Making a Way out of No Way Lisa Krissoff Boehm, 2010-01-06 The Second Great Migration the movement of African Americans between the South and the North that began in the early 1940s and tapered off in the late 1960s transformed America This migration of approximately five million people helped improve the financial prospects of black Americans who in the next generation moved increasingly into the middle class Over seven years Lisa Krissoff Boehm gathered oral histories with women migrants and their children two groups largely overlooked in the story of this event She also utilized existing oral histories with migrants and southerners in leading archives In extended excerpts from the oral histories and in thoughtful scholarly analysis of the voices this book offers a unique window into African American women's history These rich oral histories reveal much that is surprising Although the Jim Crow South presented persistent dangers the women retained warm memories of southern childhoods Notwithstanding the burgeoning war industry most women found themselves left out of industrial work The North offered its own institutionalized racism the region was not the promised land Additionally these African American women juggled work and family long before such battles became a staple of mainstream discussion In the face of challenges the women who share their tales here crafted lives of great meaning from the limited options available making a way out of no way African American Autobiographers Emmanuel S. Nelson, 2002-03-30

There is growing popular and scholarly interest in autobiography along with increasing regard for the achievements of African American writers The first reference of its kind this volume chronicles the autobiographical tradition in African American literature Included are alphabetically arranged entries for 66 African American authors who present autobiographical material in their works The volume profiles major figures such as Frederick Douglass Zora Neale Hurston Richard Wright Maya Angelou James Baldwin and Malcolm X along with many lesser known autobiographers who deserve greater attention While some are known primarily for their literary accomplishments others have gained acclaim for their diverse contributions to society The entries are written by expert contributors and provide authoritative information about their subjects Each begins with a concise biography which summarizes the life and achievements of the autobiographer This is followed by a discussion of major autobiographical works and themes along with an overview of the autobiographer s critical reception The entries close with primary and secondary bibliographies and a selected general bibliography concludes the volume Together the entries provide a detailed portrait of the African American autobiographical tradition from the 18th century to the present

The Other Great Migration Bernadette Pruitt,2013-10-16 The twentieth century has seen two great waves of African American migration from rural areas into the city changing not only the country s demographics but also black culture In her thorough study of migration to Houston Bernadette Pruitt portrays the move from rural to urban homes in Jim Crow Houston as a form of black activism and resistance to racism Between 1900 and 1950 nearly fifty thousand blacks left their rural communities and small towns in Texas and Louisiana for Houston Jim Crow proscription disfranchisement acts of violence and brutality and rural poverty pushed them from their homes the lure of social advancement and prosperity based on urban industrial development drew them Houston s close proximity to basic minerals innovations in transportation increased trade augmented economic revenue and industrial development prompted white families commercial businesses and industries near the Houston Ship Channel to recruit blacks and other immigrants to the city as domestic laborers and wage earners Using census data manuscript collections government records and oral history interviews Pruitt details who the migrants were why they embarked on their journeys to Houston the migration networks on which they relied the jobs they held the neighborhoods into which they settled the culture and institutions they transplanted into the city and the communities and people they transformed in Houston

Daily Life during African American Migrations Kimberley L. Phillips,2012-05-03 This book examines the century long migration of African Americans who moved within the South after the Civil War and then left to settle permanently in other regions irrevocably altering the political social and cultural history of the United States and considers these movements within the broader historical political and cultural context of the African Diaspora Daily Life during African American Migrations focuses attention to the everyday social cultural and political lives of migrants in the United States as they established communities far away from their former homes This book examines blacks labor and urban experiences social and political activism and cultural and communal identities while also considering the specificity of African Americans migration as part of their long struggle for freedom and equality The author merges information from black migration studies which focus on the internal movement of African American people in the United States with African Diaspora studies which consider peoples of African descent who have settled far from their native homes either voluntarily or through duress to document how these immigrants and their children create new communities while maintaining cultural connections with Africa The stories of the nine million African Americans who collectively left the South between 1865 and 1965 and the millions more who left the Caribbean and Africa not only document this long history of migration but also present compelling human drama

