Received by Christ Celine S. Yeung, 2023-07-21 Huldrych Zwingli had an idea To the shock of both Rome and fellow Protestant Martin Luther he argued that Christ is not physically present in the Lord's Supper Rather the Eucharistic elements only represent Christ's body and blood However the unique basis undergirding his theory is often overlooked both by his contemporaries and later commentators He specifically understood the Lord's Supper to be patterned after the Passover meal the meal of the Old Testament His memorialist understanding was in fact based on the memorialist nature of the Passover By bringing in Jewish scriptures to bear on our understanding of the Lord's Supper his approach unlocks new questions that do not necessarily presuppose Greek metaphysics or a break from traditions This work seeks to continue to develop the method Zwingli left behind delineating a Eucharistic theology for the church today one that gives careful consideration to God's actions in relation to Israel and therefore sees the meal not metaphysically but historically and relationally

The Oxford Handbook of Early Christian Ritual Rikard Roitto, 2018-10-31 Scholars of religion have long assumed that ritual and belief constitute the fundamental building blocks of religious traditions and that these two components of religion are interrelated and interdependent in significant ways Generations of New Testament and Early Christian scholars have produced detailed analyses of the belief systems of nascent Christian communities including their ideological and political dimensions but have by and large ignored ritual as an important element of early Christian religion and as a factor contributing to the rise and the organization of the movement In recent years however scholars of early Christianity have begun to use ritual as an analytical tool for describing and explaining Christian origins and the early history of the movement Such a development has created a momentum toward producing a more comprehensive volume on the ritual world of Early Christianity employing advances made in the field of

Communal Reading in the Time of Jesus Brian J. Wright, 2017-12-01 Much of the contemporary discussion of the Jesus tradition has focused on aspects of oral performance storytelling and social memory on the premise that the practice of communal reading of written texts was a phenomenon documented no earlier than the second century CE Brian J Wright overturns the premise that communal reading of written texts was a phenomenon documented no earlier than the second century CE by examining evidence for its practice in the first century

Neither Jew nor Greek? Judith Lieu, 2015-11-19 A ground breaking study in the formation of early Christian identity by one of the world's leading scholars In Neither Jew Nor Greek Judith Lieu explores the formation and shaping of early Christian identity within Judaism and within the wider Graeco Roman world in the period before 200 C E Lieu particularly examines the way that literary texts presented early Christianity She combines this with interdisciplinary historical investigation and interaction with scholarship on Judaism in late Antiquity and on the Graeco Roman world The result is a highly significant contribution to four of the key questions in current New Testament scholarship how did early Christian identity come to be formed How should we best describe and understand the processes by which the Christian movement became separate from its Jewish origins Was there anything special or different about the way women entered Judaism and early Christianity How did martyrdom contribute to the construction of early Christian identity The chapters in this volume have become classics in the study of the New Testament and for this Cornerstones edition Lieu provides a new introduction placing them within the academic debate as it is now

The Lost Supper Matthew Colvin, 2019-07-27 What did Jesus intend when he spoke the words This is my body The Lost Supper argues that Jesus words and actions at the Last Supper presupposed an already existing Passover ritual in which the messiah was represented by a piece of bread Jesus was not instituting new symbolism but using an existing symbol to speak about himself Drawing on both second temple and early Rabbinic sources Matthew Colvin places Jesus words in the Upper Room within the context of historically attested Jewish thought about Passover The result is a new perspective on the Eucharist a credible first century Jewish way of thinking about the Last Supper and Lord's Supper and a sacramentology that is also at work in the letters of the apostle Paul Such a perspective gives us the historical standpoint to correct Christian assumptions past and present about how the Eucharist works and how we ought to celebrate it
