Hong Cheng Pu-Chin Hsueh Waide,2015-08-27 Hong Cheng Memoirs of a Turbulent Life through Sunlight tinted Red Earth Storm is a compilation of memories of Hsueh Chi Pei translated from his Chinese brushstrokes or told to me when he was over eighty years old He begins his story from the place of his birth in a tiny village Dawu at the border of Sichuan China and Kham Tibet through primary and middle school in KhangDing and ChengDu to the war and political colleges in Nanking and eventually to Chungking and World War II and the Japanese invasion of China It tells of his early years his stern father who was almost never at home because of his job as protectorate of the far western and southern regions of the realm his encounters with the local Tibetans boys who were always at odds with the Han boys and his meetings with several holy lamas and monks With his fathers insistence he was one of the first Chinese boys at the age of seven to start English lessons which served him well in his later years With his unusual curly hair and quick wit he was a very popular little figure in his village He spoke about his work in the Opium Detox Center where he met his wife and how he accompanied her to meet her family and were caught in the line of refugees escaping from the Japanese All in all the book describes what the title tried to describe a life full of change and strife but with glints of sunshine and humor I have kept the title of this book as close a translation to Hong Cheng as possible It is a very personal narration and I have tried to keep the words as close to his way of speaking He deliberately refused to get into the political climate of the times except for a few remarks and observations here and there because it was simply too painful for him to relive those conditions So I let be at that He was not very specific about dates and spoke almost like a stream of consciousness and as he narrated we wept and I transcribed Occasionally we had to consult a Chinese English dictionary when I could not find the word or meaning he was trying to express to Maryland but he had a serious drinking problem and he committed suicide She then married our third father and we moved to Florida where he too became abusive When our grandmother died we moved back to Maryland My third stepfather continually beat me It became so bad I had to live in the woods in the winter and eat out of trash cans After I got a job my mother took most of my paycheck for her husband s drinking and gambling money This story of extreme child abuse promises to take you on a journey through the eyes of a child as the victim to the young adult as the survivor My sole purpose and motivation is to help child abuse victims and help those more fortunate to understand the victims First time author George Colby Hoffman now lives in Florida His next book is titled From Exercise to Competitive Bodybuilding for the over 50 Publisher s website <http://sbpra.com/GeorgeColbyHoffman>
