Securing the Future of Afghanistan Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee, 2013-04-10 The Committee s report focuses on the planned withdrawal of combat troops at the end of 2014 and the transfer of responsibility for security to the Afghan National Security Forces It also examines the progress towards a secure and stable Afghanistan within the wider region including Pakistan and the plans by the UK NATO and other allies for a smooth transition of responsibility for security to the Afghan Government and the ANSF Securing the future of Afghanistan requires the concerted efforts of all the Afghan people regional neighbours in particular Pakistan the USA NATO and other coalition partners In the process of establishing a peaceful and functioning Afghanistan the Committee calls for evidence of i At least the start of an Afghan led peace settlement with the insurgency ii Open and free elections iii An appropriately trained and equipped ANSF with continuing financial support iii A strong judicial system which protects the human rights of all Afghans iv Economic development aid to continue in support of the well being and safety of all sections of society v Effective measures to tackle corruption drug production and the drug trade The MoD needs to work with international partners and the ANSF to identify ways of meeting significant gaps in necessary capabilities such as helicopters and close air support and medical care from 2015 The Defence Committee concludes that at the end of UK operations the best the UK will be able to do is to withdraw in good order and engage with external partners to improve Afghanistan's future prospects Freedom on the Frontlines Lina AbiRafeh, 2022-02-10 Afghan women were at the forefront of global agendas in late 2001 fueled by a mix of media coverage humanitarian intervention and military operations Calls for liberating Afghan women were widespread Women's roles in Afghanistan have long been politically divisive marked by struggles between modernization and tradition Women politics and the state have always been intertwined in Afghanistan and conflicts have been fueled by attempts to challenge or change women's status It may appear that we have come full circle twenty years later in late 2021 when Afghanistan fell to the Taliban once more Women's rights in Afghanistan have been stripped away and any gains however tenuous now appear lost Today the country navigates both a humanitarian and a human rights crisis This book measures the rhetoric of liberation and the physical and ideological occupations of Afghanistan over the twenty year period from 2001 through 2021 through the voices perspectives and experiences of those who are implicated in this reality Afghan women Counterterrorism Within the Afghanistan Counterinsurgency United States. Congress. House. Committee on Armed Services. Subcommittee on Terrorism, Unconventional Threats, and Capabilities, 2010 The Last Days of the Afghan Republic Arsalan Noori, Noah Coburn, 2023-05-22 It is difficult to overstate the chaos of August 2021 for many of those in Afghanistan particularly those who had worked closely with the international community there In a matter of days U S troops withdrew from Afghanistan and an insurgency threw out a government the international community had spent 20 years and billions of dollars supporting A government that claimed to stand for women's rights freedom of the press education and a litany of other ideals was replaced by one that did not allow girls to attend secondary school The world watched for two weeks as crowds rushed the airport bodies fell from planes a suicide bomber killed civilians and soldiers and a baby was handed to a Marine over a barbed wire wall The agony of lives so clearly destroyed as people tried to flee their homeland with little to nothing felt like images seen in the wake of natural disasters But this was not a natural disaster It was completely avoidable Part memoir and part history The Last Days of the Afghan Republic tells this story through the experiences of Arsalan Fatima Zeinab and Najeeb a scholar a doctor a student and a translator These young men and women had bought into the promise of the international intervention that if they studied worked hard and believed in democracy and human rights Afghanistan could become a new country Their lives also tell the story of Afghanistan over the past thirty years They recount from the ground up the political decisions on the American side that led to the forever war the way that Afghan political partners squandered opportunities and the ways in which the U S presence unevenly reshaped Afghan society Leaks and whistleblowing in Whitehall Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Public Administration Select Committee, 2009-08-10 The Committee calls for better and more accessible procedures for civil servants to raise concerns about the conduct of government A route should to be established whereby evidence that a minister had misled Parliament or the public could be reported to Parliament following a complaint by a civil servant Leaks damage trust within government and trust in government The Committee concludes that leak investigations are often hamstrung by the fact that many leaks are politically motivated including leaks from ministers and special advisers The most effective way to prevent leaks by civil servants is to have accessible effective and visible ways for individuals to raise concerns about the conduct of government either internally or through an external oversight body the Civil Service Commissioners The report makes the following key recommendations the Civil Service Commissioners should have the power to report to Parliament evidence indicating that the government was misleading Parliament or the public or the fact that the Civil Service has refused to act on a justified complaint the Commissioners should also conduct independent investigation of breaches of confidentiality by special advisers the leaking of information should only be a criminal matter where there is a breach of the Official Secrets Act or there is evidence of serious criminal misconduct the Cabinet Office Heads of Departments and the Civil Service Commissioners should do more to ensure that potential whistleblowers know how to raise concerns and have the confidence to come forward with them
