A close-up photograph of a metal necklace. The necklace features a chain made of small, interlocking metal links. Attached to the chain is a large, circular pendant. The pendant has a textured, metallic surface and a central, elongated, dark-colored opening. Below the circular pendant, there is a series of overlapping, rectangular metal plates that form a fan-like or scale-like structure. The entire piece is resting on a textured, orange-brown surface. The lighting creates soft shadows, highlighting the metallic texture and the intricate design of the jewelry.
