Parks For Life Transboundary Protected Areas In Europe:

Parks for Life Robert Brunner, 1999 Transboundary protected areas in Europe Robert Brunner, 1999

Identification of the Most Important Transboundary Protected Areas in Central and Eastern Europe Robert Brunner, Council of Europe. Committee for the Activities of the Council of Europe in the field of Biological and Landscape Diversity, 2002-01-01 The protection of transborder areas in an ecological network system which take account of clusters of conservation areas represents an important step towards protecting natural heritage in Europe Cross border co operation can help provide larger protected areas with uniform management and thus make a considerable contribution to the conservation of biodiversity This report reflects the transborder co operation in countries of central and eastern Europe including Russia the Baltic countries Belarus and Ukraine Transboundary Protected Areas Yale University, 2003-05-21 Top researchers share their expertise on conservation and sustainability in areas that extend across national borders This informative and insightful book examines strategies being used by governments and NGOs to protect wild areas that cross national borders and cultural linguistic and socioeconomic boundaries In addition to presenting case studies from five continents Transboundary Protected Areas The Viability of Regional Conservation Strategies provides several theoretical overviews that suggest viable approaches to conserving biodiversity in these difficult to protect areas From the editors Historically the borders of protected areas have been defined by convenient social political or proprietary boundaries rather than by ecological boundaries Today many scientists and practitioners are in agreement that the world's biodiversity and other natural resources can best be conserved on an ecosystem or regional scale which may or may not be consistent with political boundaries Efforts to protect land on an ecosystem scale have led to the creation of numerous transboundary protected areas also referred to as international peace parks or transfrontier conservation areas These areas which often cross linguistic socioeconomic and cultural boundaries as well as national borders represent regional conservation at its most complex While many scientists and practitioners promote eco regional approaches to conservation many also advocate pursuing conservation goals on local or community scales Conservationists therefore endeavor to achieve a seemingly incongruous mandate to pursue top down regional goals using bottom up local approaches Transboundary Protected Areas The Viability of Regional Conservation Strategies addresses the vital questions associated with this mandate Is it reasonable and realistic to approach regional conservation this way What strategies have been employed to achieve these goals and how successful have they been Who benefits from transboundary conservation and what are the costs Reflecting the information delivered at the 2001 conference of the Yale chapter of the International Society of Tropical Foresters ISTF this book provides you with the best answers available at this time The contributors include social and natural scientists resource managers policymakers and community leaders Transboundary Protected Areas The Viability of Regional Conservation Strategies brings them together for an interdisciplinary exploration of these questions and other critical issues related to conservation in and around transboundary protected areas Specific cases that are thoughtfully examined in Transboundary Protected Areas The Viability of Regional Conservation Strategies include the public reaction to the Yellowstone to Yukon Y2Y Conservation Initiative the ways in which the establishment of southern Africa's existing and proposed Transfrontier Conservation Areas TFCAs can help conserve biodiversity aid socioeconomic development and promote international peace development and conservation efforts in the Maloti Drakensberg mountains of southern Africa which straddle the borderlands between South Africa and Lesotho the cultural aspects of protected area management in Venezuela and Guyana the impact of transfrontier collaboration as evidenced by the International Gorilla Conservation Programme IGCP in the Virunga Bwindi region of Africa Uganda Rwanda and the Democratic Republic of Congo how the Nepalese have addressed the problems of poaching commercial logging illegal harvesting and smuggling of forest products and illegal trade of wildlife and wildlife products in the eastern Himalayas by implementing a transboundary biodiversity conservation initiative Helpful maps tables and figures make geographical regions and conservation information easy to assimilate Parks for Life, 1994 This plan sets out the policies and actions needed to ensure an adequate effective and well managed network of protected areas in Europe It outlines how potential areas should be integrated with other sectors such as agriculture forestry and tourism sets out priorities at European sub regional and national level proposes actions to strengthen the legal framework planning and management of Europe's protected areas and explains how to create the public support necessary for success Over 200 individuals and institutions have contributed to what has become IUCN's largest ever exercise in regional collaboration between government agencies NGOs and the individual staff of protected areas The Green Belt of Europe Andrew Terry, Karin Ullrich, Uwe Riecken, 2006 The Iron Curtain running from the Barents Sea to the Black Sea divided Europe for almost 40 years and no activity was allowed in this forbidden zone When it fell in 1989 it left a strip of land that runs the entire length of Europe and that has remained comparatively undisturbed a green belt The Green Belt initiative aims to integrate this entire strip of land with its key habitats and ecological areas as part of an international network of valuable ecosystems This book provides background information on the initiative reviews current activities in a number of case studies and looks at how the initiative can fit into current and future global efforts to protect European biodiversity 1er Symposium International de Réseau Écologique Paneuropéen Pan-European Ecological Network, Council of Europe, 2000-01-01 This symposium was held to further the development of the Pan European Ecological Network This network aims to achieve trans frontier co operation on the conservation of ecosystems habitats and species by protecting migratory corridors and stopovers Europe Kevin Hillstrom, Laurie Collier Hillstrom, 2003-08-13 A concise yet thorough overview of the environmental issues problems and controversies facing the world's most densely populated continent Europe Europe one of six titles in The World's Environments series tackles the tough issues the complex problems and the political controversies surrounding the continent's environmental past its complicated present and its uncertain future

