My Name Is Salma , 2008 When Salma becomes pregnant before marriage in her small village in the Levant her innocent days playing the pipe for her goats are gone for ever She is swept into prison for her own protection To the sound of her screams her newborn baby daughter is snatched away In the middle of the most English of towns Exeter she learns good manners from her landlady and settles down with an Englishman But deep in her heart the cries of her baby daughter still echo When she can bear them no longer she goes back to her village to find her It is a journey that will change everything and nothing Slipping back and forth between the olive groves of the Levant and the rain slicked pavements of Exeter My Name is Salma is a searing portrayal of a woman's courage in the face of insurmountable odds Islamic Postcolonialism Hasan Majed, 2015-09-18 Islamic postcolonialism is a theoretical perspective that combines two components which have up until now existed in a state of tension As a secular theory postcolonialism has notably failed to account for Muslim priorities it has for instance had severe problems critiquing the anti Islam polemics of The Satanic Verses as is evidenced by Edward Said's support for Rushdie in spite of his criticism of the stereotypical representation of Islam and Muslims in the West Islamic postcolonialism applies the anti colonial resistant methodology of postcolonialism from a Muslim perspective exploring the continuance of colonial discourse in part of the contemporary western writing about Islam and Muslims This book explores how Islam is depicted and Muslim identities are constructed in four representative works of contemporary British fiction Hanif Kureishi's The Black Album 1995 Monica Ali's Brick Lane 2003 Fadia Faqir's My Name is Salma 2007 and Leila Aboulela's Minaret 2005 Salman Rushdie's The Satanic Verses 1988 is also discussed in terms of its crucial role in fostering what some Muslims might consider polemical and stereotypical positions in writing about Islam

Adventuring in the Englishes Ikram Ahmed Ibrahim Elsherif, Piers Michael Smith, 2014-10-16 This book is a compilation of articles dealing with linguistic and literary concerns relating to the global production and consumption of literature in English and global instruction and education in the English language The umbrella theme of the book is English Language and Literature in a Globalized World or The Global Appropriation and hybridization of English The contributing authors are international scholars and creative writers from different parts of the world who offer unique perspectives on the ways in which the English language and English literature are constantly developing and changing in a postcolonial global world They are mostly professors of English who have cross cultural teaching experiences and who live or have lived and worked in both Anglophone and non Anglophone countries To many of them English is their dominant language but not the mother tongue All of them are bilingual or even trilingual Thus their scholarly investigations are flavoured with their personal experiences or adventures with the language and its users Their unique visions reveal a process of adoption adaptation reinvention and appropriation of both the language and its literature in a multi national multi cultural and multi lingual community of a world where English has become the most recognizable sign of globalization This book will appeal to all scholars and practitioners of English language and literature particularly those interested in colonial and postcolonial studies modern and post modern studies ethnic and minority studies feminist studies cross cultural studies linguistics semantics ESP and curriculum development From Compositors to Collectors John Hinks, Matthew Day, 2012 The essays in this collection trace texts from their creation and printing through to their publication dissemination and collection In doing so they show how production processes change texts and how collectors subsequently appropriate them for their own ends By examining the diverse activities of those involved in both textual creation and collection over a long period these essays highlight both continuities and changes in the book trade Taken together this collection offers considerable new insights into many facets of the book trade ranging from creation to consumption This newest addition to the Print Networks series includes nineteen essays from leading book history scholars including Mariko Nagase Daniel Cook Stephen Brown Brian Hillyard Catherine Delafield Rob Allen Rachel Bower Iain Beavan and more The composers section covers everything from The Mayor of Quinborough published in 1661 to My Name is Salma published in 2007 Essays on collectors include Dr James Fraser Titus Wheatcroft Sir Walter Scott the USA Armed Services and more The book is illustrated throughout in black and white Available in the UK from The British Library

Translating Dissent Mona Baker, 2015-10-30 Written by the winners of the Intraneu Linguists of the Year award for 2016 Discursive and non discursive interventions in the political arena are heavily mediated by various acts of translation that enable protest movements to connect across the globe Focusing on the Egyptian experience since 2011 this volume brings together a unique group of activists who are able to reflect on the complexities challenges and limitations of one or more forms of translation and its impact on their ability to interact with a variety of domestic and global audiences Drawing on a wide range of genres and modalities from documentary film and subtitling to oral narratives webcomics and street art the 18 essays reveal the dynamics and complexities of translation in protest movements across the world Each unique contribution demonstrates some aspect of the interdependence of these movements and their inevitable reliance on translation to create networks of solidarity The volume is framed by a substantial introduction by Mona Baker and includes an interview with Egyptian activist and film maker Philip Rizk With contributions by scholars and artists professionals and activists directly involved in the Egyptian revolution and other movements Translating Dissent will be of interest to students of translation intercultural studies and sociology as well as the reader interested in the study of social and political movements Online materials including links to relevant websites and videos are available at <http://www.routledge.com/cw/baker> Additional resources for Translation and Interpreting Studies are available on the Routledge Translation Studies Portal <http://cw.routledge.com/textbooks/translationstudies>

