have a wife or much business He doesn't really drink either Not yet In each of these ten delicious stories Zane Lovitt presents an intriguing investigation filled with humour and complex beautifully observed characters At their centre is John Dorn solving not so much crimes as funny human puzzles but the crimes and the criminals are forever lurking nearby taunting him from the city's cold underworld It's his job to unravel the mystery or right the wrong or just do what the client has hired him to do Somehow though there is a misstep at every turn and John takes another small stumble towards his moment of personal truth His midnight promise Perhaps even his redemption Zane Lovitt was a documentary filmmaker before turning his hand to crime fiction and his stories have since appeared in Scribe's New Australian Stories 2 and in the Ellery Queen Mystery Magazine Leaving the Fountainhead won the SD Harvey Short Story Award at the 2010 Ned Kelly Awards for Australian crime fiction Zane lives in Melbourne The Midnight Promise delivers Zane Lovitt is a writer to watch Shane Maloney The Midnight Promise crashes straight into Temple Corris and Chandler territory You can recommend The Midnight Promise by the back cover Text has it nailed Australian Bookseller and Publisher What makes Dorn such a compelling narrator is that for all his decrepitude he has a reflective spirit and an insightful eye An often brutal yet brutally reflective examination of the human condition Weekend Australian Lovitt has crafted a notable confident first novel Intelligent never ponderous The Midnight Promise wears the battered fedora of the crime genre with stylish ease and moves at a brisk pace Told with intensity and conviction it offers a refreshing perspective on a well worked genre Australian Book Review The Midnight Promise is the kind of zesty Australian crime writing that doesn't come along often Lovitt's evocation of Melbourne locales has the same recognisability affection and flair for soaking up the stink of a place as Shane Maloney's Murray Whelan books Saturday Age Sydney Morning Herald and Canberra Times Smacking of grit and realism The Midnight Promise is flat out one of the most enjoyable crime books out there Australian noir with a nod to Raymond Carver there's lots of drinking dark streets and wisecracks that you'll grin like mad over Every story is its own little world all completely satisfying but so involving you'll put the book down wishing for more Readings Monthly      The Christian Union ,1878