Europe looks at the catastrophes in January 2000 a massive spill of cyanide and heavy metals from a gold mining operation in Romania destroyed all biological life in the Tisza Hungary's second biggest river The poisons traveled 1 000 kilometers through Hungary and Yugoslavia where they wreaked havoc on the Danube It also examines the progress European society has shown a greater interest in renewable energy technologies than most other industrialized regions in the last 30 years Serving as both a blueprint for the future as well as a roadmap of the past this book offers a gripping look at Europe's ecological history

Assessment of the Status of Transboundary Natural Resources Management Activities in Botswana Zuma Chengeta, 2003 Transboundary Protected Areas in Europe Robert Brunner, Andrej Sovinc, 1999

Transboundary Protected Areas for Peace and Co-operation Trevor Sandwith, 2001 Protected areas are vital for life on earth They safeguard biological and cultural diversity help to improve the livelihoods of local communities provide the homelands for many indigenous peoples and bring countless benefits to society at large It is now generally understood that conservation planning cannot just be site specific plants and animals do not recognize national boundaries nor do many of the forces that threaten them Strategies to conserve biodiversity in the 21st century must therefore emphasize transboundary co operation and may at the same time foster better co operation and understanding between countries This publication reports on the work undertaken by IUCN's World Commission on Protected Areas to focus attention on the conservation and security benefits of transboundary protected areas Landscape and Sustainability John F.

Benson, Maggie H. Roe, 2005-11-29 Sustainability is highly topical but no one has yet examined its relationship to landscape architecture in any detail Contributions from leading academics and professionals in the field Will be regarded as the definitive work on the subject Breadth of approach subject examined from planning design science and management perspectives Tourism and Borders Helmut Wachowiak, 2016-02-24 Although globalization has led to increased cross border traffic there has been little examination of how crossing political boundaries affects tourism and vice versa Bringing together case studies from Europe the USA and Southern Africa this volume discusses current issues and policies destination management and communication and planning in cross border areas Topics studied include borders as tourist attractions and destinations in their own right as barriers to travel and the growth of tourism boundaries as links of transit and the growth of supranationalism The book concludes that the role of borders has changed dramatically in recent years Many more borders that have traditionally hosted large scale tourism are becoming more difficult to cross primarily because of safety and immigration concerns On the other hand places that were once forbidden to foreigners are now opening up and new destinations are becoming more commonplace Conservation of the Biological Diversity as a Prerequisite for Sustainable Development in the Black Sea Region V. Kotlyakov, M. Uppenbrink, V. Metreveli, 2012-12-06 This volume is a collection of reports presented at the International NATO Advanced Research Workshop Conservation of the Biological Diversity as a Prerequisite for Sustainable Development of the Black Sea Region The seminar was held at Batumi Kobuleti Georgia on the Black Sea during October 5-12 1996 with participants from the countries of the Black Sea Region Georgia Russia the Ukraine Turkey Bulgaria Romania as well as Germany Italy and the United States of America The Black Sea Region is an essential and unique part of southern Europe because of its geographical cultural and historical features It is the cradle of European civilisation together with Greece and Rome For centuries it neighboured onto and interacted with the cultures of the northern and southern Mediterranean the Christian and Muslim worlds and was the route of conquerors and migrations of whole nations Here are closely interwoven the cultures and customs of nations economic and trade relations the history of wars and civilised relations of neighbouring countries

Biodiversity Conservation in Transboundary Protected Areas

Office of Central Europe and Eurasia, Office of International Affairs, Policy and Global Affairs, National Research

Council, 1996-10-11 Recognizing the increasing rate of species loss on a global scale and that neither pollution nor ecosystems respects political boundaries cooperation on many different levels is required to conserve biodiversity This volume uses four protected areas that Poland shares with its neighbors as case studies to explore opportunities to integrate science and management in transboundary protected areas in Central Europe for the conservation of biodiversity Specific topics include biodiversity conservation theories and strategies problems of wildlife management and impacts of tourism and recreational use on protected areas

Protected Area Governance and Management

Graeme L. Worboys, Michael Lockwood, Ashish Kothari, Sue Feary, Ian Pulsford, 2015-04-08 Protected Area Governance and Management presents a compendium of original text case studies and examples from across the world by drawing on the literature and on the knowledge and experience of those involved in protected areas The book synthesises current knowledge and cutting edge thinking from the diverse branches of practice and learning relevant to protected area governance and management It is intended as an investment in the skills and competencies of people and consequently the effective governance and management of protected areas for which they are responsible now and into the future The global success of the protected area concept lies in its shared vision to protect natural and cultural heritage for the long term and organisations such as International Union for the Conservation of Nature are a unifying force in this regard Nonetheless protected areas are a socio political phenomenon and the ways that nations understand govern and manage them is always open to contest and debate The book aims to enlighten educate and above all to challenge readers to think deeply about protected areas their future and their past as well as their present The book has been compiled by 169 authors and deals with all aspects of protected area governance and management It provides information to support capacity development training of protected area field officers managers in charge and executive level managers

Peace Parks

Saleem Hassan Ali, 2007 Peace Parks examines ways in which environmental cooperation in multijurisdictional conservation areas may help resolve political and territorial conflicts Its analysis and case studies of transboundary peace parks focus on how sharing of physical space and management responsibilities can build and sustain peace among countries It examines roles played by governments military civil society scientists and conservationists and their effects on both ecological management and potential for peace building in these areas After an historical and theoretical overview that explores economic political and social theories that support peace parks concept and discussion of bioregional management for science and economic development the book presents case studies of existing parks and proposals for future parks Publisher s description Adapting to change
