Mythical Indies Columbuss Apocalyptic Letter:

Mythical Indies and Columbus's Apocalyptic Letter Elizabeth Moore Willingham, 2015-08-01 With his Letter of 1493 to the court of Spain Christopher Columbus heralded his first voyage to the present day Americas creating visions that seduced the European imagination and birthing a fascination with those new lands and their inhabitants that continues today Columbus's epistolary announcement travelled from country to country in a late medieval media event and the rest as has been observed is history The Letter has long been the object of speculation concerning its authorship and intention British historian Cecil Jane questions whether Columbus could read and write prior to the first voyage while Demetrio Ramos argues that King Ferdinand and a minister composed the Letter and had it printed in the Spanish folio The Letter has figured in studies of Spanish Imperialism and of Discovery and Colonial period history but it also offers insights into Columbus's passions and motives as he reinvents himself and retails his vision of Peter Martyr's Novus orbis to men and women for whom Columbus was as unknown as the places he claimed to have visited The central feature of the book is its annotated variorum edition of the Spanish Letter together with an annotated English translation and word and name glossaries A list of terms from early print period and manuscript cultures supports those critical discussions In the context of her text based reading the author addresses earlier critical perspectives on the Letter explores foundational questions about its composition publication and aims and proposes a theory of authorship grounded in text linguistics discourse and culture

Race and Ethnicity in America Russell M. Lawson, Benjamin A. Lawson, 2019-10-11 Divided into four volumes Race and Ethnicity in America provides a complete overview of the history of racial and ethnic relations in America from pre contact to the present The five hundred years since Europeans made contact with the indigenous peoples of America have been dominated by racial and ethnic tensions During the colonial period from 1500 to 1776 slavery and servitude of whites blacks and Indians formed the foundation for race and ethnic relations After the American Revolution slavery labor inequalities and immigration led to racial and ethnic tensions after the Civil War labor inequalities immigration and the fight for civil rights dominated America's racial and ethnic experience From the 1960s to the present the unfulfilled promise of civil rights for all ethnic and racial groups in America has been the most important sociopolitical issue in America Race and Ethnicity in America tells this story of the fight for equality in America The first volume spans pre contact to the American Revolution the second the American Revolution to the Civil War the third Reconstruction to the Civil Rights Movement and the fourth the Civil Rights Movement to the present All volumes explore the culture society labor war and politics and cultural expressions of racial and ethnic groups

Colonial Revivals Lindsay DiCuirici, 2018-09-10 In the long nineteenth century the specter of lost manuscripts loomed in the imagination of antiquarians historians and writers Whether by war fire neglect or the ravages of time itself the colonial history of the United States was perceived as a vanishing record its archive a hoard of materially unsound temporally fragmented politically fraught and endangered documents Colonial Revivals traces the labors of a nineteenth century cultural network of antiquarians bibliophiles amateur historians and writers as they dug through the nation's attics and private libraries to assemble early American archives The collection of colonial materials they thought themselves to be rescuing from oblivion were often reprinted to stave off future loss and shore up a sense of national permanence Yet this archive proved as disorderly and incongruous as the collection of young states themselves Instead of revealing a shared origin story historical reprints testified to the inveterate regional racial doctrinal and political fault lines in the American historical landscape Even as old books embodied a receding past historical reprints reflected the antebellum period's most pressing ideological crises from religious schisms to sectionalism to territorial expansion Organized around four colonial regional cultures that loomed large in nineteenth century literary history Puritan New England Cavalier Virginia Quaker Pennsylvania and the Spanish Caribbean Colonial Revivals examines the reprinted works that enshrined these historical narratives in American archives and minds for decades to come Revived through reprinting the obscure texts of colonial history became new again deployed as harbingers models reminders and warnings to a nineteenth century readership increasingly fixated on the uncertain future of the nation and its material past

We the People Benjamin Railton, 2019-07-31 We the People The Constitution begins with those deceptively simple words but how do Americans define that We In We the People Ben Railton argues that throughout our history two competing yet interconnected concepts have battled to define our national identity and community exclusionary and inclusive visions of who gets to be an American From the earliest moments of European contact with indigenous peoples through the Revolutionary period's debates on African American slavery 19th century conflicts over Indian Removal Mexican landowners and Chinese immigrants 20th century controversies around Filipino Americans and Japanese internment and 21st century fears of Muslim Americans time and again this defining battle has shaped our society and culture Carefully exploring and critically examining those histories and the key stories and figures they feature is vital to understanding America and to making sense of the Trump era when the battle over who is an American can be found in every significant debate and moment

