posture and in particular explains the absence from this evolution of a coherent and well defined operational doctrine Using a neoclassical realist framework the book explains why China after having launched a crash programme in the mid 1950s to develop a nuclear deterrent did not debate a clear operational doctrine with respect to targeting and employment until the mid 1980s Asia-Pacific Regional Security Assessment 2022 The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS), 2022-06-10 The Asia Pacific Regional Security Assessment examines key regional security issues relevant to the policy focused discussions of the IISS Shangri La Dialogue Asia's premier defence summit convened by the International Institute for Strategic Studies It is published each year in association with the Dialogue and the issues analysed within its covers are central to discussions at the event Among the topics explored are US Indo Pacific strategy alliances and security partnerships Chinese perspectives on regional security Taiwan's security and the possibility of conflict the continuing challenges posed by North Korea's nuclear and missile programmes the nuclear dynamics of Sino American security relations air and naval operations in the Asia Pacific Sino American technology competition Japan's competition and cooperation with China India's role in the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue Quad the evolving regional security engagement of European states and the European Union China's role as an upstream state in the Mekong sub region and the climate crisis and Asia Pacific security As this volume goes to press the war in Ukraine overshadows the international security landscape and many chapters in this volume touch on the conflict's ramifications for security in the Asia Pacific Authors include leading regional analysts and academics at the forefront of research and analysis Aidan Foster Carter James Crabtree Peter A Dutton Brian Eyler Michael Green Sheryn Lee Jeffrey G Lewis Tanvi Madan Jeffrey Mazo Ben Schreer Yun Sun Nicholas Szechenyi Brendan Taylor Ashley Townshend and Paul Triolo Stable Nuclear Zero Sverre Lodgaard, 2016-08-12 This volume examines the conditions necessary for a stable nuclear weapons free world and the implications for nuclear disarmament policy The Nuclear Non Proliferation Treaty NPT is a road map to nuclear zero but it is a rudimentary one and it says nothing about the kind of zero to aim for Preferably this would be a world where the inhibitions against reversal are strong enough to make it stably non nuclear What then are the requirements of stable zero The literature on nuclear disarmament has paid little attention to this question By and large the focus has been on the next steps and discussions tend to stop where the NPT stops with the elimination of the weapons This book seeks to fill a lacuna by examining the requirements of stable zero and their implications for the road map to that goal starting from the vision to the present day The volume highlights that a clear conception of the goal not only is important in itself but can shed light on what kind of disarmament process to promote This book will be of much interest to students of nuclear proliferation global governance security studies and IR India and Nuclear Asia Yogesh Joshi, Frank O'Donnell, 2018-11-01 India's nuclear profile doctrine and practices have evolved rapidly since the country's nuclear breakout in 1998 However the outside world's understanding of India's doctrinal debates forward looking strategy and technical developments are still two decades behind the present India and Nuclear Asia will fill that gap in our knowledge by focusing on the post 1998 evolution of Indian nuclear thought its arsenal the triangular rivalry with Pakistan and China and New Delhi's nonproliferation policy approaches Yogesh Joshi and Frank O'Donnell show how India's nuclear trajectory has evolved in response to domestic regional and global drivers The authors argue that emerging trends in all three states are elevating risks of regional inadvertent and accidental escalation These include the forthcoming launch of naval nuclear forces within an environment of contested maritime boundaries the growing employment of dual use delivery vehicles and the emerging preferences of all three states to employ missiles early in a conflict These dangers are amplified by the near absence of substantive nuclear dialogue between these states and the growing ambiguity of regional strategic intentions Based on primary source research and interviews this book will be important reading for scholars and students of nuclear deterrence and India's international relations as well as for military defense contractor and policy audiences both within and outside South Asia China Builds the Bomb John Wilson Lewis, Litai Xue, 1991-04-01 A pioneering political scientific history Lucidly composed meticulously documented and handsomely presented The Annals A fascinating and compelling story of the beginnings of the Chinese nuclear weapon program Arms Control Today Handbook of Nuclear Proliferation Harsh V Pant, 2012-02-27 The chapters of this proposed volume are intended to shed light on the diverse themes surrounding this very important issue area in international security Each of the six major sections addresses an aspect of nuclear proliferation that will be critical in determining the future trajectory of global politics in the years to come The first section examines the major thematic issues underlying the contemporary discourse on nuclear proliferation How do we understand this period in proliferation What accounts for a taboo on the use of nuclear weapons so far and will it survive What is the present state of nuclear deterrence models built during the Cold War What is the relationship between the pursuit of civilian nuclear energy and the risks of proliferation Why are we witnessing a move away from non proliferation to counter proliferation The second section gives an overview of the evolving nuclear policies of the five established nuclear powers the USA Russia the United Kingdom France and the People s Republic of China Section three looks at the three de facto nuclear states India Pakistan and Israel The fourth section examines the three problem areas in the proliferation matrix today Iran North Korea and the potent mix of non state actors and nuclear weapons The fifth section sheds light on an important issue often ignored during discussions of nuclear proliferation cases where states have made a deliberate policy choice of either renouncing their nuclear weapons programme or have