

Metamorphosis Fish Eye

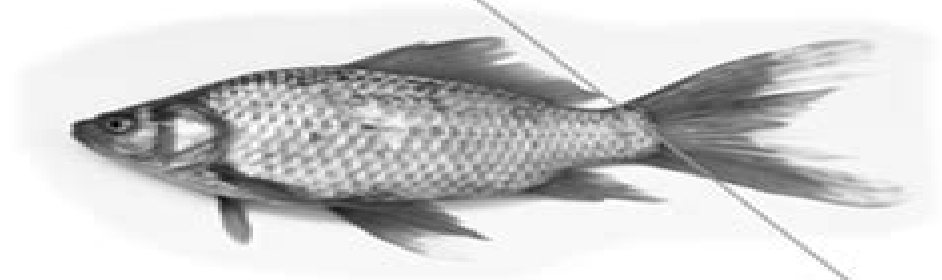

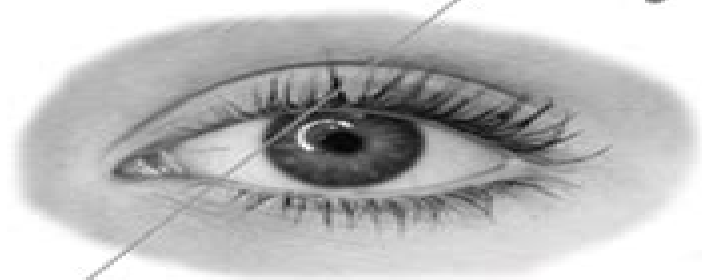

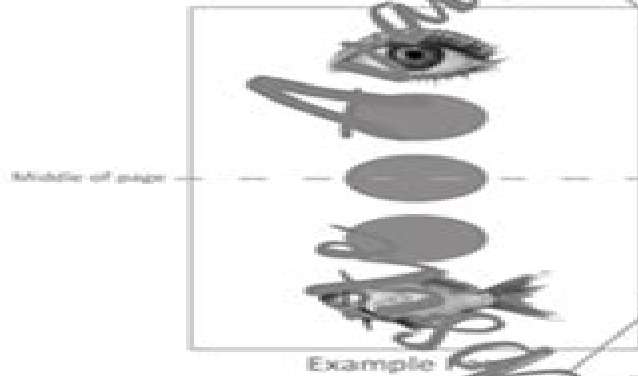

"Metamorphosis Art" is art that sees one object transform into another, either in stages or across an object. This idea comes from science; we know, for example, that a tadpole metamorphoses into a frog. Metamorphosis takes place when a caterpillar turns into a butterfly.

Your task today is to create five drawings that show a eye turning into a fish. The first drawing can be an eye and the last drawing can be a fish! The three drawings in between need to slowly change from the eye to the fish. Aim to make each drawing the same width and height and to include lots of detail and accuracy.

Tips for Success

1. Arrange your drawings like the example page shown here. Lightly sketch some ovals to get things in place.
2. The first drawing will be of an eye. The last drawing a fish. The drawings in between slowly change from an eye to a fish.
3. Use the pictures below as inspiration so that you can include lots of detail in your drawings. Your drawings should include shading.
4. See if you can make the pupil/iris become smaller and move the pupil as it becomes the fish eye!
