Third Series* Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1970 Florida School Bulletin ,1963 Citizenship Curriculum in Asia and the Pacific David L. Grossman,Wing On Lee,Kerry J. Kennedy,2008-08-31 Based on case studies of 11 societies in the world s most dynamic region this book signals a new direction of study at the intersection of citizenship education and the curriculum Following their successful volume Citizenship Education in Asia and the Pacific Concepts and Issues published as No 14 in this series the editors widely regarded as leaders in the field in the Asia Pacific region have gone beyond broad citizenship education frameworks to examine the realities tensions and pressures that influence the formation of the citizenship curriculum Chapter authors from different societies have addressed two fundamental questions 1 how is citizenship education featured in the current curriculum reform agenda in terms of both policy contexts and values and 2 to what extent do the reforms in citizenship education reflect current debates within the society From comparative analysis of these 11 case studies the editors have found a complex picture of curriculum reform that indicates deep tensions between global and local agendas On one hand there is substantial evidence of an increasingly common policy rhetoric in the debates about citizenship education On the other it is evident that this discourse does not necessarily extend to citizenship curriculum which in most places continues to be constructed according to distinctive social political and cultural contexts Whether the focus is on Islamic values in Pakistan an emerging discourse about Chinese democracy a nostalgic conservatism in Australia or a continuing nation building project in Malaysia the cases show that distinctive social values and ideologies construct national citizenship curricula in Asian contexts even in this increasingly globalized era This impressive collection of case studies of a diverse group of societies informs and enriches understanding of the complex relationship between citizenship education and the curriculum both regionally and globally      The United States Catalog Mary Burnham, Carol Hurd, 1928      Encyclopedia of Sports Management and Marketing Linda E. Division of Vocational Education, 1947      Equality of Educational Opportunity and Knowledgeable Human Capital Erwin V. Johanningmeier, 2009-10-01 This work explores how the generally accepted definition or measure of equality of educational opportunity at the beginning of the twenty first century differs from what it was in the immediate postwar era While there have been differing definitions or measures of equality of educational opportunity there has been a continual call from education critics and education reformers for more and better mathematics science and foreign language in the nation s schools This work maintains that public education acquired significance as a vital part of a national agenda in conjunction with three developments First the prosperity of the United States after World War II contributed to a consumer dominated culture and the phenomenon of the citizenconsumer The nation had to expand educational opportunities in response to the increased birth rate in the postwar years and in response to the increased qualifications that the workplace required for entry and employment Significantly the nation had the resources to send its children and youth to school for longer and longer periods of time Better educated citizens soon took better jobs and they spent paychecks buying everything from new technologies to new and bigger houses and new and bigger cars Increased household income allowed young members of the family to attend and even complete high school and increased the chance of affording the cost of attending college Second by the end of World War II the globalization of the international community was underway and the United States position and role in the international community were clearly challenged by the Soviet Union As the United States found itself in the Cold War its national security required an ideological a military and a technological strategy Each of these strategies ultimately depended on higher or post secondary education and that had lasting implications for the nation s elementary and secondary schools The nation s engagement in the Cold War required well educated professionals to secure intelligence and to develop effective propaganda That engagement also required scientists mathematicians engineers to develop and to maintain the technology the nation required for its defense and subsequently for the space race with the Soviet Union Third and perhaps most importantly it was becoming increasingly clear in the Cold War Era that the nation would have to address its long history of denying civil rights to some of its citizens especially but not exclusively African Americans As the Supreme Court s 1954 Brown decision signified public education was the initial venue where the struggle for racial equality took place

The Publishers Weekly ,1912      Developing a Curriculum Model for Civically Engaged Art Education Sara Scott

Shields,Rachel Fendler,2023-07-31 This volume explores art as a means of engendering youth civic engagement and draws on research conducted with young people in the United States to develop a unique curriculum model for civically engaged art education CEAE Combining concepts from civics and arts education chapters posit that artistic thinking making and acting form the basis for creative research into social and political issues which affect young people and are key to promoting civic participation Focusing on critical creative and dynamic forms of youth cultural production inspired by local people places and events the text demonstrates how educators curricular choices can engage students in researching social movements and arts based activism The authors draw from well established areas such as arts based research civic engagement and maker centered learning to present their educational model through illustrative examples Offering a timely consideration of the relationship between art education and civics education this book will appeal to scholars and students of the sociology of education as well as arts and teacher research and pre service teacher education
