observation using corpus linguistics techniques This study analyzes sentence level patterns in student writing to develop an understanding of how students present evidence draw connections between ideas relate to their readers and ultimately learn to construct knowledge in their writing Drawing on both first year and upper level student writing the book examines the discourse of students at different points in their education It also distinguishes between argumentative and analytic essays to explore the way school genres and assignments shape students choices In focusing on sentence level features such as hedges perhaps and boosters definitely this study shows how such rhetorical choices work together to open or close opportunities for thoughtful exchanges of ideas Attention to these features can help instructors foster civil discourse design effective assignments and expose and question norms of higher education Measuring Writing: Recent Insights into Theory, Methodology and Practice Elke van Steendam,Marion Tillema,Gert Rijlaarsdam,Huub van den Bergh,2012-11-20 This volume provides a state of the art overview of theory methodology and practices in the assessment of writing The focus throughout the book is on the construct of writing and its assessment what constitutes writing ability and how can it be defined in various contexts This question cannot be answered without looking into the methodological question of how to validate and measure the construct of writing ability Throughout the book therefore discussions integrate theoretical and methodological issues A number of chapters discusses whether varying definitions and varying operationalizations of writing ability are needed in various contexts such as formative assessments versus summative assessments large scale assessments versus individual assessments different tasks different genres and different languages but also different age groups A range of rating methods is investigated and discussed in this book The ongoing debate on holistic versus analytic ratings and the different underlying conceptions of writing proficiency is a pertinent matter on which a number of chapters in this volume shed new light The matter is discussed and analyzed from various angles such as generalizability of judgements and usability in formative contexts Another fundamental debate concerns computer scoring of written products A nuanced discussion of its validity is presented in this volume Intersubjectivity and Intersubjectification in Grammar and Discourse Lieselotte Brems,Lobke Ghesquière,Freek Van de Velde,2014-08-15 Recent years saw a growing interest in the study of subjectivity as the linguistic expression of speaker involvement Intersubjectivity defined by Traugott as the linguistic expression of a speaker writer s attention to the hearer reader on the other hand has so far received little explicit attention in its own right let alone systematic definition and operationalization Intersubjectivity and seemingly related notions such as interpersonal meaning appraisal stance and metadiscourse frequently appear in cognitive functional accounts as well as historical and more applied approaches These domains offer partly conflicting uses of intersubjectivity differ in the overall scope of the concept and the phenomena it may cover This book brings together contributions from a variety of different approaches with the aim of disentangling the current web of intertwined notions of intersubjectivity Rather than focusing on the potentially conflicting views the volume aspires to resolve some of the conceptual puzzle by cross fertilization between the different views and spark discussion on how to operationalize intersubjectivity in linguistic research Originally published in English Text Construction 5 1 2012 Self- and Other-Reference in Social Contexts Minna Nevala,Minna Palander-Collin,2024-03-15 The chapters in this volume study the construction representation and negotiation of a variety of social roles through self and other reference markers or the discussion of reference as a tool for identification The chapters uncover new insights both from a historical and present day perspective and show how positioning the self and other varies what kind of reference choices language users make and what follows from these choices The data come from a variety of public texts private encounters and questionnaires and the methodologies range from macro to micro perspectives including combinations of qualitative close reading and quantitative corpus methods and synchronic and diachronic perspectives The findings enhance our understanding and use of reference practices in the context of global institutional political and multicultural as well as media texts __Engagement in Professional Genres__ Carmen Sancho Guinda,2019-04-24 Engagement has turned essential in today s communication as professional communities are becoming more specialised and transient and their audiences more diverse Promotionalism and competitiveness in addition increasingly pervade human activity and thus engaging readers listeners and viewers to attract and persuade them is part of the know how of almost every profession The eighteen chapters in this book written by well known discourse analysts from different nationalities and research backgrounds and with various interests and understandings of communicative engagement guide us through a discovery of perspectives and strategies across work settings and practices genres semiotic modes discourses disciplines and theoretical frameworks and methods They build a mosaic that leads to a broad picture of meta discursive engagement as di stance and raises current issues challenges and future research directions Re-Assessing Modalising Expressions Pascal Hohaus,Rainer Schulze,2020-11-15 Mood modality and evidentiality are popular and dynamic areas in linguistics Re Assessing Modalising Expressions Categories co text and context focuses on the specific issue of the ways language users express permission obligation volition intention