1500 Alida C. Metcalf, 2020-10-13 How did intricately detailed sixteenth century maps reveal the start of the Atlantic World Beginning around 1500 in the decades following Columbus's voyages the Atlantic Ocean moved from the periphery to the center on European world maps This brief but highly significant moment in early modern European history marks not only a paradigm shift in how the world was mapped but also the opening of what historians call the Atlantic World But how did sixteenth century chartmakers and mapmakers begin to conceptualize and present to the public an interconnected Atlantic World that was open and navigable in comparison to the mysterious ocean that had blocked off the Western hemisphere before Columbus's exploration In Mapping an Atlantic World circa 1500 Alida C Metcalf argues that the earliest surviving maps from this era which depict trade colonization evangelism and the movement of peoples reveal powerful and persuasive arguments about the possibility of an interconnected Atlantic World Blending scholarship from two fields historical cartography and Atlantic history Metcalf explains why Renaissance cosmographers first incorporated sailing charts into their maps and began to reject classical models for mapping the world Combined with the new placement of the Atlantic the visual imagery on Atlantic maps which featured decorative compass roses animals landscapes and native peoples communicated the accessibility of distant places with valuable commodities Even though individual maps became outdated quickly Metcalf reveals new mapmakers copied their imagery which then repeated on map after map Individual maps might fall out of date be lost discarded or forgotten but their geographic and visual design promoted a new way of seeing the world with an interconnected Atlantic World at its center Describing the negotiation that took place between a small cadre of explorers and a wider class of cartographers chartmakers cosmographers and artists Metcalf shows how exploration informed mapmaking and vice versa Recognizing early modern cartographers as significant agents in the intellectual history of the Atlantic Mapping an Atlantic World circa 1500 includes around 50 beautiful and illuminating historical maps

Religion and the Medieval and Early Modern Global Marketplace Scott Oldenburg, Kristin M. S. Bezio, 2021-10-28 Religion and the Medieval and Early Modern Global Marketplace brings together scholars from a variety of disciplines to examine the intersection conflict and confluence of religion and the market before 1700 Each chapter analyzes the unique interplay of faith and economy in a different locale Syria Ethiopia France Iceland India Peru and beyond In ten case studies specialists of archaeology art history social and economic history religious studies and critical theory address issues of secularization tolerance colonialism and race with a fresh focus They chart the tensions between religious and economic thought in specific locales or texts the complex ways that religion and economy interacted with one another and the way in which matters of faith economy and race converge in religious images of the pre and early modern periods Considering the intersection of faith and economy the volume questions the legacy of early modern economic and spiritual exceptionalism and the ways in which prosperity still entangles itself with righteousness The interdisciplinary nature means that this volume is the perfect resource for advanced undergraduates postgraduates and scholars working across multiple areas including history literature politics art history global studies philosophy and gender studies in the medieval and early modern periods The Oxford Handbook of Religion and Education Liam Francis Gearon,Arniika Kuusisto,2025-04-29 The Oxford Handbook of Religion and Education offers a multi disciplinary work of scholarship and research highlighting the global significance of a critical interface of cultural and social political and theological importance Drawing on historical perspective and contemporary reflection the collection provides a uniquely transformative analysis of why the interface of religion and education is of such critical significance With contributions from some of the leading thinkers in the field this Handbook presents a cumulatively powerful argument to reassess the complexities of the intersection of religion and education With ambitious and yet accessible intellectual engagements the Handbook here furthers a central thesis that the interface of religion and education is not merely a matter of arcane disputation about a domain of ancient origin or a rudimentary matter of formal educational process but a vibrant domain of critical contestation fundamental to knowing understanding and living in the modern world

Cultural Genealogy Raphael Falco, 2016-10-26 Cultural Genealogy explores the popularization in the Renaissance of the still pervasive myth that later cultures are the hereditary descendants of ancient or older cultures The core of this myth is the widespread belief that a numinous charismatic power can be passed down unchanged and in concrete forms from earlier eras Raphael Falco shows that such a process of descent is an impossible illusion in a knowledge based culture Anachronistic adoption of past values can only occur when these values are adapted and assimilated to the target culture Without such transcultural adaptation ancient values would appear as alien artifacts rather than as eternal truths Scholars have long acknowledged the Renaissance borrowings from classical antiquity but most studies of translatio studii or translatio imperii tacitly accept the early modern myth that there was a genuine translation of Greek and Roman cultural values from the ancient world to the modern But as Falco demonstrates this is patently not the case The mastering of ancient languages and the rediscovery of lost texts has masked the fact that surprisingly little of ancient religious ethical or political ideology was retained so little that it is crucial to ask why these myths of transcultural descent have not been recognized and interrogated Through examples ranging from Petrarch to Columbus Maffeo Vegio to the Habsburgs Falco shows how the new technique of systematic genealogy facilitated the process of remythologizing the ancient authorities utterly transforming Greek and Roman values and reforging them into the mold of contemporary needs Chiefly a study of intellectual culture Cultural Genealogy has ramifications reaching into all levels of society both early modern and later

