Memory Theater Simon Critchley, 2015-11-17 From this renowned philosopher comes a debut work of fiction at once a brilliant précis of the history of philosophy a semiautobiographical meditation on the absurd relationship between knowledge and memory and a very funny story A French philosopher dies during a savage summer heat wave Boxes carrying his unpublished papers mysteriously appear in Simon Critchley's office Rooting through them Critchley discovers a brilliant text on the ancient art of memory and a cache of astrological charts predicting the deaths of various philosophers Among them is a chart for Critchley himself laying out in great detail the course of his life and eventual demise While waiting for his friend's prediction to come through Critchley receives the missing final box which contains a maquette of Giulio Camillo's sixteenth century Venetian memory theater a space supposed to contain the sum of all knowledge With nothing left to hope for Critchley devotes himself to one final project before his death the building of a structure to house his collective memories and document the remnants of his entire life

Memory Theatre Simon Critchley, 2014 This is part novel part prose poem illuminated by a series of photographs of New York buildings gradually making and unmaking themselves

What We Think About When We Think About Football Simon Critchley, 2017-11-02 What do we think about when we think about football Football is about so many things memory history place social class gender especially masculinity but increasingly femininity too family identity tribal identity national identity the nature of groups It is essentially collaborative even socialist yet it exists in a sump of greed corruption capitalism and autocracy Philosopher Simon Critchley attempts to make sense of it all and to establish a system of aesthetics even poetics to show what is beautiful in the beautiful game He explores too how the experience of watching football opens a particular dimension in time how its magic wards off oblivion how its dramas play out national identity and non identity how we spectators watching football with tragic pensiveness participate in the play And of course as a football fan he writes about his heroes and villains about Zidane and Cruyff Clough and Revie Shankly and Klopp culture It also discusses what one might call the stylistics of soccer analyzing how players fans and commentators communicate on and off the pitch in the press on social media and in wider public discourse The Aesthetics Poetics and Rhetoric of Soccer makes for fascinating reading for anybody with an interest in sport culture literature philosophy linguistics and society

Credo Credit Crisis Aidan Tynan, Laurent Milesi, Christopher John Müller, 2017-08-25 Money facilitates the rites and rituals we perform in everyday life More than a mere medium of exchange or a measure of value it is the primary means by which we manifest a faith unique to our secular age But what happens when individual belief credo I believe and the systems into which it is bound credit it believes enter into crisis Where did the sacredness of money come from and does it have a future Why do we talk about debt and repayment in overtly moral terms How should a theological critique of capitalism proceed today With the effects of the 2008 economic crises continuing to be felt across the world this volume brings together some of the most important contemporary voices in philosophy literature theology and critical and cultural theory together in one volume to assert the need to interrogate and broaden the terms of the theological critique of capitalism

Genre Transgressions Ramona Mosse, Anna Street, 2023-12-01 This collection gathers a set of provocative essays that sketch innovative and interdisciplinary approaches to Genre Theory in the 21st century Focusing on the interaction between tragedy and comedy both renowned and emerging scholarly and creative voices from philosophy theater literature and cultural studies come together to engage in dialogues that reconfigure genre as social communal and affective In revisiting the challenges to aesthetic categorization over the course of the 20th century this volume proposes a shift away from the prescriptive and hierarchical reading of genre to its crucial function in shaping thought and enabling shared experience and communication In doing so the various essays acknowledge the diverse contexts within which genre needs to be thought afresh media studies rhetoric politics performance and philosophy

Between Levinas and Heidegger John E. Drabinski, Eric S. Nelson, 2014-08-25 Investigates the philosophical relationship between Levinas and Heidegger in a nonpolemical context engaging some of philosophy s most pressing issues Although both Levinas and Heidegger drew inspiration from Edmund Husserl s phenomenological method and helped pave the way toward the post structuralist movement of the late twentieth century very little scholarly attention has been paid to the relation of these two thinkers There are plenty of simple and accurate oppositions and juxtapositions French and German ethics and ontology and so on But there is also a critical intersection between Levinas and Heidegger on some of the most fundamental philosophical questions What does it mean to be to think and to act in late modern life and culture How do our conceptions of subjectivity time and history both reflect the condition of this historical moment and open up possibilities for critique resistance and transformation The contributors to this volume take up these questions by engaging the ideas of Levinas and Heidegger relating to issues of power violence secularization history language time death sacrifice responsibility memory and the boundary between the human and humanism

