Muslim Devotions Constance E. Padwick, 1961 Drawing on a wide range of sources Muslim Devotions traces the stages in the evolution of Islamic theological thought from the first century of Islam to the present day Muslim Devotions Constance Evelyn Padwick, 1961 T&T Clark Handbook of Christian Prayer, 2021-12-16 The essays collected in this volume provide a resource for thinking theologically about the practice of Christian prayer In the first of four parts the volume begins by reaching back to the biblical foundations of prayer Then each of the chapters in the second part investigates a classical Christian doctrine including God creation Christology pneumatology providence and eschatology from the perspective of prayer The chapters in the third part explore the writings of some of the great theorizers of prayer in the history of the Christian tradition The final part gathers a set of creative and critical conversations on prayer responding to a variety of contemporary issues Overall the T T Clark Handbook of Christian Prayer articulates a theologically expansive account of prayer one that is deeply biblical energetically doctrinal historically rooted and relevant to a whole host of critical questions and concerns facing the world today Newer Paths in Muslim-Christian Understanding Ron George, 2007-10 This book tries to outline most inadequately the conclusion that God is not limited by man's ways and wants all men to come to know the truth Christ himself A man can be a Messianic Jew a Hindu Sadhu as was Sadhu Sundar Singh or a Messianic Muslim So often our faith is culture bound we have often interpreted the Bible from a cultural perspective and not seen the God who relates to all men He does not want a Western form of Christianity to be imposed upon others In Genesis 2 v 18 20 we have the cultural mandate that man was to rule over the earth and create his own society Most Muslim converts go back into Islam not because of a failure to be enamored by Christ but because of a loss of their identity and unacceptance by the Christian community Few understand the forces that are at play within all of us Ron George has been involved in missions in the Islamic world for over 44 years He has written widely on the subject traveled to over 30 lands and met with Muslim leaders to try to understand their points of view His views come out of a serious study of the Islamic peoples and the Qur'an a love for those peoples and an appreciation of their roots He takes what well known missiologists present and brings them to their logical conclusion in evaluating Muslim Christian understandings He feels that only the eyes of love can fully appreciate the task of communicating Christ to Islamic peoples building upon what they have and not destroying what God has already started He sees that in trying to understand others leads to better understanding our own faith This is a book about new beginnings in understanding Muslims and adds to that process Muslims through Discourse John R. The Cambridge Companion to Classical Islamic Theology Tim Winter, 2008-05-22 This series of critical reflections on the evolution and major themes of pre modern Muslim theology begins with the revelation of the Koran and extends to the beginnings of modernity in the eighteenth century The significance of Islamic theology reflects the immense importance of Islam in the history of monotheism to which it has brought a unique approach and style and a range of solutions which are of abiding interest Devoting especial attention to questions of rationality scriptural fidelity and the construction of orthodoxy this volume introduces key Muslim theories of revelation creation ethics scriptural interpretation law mysticism and eschatology Throughout the treatment is firmly set in the historical social and political context in which Islam's distinctive understanding of God evolved Despite its importance Islamic theology has been neglected in recent scholarship and this book provides a unique scholarly but accessible introduction

Islamic and Comparative Religious Studies William A. Graham, 2017-05-15 William A. Graham a leading international scholar in the field of Islamic Studies gathers together his selected writings under three sections 1 History and Interpretation of Islamic Religion 2 The Qur'an as Scripture and 3 Scripture in the History of Religion Each section opens with a new introduction by Graham and a bibliography of his works is included Graham's work in Islamic studies focuses largely on the analysis and interpretation of the religious dimensions of ritual action scriptural piety textual authority revelation tradition and major concepts such as grace and transcendence His work in the comparative history of religion has focused in particular on the problem of scripture as a cross cultural religious phenomenon that is more complex than simply sacred text This invaluable resource will be of primary interest to students of the Islamic tradition especially as regards Qur'anic piety Muslim ritual practice and fundamental structures of Islamic thought and to students of the comparative history of religion especially as regards the phenomenon of scripture and its analogs

Religion of the Gods Kimberley Christine Patton, 2009-02-09 In many of the world's religions both polytheistic and monotheistic a seemingly enigmatic and paradoxical image is found that of the god who worships Various interpretations of this seeming paradox have been advanced Some suggest that it represents sacrifice to a higher deity Proponents of anthropomorphic projection say that the gods are just big people and that images of human religious action are simply projected onto the deities However such explanations do not do justice to the complexity and diversity of this phenomenon In Religion of the Gods Kimberley C. Patton uses a comparative approach to take up anew a longstanding challenge in ancient Greek religious iconography why are the Olympian gods depicted on classical pottery making libations The sacrificing gods in ancient Greece are compared to gods who perform rituals in six other religious traditions the Vedic gods the heterodox god Zurvan of early Zoroastrianism the Old Norse god Odin the Christian God and Christ the God of Judaism and Islam's Allah

