Multiple Genres Multiple Voices Teaching Argument In Composition And Literature Crosscurrents:

Multiple Genres, Multiple Voices Cheryl L. Johnson, Jayne Moneysmith, 2005 Explores the many perspectives of an argument by using multiple genres written from different points of view

The Profession of English in the Two-year College Mark Reynolds, 2005 The 1960s a time of protests and civil rights marches sit ins and speak outs free love rallies and anti establishment Yip ins Yet going largely unnoticed was another powerful revolution the explosive growth of the two year college In The Profession of English in the Two Year College those on the front lines of this movement record how they successfully taught a new kind of student in a re imagined postsecondary institution Those students lived at home worked to make ends meet and were the first in their families to attend college They were Vietnam veterans adults years distant from high school fulltime workers and struggling immigrants To teach them faculty invented new curricula novel instructional methods and innovative teaching materials and in doing so also invented a blueprint for successful two year college English teaching The Profession of English in the Two Year College features essays by major figures including Mark Reynolds Elizabeth Nist Marilyn Smith Layton and William Costanzo concluding with a selective bibliography by Howard Tinberg Featuring essays about curricular innovation ESL the value of professional conferences and the crucial role that two year colleges have played in technological innovation this volume shines a bright light on an institution that has become a mainstay of American higher education

The Matthean Parables Ivor H. Jones, 2014-04-09 The Matthean Parables offers a fresh approach to the origin of Matthew s Gospel It builds on current historical literary rhetorical and sociological studies of Matthew s Gospel to show how the Matthean parables illuminate the structure purpose and theology of that gospel The first part of the book establishes the need for a new attempt to define the genre of Matthew s Gospel examines what is meant by a parable and summarises the contribution made by the parables to that new attempt The second part is a thorough exegetical historical critical and literary study of all the Matthean parables in the context of the whole gospel and in the light of all the Matthean figurative material An appendix illustrates the use of syntactical material in defining the character and style of a biblical text

Multiple Voices, Multiple Texts Reade W. Dornan, Lois Matz Rosen, Marilyn J. Wilson, 1997 Multiple Voices Multiple Texts provides a thorough grounding in the principles and practices of reading writing and language development the kind of grounding teachers need for today s multicultural and multilingual classrooms

Genre in the Classroom Ann M. Johns, 2002

Genre Across The Curriculum Anne Herrington, Charles Moran, 2005 Genre across the Curriculum will function as a good textbook one not for the student but for the teacher and one with an eye on the context of writing Here you will find models of practice descriptions written by teachers who have integrated the teaching of genre into their pedagogy in ways that both support and empower the student writer While authors here look at courses across disciplines and across a range of genres they are similar in presenting genre as situated within specific classrooms disciplines and institutions Their assignments embody the pedagogy of a particular teacher and student responses here embody students prior experiences with writing In each chapter the authors define a particular genre define the learning goals implicit in assigning that genre explain how they help their students work through the assignment and finally discuss how they evaluate the writing their students do in response to their teaching

Competing and Consensual Voices Patrick J. M.

Costello, Sally Mitchell, 1995 Examines the theory and practice of argument in primary secondary and tertiary education The book s coverage includes the nature forms and functions of argument and its role in teaching and critical analyses of the practice of argument and suggested ways to develop it in educating contexts

Argument in Composition John

Ramage, John D. Ramage, Micheal Callaway, Jennifer Clary-Lemon, 2009 The ideas of major theorists of classical and contemporary rhetoric and argument from Aristotle to Burke Toulmin and Perelman are explained and elaborated upon especially as they inform pedagogies of argumentation and composition

The Argument Writing Toolkit Sean

Ruday, 2015-07-16 In order for students to write effective arguments they need to read good arguments In this practical book you ll find out how to use mentor texts to make writing instruction more meaningful authentic and successful Author Sean Ruday demonstrates how you can teach middle school students to analyze the qualities of effective arguments and then help them think of those qualities as tools to improve their own writing You ll learn how to Introduce high interest topics to students to get them interested and engaged in argument writing Teach students to look at multiple sides of an issue and critically evaluate evidence to construct informed defensible arguments Make argument writing an interactive student driven exercise in which students pursue their own writing projects Use mentor texts to help students learn the core concepts of argument writing and apply those skills across the curriculum The book is filled with examples and templates you can bring back to the classroom immediately as well as an annotated bibliography which links the concepts in this book to the corresponding Common Core State Standards Blank templates are also available as printable eResources on our website <http://www.routledge.com> 9781138924390

The Genre of Argument Irene L. Clark,

THE GENRE OF ARGUMENT is a rhetoric that defines the distinguishing characteristics of the argument paper which students can understand easily once they are aware of its context and purpose By looking at argument as a genre students gain insight into how purpose influences many features of successful argumentative writin Students are led to find the problem within a topic and develop a position or thesis in response to that situation The overt consideration of genre will help students to apply generic conventions in a multiplicity of contexts

Discovering the Many Worlds of Literature Stuart Hirschberg, Terry Hirschberg, 2004

Discovering the Many Worlds of Literature is a new literature for composition text organized by theme with readings from four genres essays short fiction poems and dramatic works from around the world The range quality and freshness of this text s readings astonish me This text has the finest range of readings that I have seen in 25 years of teaching Dr Will Tomory

Southwestern Michigan College Two introductory chapters on reading and writing about literature lead into seven chapters on the theme of human development from family and cultural ties through considerations of class race and ethnicity to the spiritual dimension of human life Each thematic chapter is preceded by a brief introduction to the theme and each chapter concludes with Connections questions that help students to see connections between different works in different genres and Filmography an annotated list of suggested films Each reading is followed by a set of questions to help students analyze the text understand the author s techniques and develop an interpretation of the work The text emphasizes the development of an effective argument for an interpretation of a literary work both in the introductory chapters and in Arguing for an Interpretation questions at the end of each reading The extraordinary breadth of the reading selections and the diversity of the authors represented in the text are unique students will find some classic works such as Shakespeare s Hamlet along with many less well known writings from authors around the globe representing Eastern as well as Western cultures Students will be challenged to understand the cultural context of the readings and stimulated to provide meaningful analysis and interpretation of the texts

Playing with Genre Alison Welch, 2011 This thesis seeks to examine how implementing a rhetorical genre pedagogy in the first year composition classroom one in which students actively question and experiment with established genres and conventions of multiple academic and nonacademic discourse communities has the potential to contribute to students greater understanding of the rhetorical situations in which they write and speak as well as to improve their ability to engage in productive purposeful communication within and among these communities Through a classroom based research study that draws from student texts and interview responses I explore the intersections between first year composition students conceptions of genre and the ways in which they approach and manipulate the rhetorical situations they encounter furthering the argument that by developing rhetorical texts with in multiple genres student writers can begin to recognize genre as rhetorical social action and complicate their understanding of inventional and revisionary practices