Imagining the World O. R. Dathorne, 1994-03-23 This is a study of the manner in which certain mythical notions of the world become accepted as fact Dathorne shows how particular European concepts such as El Dorado the Fountain of Youth a race of Amazons and monster including cannibal images were first associated with the Orient After the New World encounter they were repositioned to North and South America The book examines the way in which Arabs and Africans are conscripted into the view of the world and takes an unusual non Eurocentric viewpoint of how Africans journeyed to the New World and Europe participating in what may be considered an early stage of world exploration and discovery The study concludes by looking at European travel literature from the early journeys of St Brendan through the Viking voyages and up to Marco Polo and Sir John Mandeville In all these instances the encounters seem to justify mythical belief Dathorne s interest in the subject is both intellectual and passionate since coming from Guyana he was very much part of this malformed Weltschmerz

A Beautiful Ending John Jeffries Martin, 2022-04-19 An award winning historian s revisionary account of the early modern world showing how apocalyptic ideas stimulated political religious and intellectual transformations A masterful synthesis of the prognostications of faith knowledge and politics on a global stage Martin s book illuminates one of the enduring themes that shaped the medieval and early modern world Paula E Findlen Stanford University In this revelatory immersion into the apocalyptic messianic and millenarian ideas and movements that created the modern world John Jeffries Martin performs a kind of empathic time travel entering into the psyche spirituality and temporalities of a cast of historical actors in profound moments of discovery He argues that religious faith Christian Jewish and Muslim did not oppose but rather fostered the making of a modern scientific spirit buoyed along by a providential view of history and nature and a deep conviction in the coming End of the World Through thoughtful attention to the primary sources Martin re reads the Renaissance excavating a religious foundation at the core of even the most radical empirical thinking Familiar icons like Ibn Khald n Columbus Isaac Luria and Francis Bacon emerge startlingly fresh and newly gleaned agents of a history formerly untold and of a modern world made in the image of its imminent end

Century's End Hillel Schwartz, 1996 A Future Shock for the turn of the century Century s End contains a rich trove of facts that will delight readers whose job it is to know what moods will befall us what fears we need to assuage and what ideas will claim our attention and our dollars as we near the beginning of the new millennium

God, the Moon and the Astronaut Jacques Arnould, 2016-12-31 A cloth spread under an apple tree can catch only apples wrote Antoine de Saint Exupery in Terre des hommes Land of Men English title Wind Sand and Stars and a cloth spread under stars can catch only stardust What was most marvellous was that there standing on the planet s rounded back between this magnetic cloth and those stars was a man s consciousness in which that star fall could be reflected as in a mirror And a few pages further on he writes I was but a mere mortal lost between sand and stars aware simply of the sweet pleasure of breathing From the author of those lines to the writer of the first well known verses of the Bible In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth stretch centuries of time and an intellectual and cultural abyss as well What could there be in common between the pilot of the first air route from Toulouse to Dakar and the direct descendants of Semitic nomads Certainly not much but for those star pierced nights that deserts alone can offer for contemplation combined with the tormenting question what a thing is man confronted by the cosmos magnificent and terrible at the same time This question has been haunting humanity from the beginning and gnaws at each of us Who am I Where did I come from Where does my destiny lie To these questions the desert dwellers and the aviator lost like all their brothers in humanity have given the same response Certainly we are mortal beings lost in the middle of the cosmos as in a desert crushed by the weight of reality as by the immense celestial vault And yet we are unique singular irreplaceable we are not less than the consciousness of the world and believers among them will say we are even created in the image of God Is that courage or lack of awareness pretentiousness or faith The Western Christian Advocate ,1906

Theology, Creation, and Environmental Ethics Whitney Bauman, 2009-04-30 Winner of the John Templeton Award for Theological Promise 2009 This book argues that the Christian doctrine of creatio ex nihilo sets up a support system for a logic of domination over others It follows a genealogical method in examining how the concept of creation out of nothing materializes in the world throughout different periods in the history of the Christian West
