Panic Disorder And Agoraphobia Oxford Psychiatry Library:

Panic Disorder and Agoraphobia Borwin Bandelow, Katharina Domschke, David Baldwin, 2013-11-21 Panic disorder is characterized by sudden unexpected attacks of intense fear and anticipatory anxiety. Panic attacks include symptoms such as palpitations, dyspnoea, dizziness, trembling, gastrointestinal discomfort, and fear of dying. Therefore, patients with panic disorder often assume physical illnesses may underlie their symptoms. They frequently consult psychiatrists and psychologists but also general practitioners, cardiologists, neurologists, and other medical specialists. Part of the Oxford Psychiatry Library series, this pocketbook will serve as a concise and practical manual for the management of patients with panic disorder in clinical practice. It provides a user-friendly guide to the diagnosis, etiology, and treatment of patients with panic disorder and agoraphobia.

Anxiety Disorders and Gender Dan J. Stein, Bavi Vythilingum, 2015-06-01. Anxiety and related disorders are common conditions that disproportionately affect women. In this book, the epidemiology, psychobiology, diagnosis, evaluation, pharmacotherapy, and psychotherapy of major anxiety and related disorders are examined with special reference to the effects of gender and sex on clinical presentation and treatment. The conditions considered include generalized anxiety disorder, obsessive compulsive disorder, panic disorder, posttraumatic stress disorder, and social anxiety disorder. In addition, the management of anxiety and related disorders during pregnancy and lactation are discussed. Two concluding chapters specifically address anxiety disorders in women and in men, summarizing key points for clinicians and researchers. The authors are leading clinicians including both psychiatrists and psychologists from around the globe.
