Meeting the Challenges to Measurement in an Era of Accountability Henry Braun, 2016-01-29 Under pressure and support from the federal government states have increasingly turned to indicators based on student test scores to evaluate teachers and schools as well as students themselves The focus thus far has been on test scores in those subject areas where there is a sequence of consecutive tests such as in mathematics or English language arts with a focus on grades 4 8 Teachers in these

subject areas however constitute less than thirty percent of the teacher workforce in a district Comparatively little has been written about the measurement of achievement in the other grades and subjects This volume seeks to remedy this imbalance by focusing on the assessment of student achievement in a broad range of grade levels and subject areas with particular attention to their use in the evaluation of teachers and schools in all It addresses traditional end of course tests as well as alternative measures such as portfolios exhibitions and student learning objectives In each case issues related to design and development psychometric considerations and validity challenges are covered from both a generic and a content specific perspective The NCME Applications of Educational Measurement and Assessment series includes edited volumes designed to inform research based applications of educational measurement and assessment Edited by leading experts these books are comprehensive and practical resources on the latest developments in the field The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Dietary Intake and Cardiovascular Risk Factors: Blood pressure correlates William R. Harlan, 1983 Attention is directed towards possible associations between nutritional variables and coronary artery disease risk factors based on data developed during the first US National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey 1971-75 Relative body weight weight height squared was determined to be an important predictor of serum cholesterol and urate levels and of blood pressure levels in US adults This predictor together with age and sex accounted for most of the explained variance Dietary variables based on results from 24 hours recall or on a food frequency questionnaire did not influence serum cholesterol or urate levels Alcohol intakes however correlated directly with serum urate level Serum Ca and Mg levels and serum glutamic oxalacetic transaminase were found to be directly and independently related to serum cholesterol and urate which were also related to each other Other positive and negative influences on serum cholesterol and urate levels are discussed Summarized data concerning this study are provided The NAEP Guide, 1999 Research Design in Clinical Psychology Alan E.
