History on Television Ann Gray, Erin Bell, 2013 In recent years non fiction history programmes have flourished on television This interdisciplinary study of history programming identifies and examines different genres employed by producers and tracks their commissioning production marketing and distribution histories With comparative references to other European nations and North America the authors focus on British history programming over the last two decades and analyse the relationship between the academy and media professionals They outline and discuss often competing discourses about how to do history and the underlying assumptions about who watches history programmes History on Television considers recent changes in the media landscape which have affected to a great degree how history in general and whose history in particular appears onscreen Through a number of case studies using material from interviews by the authors with academic and media professionals the role of the professional historian and that of media professionals commissioning editors and producer directors as mediators of historical material and interpretations is analysed and the ways in which the logics of television shape historical output are outlined and discussed Building on their analysis Ann Gray and Erin Bell ask if history on television fulfils its potential to be a form of public history through offering as it does a range of interpretations of the past to and originating from or including those not based in the academy Through consideration of the representation or absence of the diversity of British identity gender ethnicity and race social status and regional identities the authors substantially extend the scope of existing scholarship into history on television History on Television will be essential reading for all those interested in the complex processes involved in the representation of history on television

Knowing Their Place Lucy Delap, 2011-06-16 Historians have traditionally seen domestic service as an obsolete or redundant sector from the middle of the twentieth century Knowing Their Place challenges this by linking the early twentieth century employment of maids and cooks to later practices of employing au pairs mothers helps and cleaners Lucy Delap tells the story of lives and labour within British homes from great houses to suburbs and slums and charts the interactions of servants and employers along with the intense controversies and emotions they inspired Knowing Their Place also examines the employment of men and migrant workers as well as the role of laughter and erotic desire in shaping domestic service The memory of domestic service and the role of the past in shaping and mediating the present is examined through heritage and televisual sources from Upstairs Downstairs to The 1900 House Drawing from advice manuals magazines novels cinema memoirs feminist tracts and photographs this fascinating book points to new directions in cultural history through its engagement in innovative areas such as the history of emotions and cultural memory Through its attention to the contemporary rise in the employment of domestic workers Knowing Their Place sets modern Britain in a new and compelling historical context The foundation years Frank Field,Independent Review on Poverty and Life Chances,Great BritainCabinet Office,2010-12-15 Frank Field was commission by the Prime Minister in June 2010 to provide an independent review on poverty and life chances This is the final report and the aim of the review was to generate a broader debate about the nature and extent of poverty in the UK examine the case for reforms to poverty measures in particular for the inclusion of non financial elements explore how a child s home environment affect their chances of being ready to take full advantage of their schooling recommend potential action by government and other institution to reduce poverty and enhance life chances for the least advantage consistent with the Government s fiscal strategy The report demands a broadening of the attack on child poverty and supplies overwhelming evidence that children s life chances are most heavily predicated on their development in the first five years of like Its family background parental education good parenting and the opportunities for learning and development in those crucial years that together matter more to children than money The Review has concluded that the UK needs to address the issue of child poverty in a fundamentally different way if it is to make a real change to children s life chances as an adult Complementary Feeding Claire Tuck,2022-02-26 Specifically designed for health visitors general practitioners nurses dietitians and nutritionists this is the first book to clarify the suggested balance of different foods and food groups needed to provide a healthy diet in infants It interprets government recommendations and current research to give health professionals completely up to date highly detailed advice in a practical easy to read format Tables and figures are widely used to illustrate complex concepts and aid understanding It is ideal as a daily reference Healthcare policy makers and shapers will also find much of interest to assist in the provision of new guidance Babies Natasha Joffe,2010 Babies The Mumsnet Guide is an introduction to the strange world of the postnatal a world of strong emotions and revolting excretions the sublime and the ridiculous It is the gathered up boiled down wisdom of thousands of mums and the occasional dad who have posted on Mumsnet com since its launch in June 2000 about everything to do with life after baby From thoughtful advice about breastfeeding colic and getting some sleep to debates about parenting gurus and the best form of childcare by way of a fair bit of gore and the odd bit of flagrant silliness about postnatal vaginal circumference and baby names Babies The Mumsnet Guide contains the advice thoughts experiences and random burlblings of thousands of parents Parents who have done a lot of the worrying for you already