volume collects more than 30 new essays by prominent scholars on what remains philosophically provocative in Heidegger's thought. His writings continue to invite analysis and application, particularly in the light of his political affiliations; they must also be critiqued. Philosophy today takes place after Heidegger in that his views should not be accepted naively and there are new issues that he did not address but also in that we continue to think in the wake of important questions that he raised. The contributors to this volume ask questions such as: What does it mean to think after Heidegger? What is valuable in his early work on finite existence and in his early and late phenomenology? What is the root of his political errors? Are there still elements in his thought that can yield helpful political insights? Should we emulate his turn toward releasement? Can he help us understand the postmodern condition? Readers will find thought-provoking echoes and points of contention among these engaging and lively essays.

Rousseau Between Nature and Culture Anne Deneys-Tunney, Yves Charles Zarka, 2016-03-07 Rousseau has been seen as the inventor of the concept of nature in this collective volume; philosophers and literary specialists from France and the United States examine how Rousseau's philosophy can be reinterpreted from the point of view of a constant dialectical debate between nature and culture. In this, Rousseau is our true contemporary.

Tragedy, the Greeks, and Us Simon Critchley, 2019-04-16 From the moderator of The New York Times philosophy blog The Stone, a book that argues that if we want to understand ourselves we have to go back to theater to the stage of our lives. Tragedy presents a world of conflict and troubling emotion, a world where private and public lives collide and collapse. A world where morality is ambiguous and the powerful humiliate and destroy the powerless. A world where justice always seems to be on both sides of a conflict and sugarcoated words serve as cover for clandestine operations of violence. A world rather like our own. The ancient Greeks hold a mirror up to us in which we see all the desolation and delusion of our lives but also the terrifying beauty and intensity of existence. This is not a time for consolation prizes and the fatuous banalities of the self-help industry and pop philosophy. Tragedy allows us to glimpse in its harsh and unforgiving glare the burning core of our aliveness. If we give ourselves the chance to look at tragedy we might see further and more clearly.

Renaissance Futurities Charlene Villaseñor Black, Mari-Tere Álvarez, 2019-11-05 At publication date a free ebook version of this title will be available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program. Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more. Renaissance Futurities considers the intersections between artistic rebirth, the new science, and European imperialism in the global early modern world. Charlene Villaseñor Black and Mari-Tere Álvarez take as inspiration the work of Renaissance genius Leonardo da Vinci (1452-1519), prolific artist and inventor, and other polymaths such as philosopher Giulio Delminio Camillo (1480-1544), physician and naturalist Francisco Hernández de Toledo (1514-1587), and writer Miguel de Cervantes (1547-1616). This concern with futurity is inspired by the Renaissance itself, a period defined by visions of the future as well as by recent theorizing of temporality in Renaissance and Queer Studies. This transdisciplinary volume is at the cutting edge of the humanities, medical humanities, scientific discovery, and avant-garde artistic expression.

Violence Brad Evans, Natasha Lennard, 2018-12-04 Through a series of penetrating conversations originally published in the New York Times and the Los Angeles Review of Books Brad Evans and Natasha Lennard talk with a wide range of cutting edge thinkers including Oliver Stone Simon Critchley and Elaine Scarry to explore the problem of violence in everyday life politics culture media language memory and the environment To bring out the best of us writes Evans we have to confront the worst of what humans are capable of doing to one another In short there is a need to confront the intolerable realities of violence in this world These lively in depth exchanges among historians theorists and artists offer a timely and bracing look at how the increasing expression and acceptance of violence in all strata of society has become a defining feature of our times Many of us live today with a pervasive sense of unease worried that our own safety is at risk or that of our loved ones or that of people whose bad circumstances appear to us through networked media Violence feels ever present Natasha Lennard and Brad Evans help us to analyze those feelings talking with a wide range of thinkers in order to gain insight into the worst of what humans do and challenging us to imagine a world in which violence is no longer a given Their book is full of surprising insights and intelligent compassion Sarah Leonard co editor of The Future We Want Radical Ideas for the New Century In Violence Brad Evans and Natasha Lennard have created alongside their interview subjects a kaleidoscopic exploration of the concept of violence in terrains expected and not in prose taut and unexpectedly gorgeous