possibility and ability necessity and prediction linguistically Using a range of evidence and corpus data collected from different sources the authors of this volume examine the distribution and functions of a range of patterns involving modalising expressions as predominantly found in standard American English British English or Hong Kong English but also in Japanese The authors are particularly interested in addressing co textual manifestations of modalising expressions as well as their distribution across different text types and thus filling a gap research was unable to plug in the past Thoughts on categorising or re categorising modalising expressions initiate and complement a multi perspectival enterprise that is intended to bring research in this area a step forward The Rise of Discourse Markers Bernd Heine,Gunther Kaltenböck,Tania Kuteva,Haiping Long,2021-06-24 Discourse markers constitute an important part of linguistic communication and research on this phenomenon has been a thriving field of study over the past three decades However a problem that has plagued this research is that these markers exhibit a number of structural characteristics that are hard to interpret based on existing methodologies such as grammaticalization This study argues that it is possible to explain such characteristics in a meaningful way It presents a cross linguistic survey of the development of discourse markers their important role in communication and their relation to the wider context of sociocultural behaviour with the goal of explaining their similarities and differences across a typologically wide range of languages By giving a clear definition of discourse markers it aims to provide a guide for future research making it essential reading for students and researchers in linguistics and anyone interested in exploring this fascinating linguistic phenomenon   The Grammar of Interactives Bernd Heine,2023-01-16 This book explores a domain of discourse processing referred to as interactive grammar based on an analysis of grammatical descriptions of over 100 languages spoken across the world While much previous work has treated interactive grammar as a fairly marginal part of language Bernd Heine describes it here as a distinct category that contrasts with sentence grammar both in its functions and its structural behavior He identifies ten types of interactives i e extra clausal expressions of linguistic discourse attention signals directives discourse markers evaluatives ideophones interjections response elicitors response signals social formulae and vocatives The analysis reveals that speakers make use of two contrasting modes for structuring their discourses both of which are needed for successful communication one is sentence grammar which has a propositional format and analytic organization the other is interactive grammar which has a holophrastic organization and a focus on social communication While the argument structure of sentence grammar is shaped by the propositional format of sentences that of interactive grammar is shaped by the indexical nature of the situation of discourse This distinction shows interesting correlations both with findings from neurolinguistic studies on differential activity in the two hemispheres of the human brain and with observations from social psychology on the differences between systems of reasoning and judgment   Writing(s) at the Crossroads Georgeta Cislaru,2015-08-05 This volume aims at contributing to an interpretive approach to writing and its dynamics It offers a general scope on the process product interface by multiplying the points of view on both the process and the product and their links The book presents new findings and perspectives in the study of language and writing both theoretical and methodological e g dual process models of writing pragmatics of writing linguistic analysis of psycholinguistic units such as bursts of production It also presents new tools for a longitudinal approach to the writing steps key stroke logging with integrated linguistic modules and textometric analysis of written texts The volume is composed of five sections that highlight different approaches to writing from the viewpoint of multiple disciplines Anthropology Cognitive Psycholinguistics Communication Studies Didactics Applied Linguistics Discourse Analysis Literacy Sociolinguistics and Text Genetics This book will be relevant for scholars and students interested in writing text analysis literacy learning and teaching As of January 2019 this e book is freely available thanks to the support of libraries working with Knowledge Unlatched   Dialogicity in Written Specialised Genres Luz Gil-Salom,Carmen Soler-Monreal,2014-07-15 Dialogicity in Written Specialised Genres analyses how human beings intentionally establish a network of relations that contribute to the construction of discourse in different genres in academic promotional and professional domains in English Spanish and Italian The chapters in the present volume investigate individual voices both those assumed by the writer and those attributed to others and how they act interpersonally and become explicit in the discourse From a number of different research approaches contributing authors focus on various textual components self mention impersonation attribution markers engagement markers attitude markers boosters hedges reporting verbs politeness strategies and citations The collection is unusual in that it addresses these issues not only from the perspective of English but also from that of Spanish and Italian It thus represents a refreshing reassessment of the contrastive dimension in the study of voice and dialogic relations taking into consideration language specialised fields and genre The volume will appeal to researchers interested in language as multidimensional dialogue particularly with regard to different written specialised texts from different linguistic backgrounds Novice writers may also find it of help in order to attain a greater understanding of the dialogic nature of writing
