Race and Migration in the Transpacific Yasuko Takezawa, Akio Tanabe, 2022-11-25

Looking at a range of cases from around the Transpacific the contributors to this book explore the complex formulations of race and racism emerging from transoceanic migrations and encounters in the region Asia has a history of ceaseless active and multidirectional migration which continues to bear multilayered and complex genetic diversity The traditional system of rank order between groups of people in Asia consisted of multiple invisible differences in variegated entanglements including descent birthplace occupation and lifestyle Transpacific migration brought about the formation of multilayered and complex racial relationships as the physically indistinguishable yet multifacetedly racialized groups encountered the hegemonic racial order deriving from the transatlantic experience of racialization based on visible differences Each chapter in this book examines a different case study identifying their complexities and particularities while contributing to a broad view of the possibilities for solidarity and human connection in a context of domination and discrimination These cases include the dispossession of the Ainu people the experiences of Burakumin emigrants in America the policing of colonial Singapore and data governance in India A fascinating read for sociologists anthropologists and historians especially those with a particular focus on the Asian and Pacific regions Global Perspectives in Urban Law Nestor M. Davidson, Geeta Tewari, 2018-12-07

Murray, 2017-03-10 This book challenges the conventional modernist inspired understanding of urbanization as a universal process tied to the ideal typical model of the modern metropolis with its origins in the grand Western experience of city building At the start of the twenty first century the familiar idea of the city or urbanism as we know it has experienced such profound mutations in both structure and form that the customary epistemological categories and prevailing conceptual frameworks that predominate in conventional urban theory are no longer capable of explaining the evolving patterns of city making Global urbanism has increasingly taken shape as vast distended city regions where urbanizing landscapes are increasingly fragmented into discontinuous assemblages of enclosed enclaves characterized by global connectivity and concentrated wealth on the one side and distressed zones of neglect and impoverishment on the other These emergent patterns of what might be called enclave urbanism have gone hand in hand with the new modes of urban governance where the crystallization of privatized regulatory regimes has effectively shielded wealthy enclaves from public oversight and interference Reconstructing Urban Economics Franklin Obeng-Odoom, 2016-08-15 Neoclassical economics the intellectual bedrock of modern capitalism faces growing criticisms as many of its key assumptions and policy prescriptions are systematically challenged Yet there remains one field of economics where these limitations continue virtually unchallenged the study of cities and regions in built environment economics In this book Franklin Obeng Odoom draws on institutional Georgist and Marxist economics to clearly but comprehensively show what the key issues are today in thinking about urban economics In doing so he demonstrates the widespread tensions and contradictions in the status quo showing how to reconstruct urban economics in order to create a more just society and environment Cities in the 21st Century Oriol Nel-lo, Renata Mele, 2016-02-19 Cities in the 21st Century provides an overview of contemporary urban development Written by more than thirty major academic specialists from different countries it provides information on and analysis of the global network of cities changes in urban form environmental problems the role of technologies and knowledge socioeconomic developments and finally the challenge of urban governance