Patton examines the comparative evidence from a cultural and historical perspective uncovering deep structural resonances while also revealing crucial differences. Instead of looking for invisible recipients or lost myths, Patton proposes the new category of divine reflexivity. Divinely performed ritual is a self-reflexive, self-expressive action that signals the origin of ritual in the divine and not the human realm. Above all, divine ritual is generative, both instigating and inspiring human religious activity. The religion practiced by the gods is both like and unlike human religious action. Seen from within the religious tradition, gods are not big people but other than human. Human ritual is directed outward to a divine being, but the gods practice ritual on their own behalf. Cultic time, the symbiotic performance of ritual both in heaven and on earth, collapses the distinction between cult and theology each time ritual is performed. Offering the first comprehensive study and a new theory of this fascinating phenomenon, Religion of the Gods is a significant contribution to the fields of classics and comparative religion. Patton shows that the god who performs religious action is not an anomaly but holds a meaningful place in the category of ritual and points to a phenomenologically universal structure within religion itself. In the Presence of the King Luca Patrizi, 2025-05-19. The notions of intermediation and intercession play a central role in the theology of monotheistic religions. In the Islamic context, the specific doctrine connected to the intermediation was law si'a and intercession of the Prophet Muhammad towards God. shaf'a tawassul, particularly on the Day of Judgement, is widely attested in the primary sources of Islam. The eschatological function of the Prophet is represented in these sources through a series of royal metaphors connected to his rank j h on the Day of Judgement, which will allow him access to a special station called the Station of Praise al maq m al ma m d, endowed with specific attributes of royalty. Within Islamic esotericism, these doctrines receive a metaphysical interpretation closely connected to the reality of Muhammad as the Perfect Man al ins n al k mil. Since contemporary times, with the birth and spread of the Islamic Reform movements, these doctrines have been the target of intense opposition, aimed also at related practices such as, for example, visiting tombs in search of intercession, eventually resulting in the destruction of numerous sacred sites. Amen Patrick J. Ryan SJ, 2018-10-10. Amen: Jews, Christians and Muslims Keep Faith with God examines faith as it is understood by Jews, Christians and Muslims; it does not aim to be a work of systematic theology or a lengthy explication of the contents of different faith traditions. It offers Jews, Christians and Muslims several approaches to faith as a category of human experience open to God: a faithful God who reaches out to grasp the faithful human being at the same time that the faithful human being reaches out to grasp a faithful God. This two-sided faith, divine and human, lies at the center of each faith tradition. The book examines faith as one might examine a gem, gazing at different facets in turn. The Shaping Shaikh Dejan Azdajić, 2020-01-20. Islam is more than a system of rigid doctrines and normative principles. It is a diverse mosaic of subjective, often contradictory interpretations and discrepant applications that prohibit a narrow, one-dimensional approach. This book argues that to uncover this complex reality and achieve a more accurate understanding of Islam as a lived religion, it is imperative to consider Islam from the point of view of human beings.

who practice their faith Consequently this book provides an important contribution through a detailed ethnographic study of two contemporary Sufi communities Although both groups shared much in common there was a fundamental almost perplexing range of theological convictions and ritual implementations This book explores the mechanism that accounts for such diversity arguing for a direct correlation between Sufi multiformity and the agency of the spiritual leader the Shaikh Empirical research regarding the authority by which Shaikhs subjectively generate legitimate adaptations that shape the contours of religious belief are lacking This study is significant because it focuses on how leadership operates in Sufism highlighting the primacy of the Shaikh in the selection and appropriation of inherited norms The Bloomsbury polymath Jalāl al-Dīn al-Suyūṭī d. 911/1505. With a focus on the principal angels in Islam, the author provides an analysis and critical translation of ḥadīth included in al-Suyūṭī's al-Habā'ik fi akhbār al-malā'ik The Arrangement of the Traditions about Angels, many of which are translated into English for the first time. The book discusses the issues that the ḥadīth raise, exploring why angels are named in particular ways, how angels are described and portrayed in the ḥadīth, the ways in which angels interact with humans, and the theological controversies which feature angels. From this, it is possible to place al-Suyūṭī's collection in its religious and historical milieu, building on the study of angels in Judaism and Christianity to explore aspects of comparative religious beliefs about angels, as well as relating Muslim beliefs about angels to wider debates in Islamic Studies. Broadening the study of Islamic angelology and providing a significant amount of newly translated primary source material, this book will be of great interest to scholars of Islam, divinity, and comparative religion.