decided to remain a threshold state The cases of South Africa Egypt and Japan will be the focus of this section The final section will examine the present state of the global nuclear non proliferation regime which most observers agree is currently facing a crisis of credibility The three pillars of this regime the Nuclear Non Proliferation Treaty NPT the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty CTBT and the Fissile Material Cut Off Treaty FMCT will be examined This is followed by an analysis of the present trends and prospects for US Russia nuclear arms control The impact of missile defenses and the US India civilian nuclear energy co operation pact will be examined so as to ascertain whether they have weakened or strengthened the global non proliferation regime The chapters in this volume aim to document the increasing complexity of the global nuclear proliferation dynamic and the inability of the international community to come to terms with a rapidly changing strategic milieu The future in all likelihood will be very different from the past and the chapters in this volume will try to develop a framework that may help gain a better understanding of the forces that will shape the nuclear proliferation debate in the years to come

Is China a Paper Tiger? Nancy Waker, 2013-08-24 Is China a paper tiger China's as a Military Power Peril Or Paper Tiger, 2020 A Dragon in Sheep's Clothing Paul A. Hesser, 2023 This research seeks to understand how the Chinese think about the role of nuclear deterrence and why their nuclear posture is drifting from their declaratory nuclear policy First it will examine the origins and evolution of the Chinese nuclear weapons program to understand their reasons for building the bomb Establishing and characterizing China's past nuclear posture will serve as a base to learn how its nuclear thinking developed through the decades and provide a launching point for surmising where it may go in the future Comparing China's grand strategy to its nuclear posture and policy will clarify why what they say seems to differ from what they do Ultimately the conclusions of this analysis will answer why there are disparities between Chinese nuclear policy and posture Finally this research will consider the implications of China's nuclear posture Throughout the examination consideration is given to Chinese history culture diplomacy media military economy and leadership to reveal the truth behind Chinese rhetoric

Abstract Surviving the West Wind Decker Eveleth, 2021 China & the U.S. Nuclear Posture Review Lora Saalman, 2011 Introduction Strategic stability in context President Obama's vision Issues of doctrine and practice Strategic stability and trust Conclusion Paper Tiger or Pacing Threat? Ryan C. Berg, 2023 Crouching Tiger Peter Navarro, 2015-11-03 Will there be war with China This book provides the most complete and accurate assessment of the probability of conflict between the United States and the rising Asian superpower Equally important it lays out an in depth analysis of the possible pathways to peace Written like a geopolitical detective story the narrative encourages reader interaction by starting each chapter with an intriguing question that often challenges conventional wisdom Based on interviews with more than thirty top experts the author highlights a number of disturbing facts about China's recent military buildup and the shifting balance of power in Asia the Chinese are deploying game changing carrier killer ballistic missiles some of America's supposed allies in Europe and Asia are selling highly lethal weapons systems to China in a perverse twist on globalization and on the U.S. side debilitating cutbacks in the military budget send a message to the world that America is not serious about its pivot to Asia In the face of these threatening developments the book stresses the importance of maintaining US military strength and preparedness and strengthening alliances while warning against a complacent optimism that relies on economic engagement negotiations and nuclear deterrence to ensure peace Accessible to readers from all walks of life this multidisciplinary work blends geopolitics economics history international relations military doctrine and political science to provide a better understanding of one of the most vexing problems facing the world China's Nuclear Posture and Strategic First-use Graham Gerard Ong-Webb, King's College London. Department of War Studies, 2011 This thesis argues that despite China's official declaration of no first use NFU there is a considerably weak firebreak in the country's nuclear posture that is likely to promote strategic nuclear first use during crisis The thesis arrives at this argument through holistic analysis Holism is a deeply established method of thinking in the Chinese tradition and continues to be relevant today It encompasses the idea that all the properties of a given system cannot be determined or explained by its component parts alone It also emphasises the connections between distinctions and even endeavours to transcend distinctions altogether However the salience of holism as a method of analysing Chinese phenomena including matters in the political strategic and military realms continues to be overlooked by the mainstream tendency to produce reductionist type accounts A reductionist type approach cannot test whether China's NFU policy is credible This thesis contributes to scholarship by demonstrating that a holistic approach in contrast can A state's nuclear posture can be defined as the product of its nuclear doctrine and capabilities The argument is grounded in a holistic analysis of 1 the People's Liberation Army's PLA's texts covering its strategic and operational nuclear doctrine and 2 the nuclear and nuclear related capabilities of the PL A Second Artillery which operates the bulk of China's strategic nuclear deterrent The thesis demonstrates the existence of weak firebreaks in both Chinese doctrine and capabilities It finds that China actually possesses a significantly weak NFU doctrine Principally the analysis of this thesis indicates that while China's strategic planners genuinely believe that the imperative of their country's nuclear posture is to uphold deterrence the concepts and capabilities they believe will enhance deterrence are more likely to erode it China's Winning Nuclear Strategy Edouard Valensi, 2022-09 China's Winning Nuclear Strategy describes precisely what China's nuclear forces are what is their nuclear doctrine and how china could blackmail the United States in the event of a serious conflict in the South China Sea
