Measuring Up Advances In How We Assess Reading Ability:

Measuring Up John Sabatini,Elizabeth Albro,Tenaha O'Reilly,2012-06-07 In recent decades the science of reading acquisition has been advancing through interdisciplinary research in cognitive psycholinguistic developmental genetic neuroscience cross language and experimental comparison studies of effective instruction Some of the science of reading has emerged from the theory and research into the realm of practice and policy Yet the science and practice of measuring reading comprehension has remained relatively immune to much of this foundational knowledge Measuring Up questions the traditional format of reading comprehension tests typically a single series of questions asked about a series of passages and offers ideas and innovations we might expect in a next generation of 21st century reading assessments Sabatini Albro and O Reilly believe that in light of the move towards Common Core State Standards and assessments as well as significant national investments in reading and literacy education it is a critical and opportune time to bring together the research and measurement community to address fundamental issues of measuring reading comprehension both in theory and in practice

Handbook of Research on Reading Comprehension, Second Edition Susan E. Israel,2017-01-02 This edition provides a transformative snapshot of reading comprehension as a field of study at a seminal moment It maintains the same high level of standards with respect to 1 historical perspectives useful for laying the foundation of study on reading comprehension 2 theoretical perspectives that allow the reader to consider different views on how specific areas have evolved since the first edition 3 excellent chapters on various elements of reading comprehension including major research studies in assessment cultural impacts of reading comprehension issues affecting English language learners and consideration of international populations and 4 identification of future research needs to help raise important questions and stimulate possible hypotheses for future research   Sublating Second Language Research and Practices Manfred Man-fat Wu,2023-07-31 Wu s book provides an innovative perspective on and recommendations for the major aspects of second language L2 teaching from a

Hegelian anthro philosophical perspective Language is social in nature and is related to the larger social milieu Hegelian philosophy of language complements existing research and theories on L2 learning by not only equipping them with a systematic framework but also broadening their scope In Hegelian philosophy language not only has its individual and interpersonal dimensions but is also related to the community society and morality The Hegelian perspective also suggests a number of functions of L2 which have either been neglected or rejected by L2 researchers This book highlights these neglected elements such as intersubjectivity mutual recognition universalization and objectivization of inner subjectivity of individuals as well as moral enhancement These concepts generate insights on the teaching and learning of L2 Wu s volume also covers how the Hegelian anthro philosophical perspective can help to re interpret research results on L2 learner characteristics that are related to L2 learning to date such as L2 identity and autonomy The book offers an alternative research paradigm teaching philosophy pedagogical implications and suggestions for scholars practitioners and students in the professional field of L2 teaching The Reading Mind Daniel T.