Community Boundaries and Border Crossings Kristen Lillvis, Robert Miltner, Molly Fuller, 2016-12-21 Globalization and transnationalism have reshaped our communities and their borderlines Communities exceed fixed boundaries existing instead in the liminal spaces where narratives intersect clash or cooperate These liminal spaces physical and virtual local and global provide opportunities for diversifying discussions on diaspora cultural hybridity and ethnic identity Ethnic women writers make significant contributions to this dialogue regarding the reconfiguration of people and their perimeters A multigenre and multicultural text Community Boundaries and Border Crossings explores the novels short stories essays autobiographies testimonios plays poems and hybrid poetics of established and emerging ethnic women writers This collection of critical essays highlights the new zones of cultural contact and exchange that are defining the twenty first century Each chapter reflects an awareness of cultural changes and challenges engaging readers in a richly productive conversation concerning the interconnectedness of border crossings and community boundaries

Transformations of the Liminal Self Alaa Alghamdi, 2011-08-18 The concept of home has been changing for more than a century This change began with colonialism and the movement of people across the globe often within a set power dynamic Since people now move with greater frequency the question of where home is and what home means is more relevant than ever before Meticulously researched Transformations of the Liminal Self addresses the formation of home and identity and the ways in which the latter depends on the former Using the postcolonial Muslim characters in the literary works of British authors Salman Rushdie Hanif Kureishi Zadie Smith Monica Ali and Fadia Faqir author Alaa Alghamdi shows how home and identity are profoundly impacted by the power dynamics of the colonial relationship the individual immigrants experience and the subjects multicultural setting Drawing upon the theoretical work of Homi Bhabha Rosemary Marangoly George Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak and Edward Said the conception of home and the formation of hybrid identities is examined and connected to larger cultural manifestations of Muslim-Western relationships More specifically Alghamdi explores how these characters define their home Bold and challenging Alghamdi's work offers a rigorous and well articulated contribution to the ongoing academic conversation about identity and postcolonial literature

The Frightened Ones

Dima Wannous, 2020-08-25 Finalist for the 2018 International Prize for Arabic Fiction A timely and haunting novel from an exciting new voice in international literature set in present day Syria In her therapist's waiting room in Damascus Suleima meets a strange and reticent man named Naseem and they soon begin a tense affair But when Naseem a writer flees Syria for Germany he sends Suleima the unfinished manuscript of his novel To Suleima's surprise she and the novel's protagonist are uncannily similar As she reads Suleima's past overwhelms her and she has no idea what to trust Naseem's pages her own memory or nothing at all Narrated in alternating chapters by Suleima and the mysterious woman portrayed in Naseem's novel The Frightened Ones is a boundary blurring radical examination of the effects of oppression on one's sense of identity the effects of collective trauma and a moving window into life inside Assad's Syria

The Voices of War Heroines: Sexual Violence, Testimony, and the Bangladesh Liberation War Fayeza Hasanat, 2022-02-14

Examining the experiences of the wartime rape survivors of Bangladesh from the perspective of social theory of trauma this book reads the testimonies of war heroines as documented by Neelima Ibrahim 1921 2002 and argues that even though their trauma was not represented in a manner to invoke collective recognition and proper commemoration these women defied to be branded as victims They fought back to regain their lost honor and managed to cope with trauma and in the process learned to stand up as brave heroes resisting all odds With this book I am honoring my debt to the women warriors who wrote and rode a nation's trauma in through their bodies Book Boyfriend Lucy Vine,2025-06-19 Book Boyfriend is Lucy Vine at the absolute top of her game MIKE GAYLE A proper love letter to love stories and the people who read them DAISY BUCHANAN From belly laughs to heartfelt emotion this book is absolute peak romcom LINDSEY KELK Jemma has lived a thousand lives through books The only life she isn't living is her own That is until the day she finds a note from a stranger in her favourite library book When she replies the pair begin a longhand conversation about their love of novels that sees Jemma finally coming out of her shell Is she ready to fall in love for the first time with someone she's never met Clara has always run away from her problems but this might finally be one she can't escape Everyone wants to know what happened to Clara in America but Clara isn't talking Instead she's focusing all her energy obsessing over a hot new actor starring in the TV adaptation of her twin Jemma's favourite book Soon Clara is reading every interview trawling his social media and following him to showbiz parties in the hopes he'll notice she's The One As the sisters fall hard for two men they've never met it's time to ask the question Can either relationship survive the real world The Hurricane Blonde Halley Sutton,2023-08-08 AN INSTANT USA TODAY BESTSELLER A murder mystery that feels as magnetic timeless and inextricable from Hollywood legend as the Black Dahlia There's no one better at writing the dark side of Hollywood than Halley Sutton Ashley Winstead author of In My Dreams I Hold a Knife Salma Lowe progeny of Hollywood royalty and a once promising child actor spends her days as a guide for the Stars Six Feet Under tour leading tourists through Los Angeles's star-studded avenues to sites where actresses of the past met untimely ends Salma knows better than anyone that a tragic death is the surest path to stardom Her sister Tawney viciously dubbed the Hurricane Blonde was murdered in the nineties the case never solved and to Salma's ire indefinitely closed until Salma stumbles upon a dead body mid tour on the property where her sister once lived at the precise scene of her sister's demise Even more uncanny the deceased woman also looks like Tawney The police are convinced this woman's death was an accident but Salma is haunted by the investigation's echoes of her own past What if this woman's murder points to Tawney's killer Launching her own investigation Salma plunges back into the salacious but seductive world of Hollywood And what she'll find is that old secrets may just be worth killing for Pan Michael (Pan Volodiyovski) Henryk Sienkiewicz,1898
