Qualitative Research Design and Methods Kathleen deMarrais,Kathryn Roulston,Janie Copple,2024-01-08 Written by scholars from three generations of qualitative methodologists Qualitative Research Design and Methods An Introduction situates qualitative research within the history of the field and integrates this history within discussions of specific research designs This novel approach allows readers to come to know the genealogy of the field and how previous generations of scholars have informed what we know today as qualitative research The text reflects these more traditional as well as emerging qualitative research approaches providing a theoretically grounded approach to designing and implementing qualitative research studies While some introductory research texts focus on the specific methods of qualitative research with little attention to the role of theory this book forefronts theory in qualitative research The authors speak to students new to qualitative research with clear discussions of theory and theoretical concepts and how those notions must be considered throughout all aspects of research design implementation and representation of findings Each chapter integrates discussion of theory In addition the book highlights

the role of ethics in the same way with a chapter at the beginning as well as discussions of ethics threaded throughout each of the design chapters Qualitative Research Design and Methods is THE introductory textbook for students taking introductory masters and doctoral courses in qualitative research Instructors in those classes will appreciate the straightforward language and concepts provided by the authors Perfect for courses such as Introduction to Qualitative Research and Qualitative Research Design

Mission Investing Tizian M. A. Fritz, 2024-02-16 This thesis examines the concept of mission investing MI and thus the role the mission of nonprofit organizations NPO plays when fungible financial assets are invested In contrast to the traditional separation of programming and investment policies MI stands for the explicit inclusion of the organization's mission into financial decisionmaking Although initially developed in the context of grantmaking foundations the concept of MI can be applied to any NPO with fungible assets NPO as mission driven organizations differ substantially from regular for profit companies in the way they evaluate organizational performance Therefore questions regarding the assessment of desirability and the evaluation of investment opportunities arise This thesis consists of four articles which all answer a different sub question regarding the concept and logic of MI and thus adds to a more profound understanding of nonprofit investment management and complements existing theoretical analyses with empirical findings on value based portfolio selection In their exploratory approach these four essays contribute to a holistic understanding of how investment decisions within a mission oriented organization should be planned and evaluated independent of their social or financial nature In applying a logic framework approach it is shown that the strict separation of social such as grants and financial investments within NPO leads to a misallocation of scarce resources Only by judging both types of investments based on their combined ultimate mission related impact an optimal allocation of the initial inputs can be achieved Thanks to the linkage of both social and financial investments the evaluation of investments within NPO is not about either financial return or impact only but everything in between i.e. hybrid investments such as venture philanthropy or impact investments Further this thesis also bridges linguistic gaps between nonprofit research and finance and supplies practitioners with insights on how to structure investment processes in NPO and what effects they may expect from mission based portfolio selection This allows for a more effective allocation of tax exempt funds in terms of achieving higher degrees of mission effectiveness