In the mid 20th century architect and planner Josep Lluís Sert wondered if cities could survive in the early 21st century we see that cities have not only survived but have grown as never before Cities today are engines of production and trade forges of scientific and technological innovation and crucibles of social change Urbanization is a major driver of change in contemporary societies it is a process that involves acute social inequalities and serious environmental problems but also offers opportunities to move towards a future of greater prosperity environmental sustainability and social justice With case studies on thirty cities in five continents and a selection of infographics illustrating these dynamic cities this edited volume is an essential resource for planners and students of urbanization and urban change Vocabularies for an Urbanising Planet: Theory Building through Comparison Christian Schmid, Monika Streule, 2023-10-04 Cartography as an instrument for the analysis of urbanisation processes The speed scale and scope of urbanisation have increased dramatically in recent decades To decipher the rapidly changing urban territories across the planet we need a radical shift in the analytical perspective on urbanisation In this book a transdisciplinary international research team presents an expanded vocabulary of urbanisation processes through a comparison of Tokyo Hong Kong Shenzhen Dongguan Kolkata Istanbul Lagos Paris Mexico City and Los Angeles Based on a novel cartography and on detailed ethnographic and historical explorations this book systematically analyses the diversity of responses to urgent contemporary urban challenges It proposes a series of new concepts that allow us to assess the practical consequences of different urban strategies in everyday life Essential book on urbanism New evaluation models for urbanisation processes Comprehensive analyses and illustrations of the urban patterns of international metropolises Comparison of urbanisation processes in eight metropolises around the world Los Angeles Anton Wagner, 2022-07-12 For the first time Anton Wagner's groundbreaking 1935 book that launched the study of Los Angeles as an urban metropolis is available in English No book on the emergence of Los Angeles today a metropolis of more than four million people has been more influential or elusive than this volume by Anton Wagner Originally published in German in 1935 as Los Angeles Werden Leben und Gestalt der Zweimillionenstadt in Südkalifornien it is one of the earliest geographical investigations of a city understood as a series of layered landscapes Wagner demonstrated that despite its geographical disadvantages Los Angeles grew rapidly into a dominant urban region bolstered by agriculture real estate development transportation infrastructure tourism the oil and automobile industries and the film business Although widely reviewed upon its initial publication his book was largely forgotten until reintroduced by architectural historian Reyner Banham in his 1971 classic Los Angeles The Architecture of Four Ecologies This definitive translation is annotated by Edward Dimendberg and preceded by his substantial introduction which traces Wagner's biography and intellectual formation in 1930s Germany and contextualizes his work among that of other geographers It is an essential work for students scholars and curious readers interested in urban geography and the rise of Los Angeles as a global metropolis Contemporary South Africa and the Political Economy of Regional Development Methembe Mdlalose, Isaac Khambule, Nene Ernest Khalema, 2025-02-21

South Africa's struggle in balancing its domestic needs while playing a dynamic developmental role in the African region and global context exposes a complex web of relations shaped by its geostrategic location on the continent and the world and the staggering legacies of colonialism and apartheid. As such, understanding the complexities of the global economy and of South Africa's place in it is of great importance. This book builds upon an existing body of literature which has demonstrated that while the post-apartheid South African state has recast its nation building goals with advances having been made notably in the area of a stellar post-apartheid constitution, policy directives and democratic political integration, economic integration and policy implementation presents a projection of captured interests where big business concerns are entrenched in the post-apartheid state's apparent neo-liberal turn. The main focus of the book is to contextualise issues relating to three main trends in global discourses on development which are significant for South Africa and indeed for the study of the political economy of regional development in the country from the prism of South Africa as a global capitalist state. These trends include the impact of globalisation, regionalisation and the marginalisation of South Africa and indeed the African continent in the global economy, thus unpacking the possible role that South Africa might play in regional development. This volume will be a valuable resource to academics, researchers and students in the fields of regional studies, economics and political theory as well as policymakers, planners and local economic development practitioners.

Geographies of Memory and Postwar Urban Regeneration in British Literature Alina Cojocaru, 2022-05-13 This book proposes a new approach to the literary representations of London by means of correlating geocriticism, spatial literary studies and memory studies in order to investigate the interplay between reality and fiction in mapping the urban imaginary. It conducts an analysis of depictions of London in British literature published between 1975 and 2005, exploring the literary representations of the real urban restructurings prompted by the rebuilding projects in war and poverty-stricken districts of London, the remapping of the metropolis by immigrants, gentrification and the displacement of communities as well as the urban dissolution caused by terrorism. The selected works of fiction written by Peter Ackroyd, Penelope Lively, Zadie Smith, Andrea Levy, J.G. Ballard, Michael Moorcock, Doris Lessing and Ian McEwan provide a record of the city in times of de/reconstruction, emphasizing the structure of London as a palimpsest which becomes a central image. The book contributes to the development of the subject field by introducing a number of original concepts which connect geocriticism and memory studies.
