

A painting of a couple embracing by a body of water under a tree. The man is seen from the back, wearing a dark shirt, and the woman is in a dark dress. They are standing on a small patch of land with some grass. The background is a soft, hazy landscape with a body of water and a distant shoreline. The sky is a mix of light and dark tones, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall mood is romantic and contemplative.

Rhymes with Fighter Joseph Weber, 2021-12 From a hardscrabble childhood in the Great Depression on the dusty plains of rural Nebraska Clayton Yeutter 1930 2017 rose to work for four U S presidents serving in the cabinets of two of them His challenge posed by one of President Ronald Reagan s aides was this go and change the world As U S trade representative he did just that opening the global trading arena with bold efforts that led to NAFTA the creation of the World Trade Organization and extraordinary growth in cross border business Today s global trading regime began with Yeutter A distinguished lawyer with a doctorate in economics Yeutter also had deep business experience leading the giant futures trading organization the Chicago Mercantile Exchange now called the CME Group But he never forgot his family s farm roots and those roots led him to another top job as President George H W Bush s secretary of agriculture

Yeutter's intellectual firepower paired with an engaging personality and a midwesterner's beaming smile made friends and found common ground with leaders and trade officials worldwide. Although a loyal GOP leader who served as counselor to a president and head of the Republican National Committee, Yeutter was a moderate who had admirers on both sides of the aisle. This is his life story.

Feminist Literacies, 1968-75 Kathryn Thoms Flannery, 2010-10-01 In the late 1960s and early 1970s, ordinary women affiliated with the women's movement were responsible for a veritable explosion of periodicals, poetry, and manifestos, as well as performances designed to support do-it-yourself education and consciousness-raising. Kathryn Thoms Flannery discusses this outpouring and the group education, brainstorming, and creative activism it fostered as the manifestation of a feminist literacy quite separate from women's studies programs at universities or the large-scale political workings of second-wave feminism. Seeking to break down traditional barriers such as the dichotomies of writer/reader or student/teacher, these new works also forged polemical alternatives to the forms of argumentation traditionally used to silence women, creating a space for fresh voices. Feminist Literacies explores these truly radical feminist literary practices and pedagogies that flourished during a brief era of volatility and hope.

Wrestling with the Muse Melba Joyce Boyd, 2003 Dudley Randall, one of the great success stories of American small press history, was also Poet Laureate of Detroit, a civil rights activist, and a force in the Black Arts Movement. Melba Joyce Boyd was an editor at Broadside, was Randall's friend and colleague for twenty-eight years, and became his authorized biographer. Her book is an account of the interconnections between urban and labor politics in Detroit and the broader struggles of black America before and during the Civil Rights era.

The English Traditional Ballad David Atkinson, 2017-07-05 Ballads are a fascinating subject of study, not least because of their endless variety. It is quite remarkable that ballads taken down or recorded from singers separated by centuries in time and by hundreds of kilometres in distance should be both different and yet recognizably the same. In The English Traditional Ballad, David Atkinson examines the ways in which the body of ballads known in England make reference both to ballads from elsewhere and to other English folk songs. The book outlines current theoretical directions in ballad scholarship: structuralism, traditional referentiality, genre and context, print and oral transmission, and the theory of tradition and revival. These are combined to offer readers a method of approaching the central issue in ballad studies: the creation of meanings out of ballad texts. Atkinson focuses on some of the most interesting problems in ballad studies: the wit combat in versions of The Unquiet Grave; variable perspectives in comic ballads about marriage; incest as a ballad theme; problems of feminine motivation in ballads like The Outlandish Knight and The Broomfield Hill; murder ballads and murder in other instances of early popular literature Through discussion of these issues and themes in ballad texts the book outlines a way of tracing tradition s in English balladry while recognizing that ballad tradition is far from being simply chronological and linear The Catalogue of Printed Music in the British Library to 1980 British Library.