Their philosophical rigor provides the reader with an intellectual arsenal against the violence of the current moment Molly Crabapple author of Drawing Blood We would be wise to read this collection with a similar eye toward service and in so doing open ourselves up to the rare mercy of no longer having to stand on our own Alana Massey author of All The Lives I Want The range of interviews with leading academics to filmmakers and artists is impressive at once immediate and relevant but also profoundly philosophical More essentially though the conversations underline the need and suggest ways to resist and organize in a visionary way in the extraordinary times we live in Razia Iqbal BBC News Notable contemporary thinkers and creators give their individual perspectives in this compelling look at violence A provocative volume that challenges humanity to correct its runaway course toward an increasingly violent future by learning from its violent past Kirkus Reviews The purpose of the work is to challenge humanity to create more meaningful solutions when it comes to these kinds of violence or at least to name violence without inadvertently inciting even more anger passion roars through every chapter This book delivers on what it promises which is an achievement Alison Gately The Los Angeles Review of Books If you wish to read the intellectualization of violence Violence is a phenomenal anthology Brad Evans and Natasha Lennard the interviewers and the authors of the anthology have done a remarkable job in bringing together perceptive and intelligent contributors from various fields to scout the reaches of violence Their piercing questions brought out brilliant responses from the interviewees L Ali Khan New York Journal of Books Violence Humans in Dark Times is an intriguing beginning to a much needed sustained intellectual and aesthetic response to the horrors of modern times Zoe Vorsino Philosophy and Fiction Schuy R. Weishaar, 2022-11-18 Fiction lies in order to tell the truth and seeks reality through shadows Philosophy attempts to dispel false realities it pursues clear understanding of things as they are While the relation of philosophy and fiction is perhaps paradoxical they implicate one another's picture of human experience This book uses fiction to help readers process philosophical themes and the philosophical reflection in turn helps clarify the fiction The study moves through roughly a hundred years of modern fiction from Washington Irving's The Devil and Tom Walker 1824 through James M Cain's Double Indemnity 1936 Several classic works of literary fiction are examined a few largely forgotten stories and several popular novels Reading fiction through the lens of philosophy helps readers perceive the complexity and richness of fiction reinvigorating the pursuit of wisdom that lies just beneath the surface of the words on the page Theatre History and Historiography Claire Cochrane, 2016-04-29 This collection of essays explores how historians of theatre apply ethical thinking to the attempt to truthfully represent their subject whether that be the life of a well known performer or the little known history of colonial theatre in India by exploring the process by which such histories are written and the challenges they raise Bald Simon Critchley, 2021-04-27 A new and expansive collection of essays from one of the world's best known popular philosophers The moderator of the New York Times Stone column and the author of numerous books on everything from Greek tragedy to David Bowie Simon Critchley has been a strong voice in popular philosophy for more than a decade This volume brings together thirty five essays originally published in the Times on a wide range of topics from the dimensions of Plato's academy and the mysteries of Eleusis to Philip K Dick Mormonism money and the joy and pain of Liverpool Football Club fans In an engaging and jargon free style Critchley writes with honesty about the state of world as he offers philosophically informed and insightful considerations of happiness violence and faith Stripped of inaccessible academic armatures these short pieces bring philosophy out of the ivory tower and demonstrate an exciting new way to think in public

Exploring Text, Media, and Memory Patrizia Lombardo, Lars SAetre, Lars S'tre, Sara Tanderup Linkis, 2018-12-31

Exploring Text Media and Memory investigates the link between memory and media by asking a series of questions pertinent to our time How do individual and collective memories blend How do traumatic experiences from past events and catastrophic projections of the future reveal the human condition in the epoch of frenetic technological reproduction of works of art How is the human body tied to narrations and why A group of international scholars tackle questions like these across art forms media and cultural history In nineteen essays they argue that modern and contemporary literary texts and visual arts show how photography film tape recording television and internet are not just means of storing memory and information but objects that we interact with every day challenging static visions of places and the linear notions of past present and future
