Poetry Mentor Texts Lynne Dorfman, Rose Cappelli, 2023-10-10 Building on the success of Mentor Texts and Nonfiction Mentor Texts authors Lynne R Dorfman and Rose Cappelli now turn their attention to poetry In Poetry Mentor Texts Lynne and Rose show teachers how to use poems in both reading and writing workshops and across content areas. Written in a friendly conversational tone, this practical book explores a variety of poetic forms including poems that inspire response lists, poems acrostic, poems persona, poems and poems for two voices, versatile forms of poetry that can be used in every grade. Each of these poetic forms has its own chapter featuring five poems with applications for both reading and writing classrooms. Reading connections present skills and strategies to move students forward as readers, helping them to build fluency, vocabulary, comprehension, phonemic awareness, and phonics. Writing connections help students and teachers discover their own voices and grow as poets and wordsmiths as they try out many poetic forms. Poems help students at all grade levels learn to better address complex reading texts, offering them a chance to dig deeper and use higher order thinking skills. Additionally, Your Turn writing lessons provide a scaffold for seamlessly moving from modeling to the shared or guided experience and the transfer to independent work. The Treasure Chest offers a brief annotation of the poems discussed in each chapter as well as companion pieces that extend and enhance the work of the reading and writing classroom. Poetry Mentor Texts helps teachers across the curriculum guide their students to become not only skilled readers and writers but also more empathetic human beings.

Poetry Aloud Here! Sylvia M. Vardell, 2006-02-20. From choosing a poem and developing presentations that will keep the audience captivated to using promotional displays and materials, Poetry Aloud Here takes the reader through all the steps of introducing poetry for children.

Teaching Poetry in the Primary Classroom Gervase Phinn, 2009-01-05. When asked by the school inspector what he thought of poetry, an eleven year old replied that it is all la dida and daffodils isn't it. In his primary school, the boy had come across very little poetry apart from nursery rhymes, snatches of rhyming verse and a few comic pieces and nonsense poems. Poetry to him was something arcane, not really related to his own life. He had studied no powerful, challenging, contemplative, arresting, quirky poems and had written very few poems himself. His teacher admitted that he was no English specialist, had received few ideas at college on the teaching of poetry and didn't really know where to start. As children progress through the primary school, they need to be exposed to a rich diet of poetry and encouraged to read, perform, and write it themselves. Providing a varied and stimulating environment is essential if it is to flourish. In addition, children need specific guidance and ideas to start them off writing their own poems. This book, written by a former teacher and school inspector and popular and widely published children's poet, offers an accessible, practical, and structured programme for the teaching of this sometimes neglected aspect of the English curriculum.

Reading for Real Kathy Collins, 2008. Just as adults join clubs to share and talk about common interests, reading clubs allow kids to immerse themselves in topics and ideas they care about, whether it's turtles, fairy tales, a beloved author, a favorite new series, or the desire to get better at reading aloud to a baby brother or sister. While they are reading and talking about their interests and passions, students in reading clubs are also orchestrating all of the reading skills and strategies they've learned and applying them in real life ways. While Kathy presents ideas for implementing reading clubs during reading workshop in a balanced literacy framework the information she provides will be helpful for any teacher who wants to foster the joy of reading by offering students support and opportunities to read for authentic purposes and to have conversations about topics that interest and engage them After all we don't just want kids to learn to read we want them to love to read