The Mormon Handcart Migration Candy Moulton, 2019-04-25 In 1856 the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter day Saints employed a new means of getting converts to Great Salt Lake City who could not afford the journey otherwise They began using handcarts thus initiating a five year experiment that has become a legend in the annals of Mormon and North American migration Only one in ten Mormon emigrants used handcarts but of those 3 000 who did between 1856 and 1860 most survived the harrowing journey to settle Utah and become members of a remarkable pioneer generation Others were not so lucky More than 200 died along the way victims of exhaustion accident and for a few starvation and exposure to late season Wyoming blizzards Now Candy Moulton tells of their successes travails and tragedies in an epic retelling of a legendary story The Mormon Handcart Migration traces each stage of the journey from the transatlantic voyage of newly converted church members to the gathering of the faithful in the eastern Nebraska encampment known as Winter Quarters She then traces their trek from the western Great Plains across modern day Wyoming to their final destination at Great Salt Lake The handcart experiment was the brainchild of Mormon leader Brigham Young who decreed that the saints could haul their own possessions pushing or pulling two wheeled carts across 1 100 miles of rough terrain much of it roadless and some of it untrodden The LDS church now embraces the saga of the handcart emigrants including even the disaster that befell the Martin and Willie handcart companies in central Wyoming in 1856 as an educational faith inspiring experience for thousands of youth each year Moulton skillfully weaves together scores of firsthand accounts from the journals letters diaries reminiscences and autobiographies the handcart pioneers left behind Depth of research and unprecedented detail make this volume an essential history of the Mormon handcart migration

Decolonizing the Academy Carole Boyce Davies, Meredith Gadsby, Charles F. Peterson, Henrietta Williams, 2003 Decolonizing the Academy asserts that the academy is perhaps the most colonized space At the same time the academy is a place of knowledge and transformation As we move into the 21st century it is becoming clear that the academy is one of the primary sites for the production and reproduction of ideas that serve the interests of colonising powers This collection of essays argues the possibility of re engaging the decolonizing process at the level of knowledge and asserts that this is an ongoing project worthy of being undertaken in a variety of fields     The African American National Biography: Dihigo-Gwynn Henry Louis Gates (Jr.), Evelyn Brooks Higginbotham, 2008 An 8 volume reference set containing over 4 000 entries written by distinguished scholars The African American National Biography is the most significant and expansive compilation of black lives in print today     Black Writers Linda Metzger, 1989 Biographical and bibliographical entries on some 400 black authors active in the 20th century Some of the sketches are updated from Gale s Contemporary authors series others were written especially for this volume Covers not only contemporary American authors but also earlier 20th century writers social figures e g Malcolm X Desmond Tutu and important African and Caribbean writers In addition to the descriptive personal and career information there are illuminating biographical critical essays including comments often by the authors themselves on personal interests aspirations motivations and thoughts on writing Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR     Black Writers Sharon Malinowski, 1994 This text presents comprehensive coverage of more than 400 of the most studied black authors from the Harlem Renaissance social and political activists and foreign black writers of interest to American Audiences

Library Journal Melvil Dewey, Richard Rogers Bowker, L. Pylodet, Charles Ammi Cutter, Bertine Emma Weston, Karl Brown, Helen E. Wessells, 1926 Includes beginning Sept 15 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept May a special section School library journal ISSN 0000 0035 called Junior libraries 1954 May 1961 Also issued separately     African Migration, Human Rights and Literature Fareda Banda, 2020-12-24 This innovative book looks at the topic of migration through the prism of law and literature The author uses a rich mix of novels short stories literary realism human rights and comparative literature to explore the experiences of African migrants and asylum seekers The book is divided into two Part one is conceptual and focuses on art activism and the myriad ways in which people have sought to write justice Using Mazrui s diasporas of slavery and colonialism it then considers histories of migration across the centuries before honing in on the recent anti migration policies of western states Achiume is used to show how these histories of imposition and exploitation create a bond which bestows on Africans a status as co sovereigns of the First World through citizenship The many fictional examples of the schemes used to gain entry are set against the formal legal processes Attention is paid to life post arrival which for asylum seekers may include periods in detention The impact of the increased hostility of receiving states is examined in light of their human rights obligations Consideration is paid to how Africans navigate their post migration lives which includes reconciling themselves to status fracture taking on jobs for which they are over qualified while simultaneously dealing with the resentment borne of status threat on the part of the citizenry Part two moves from the general to consider the intersections of gender and status focusing on women LGBTI individuals and children Focusing on their human rights and the fictional literature chapter four looks at women who have been trafficked as well as domestic workers and hotel maids while chapter five is on LGBTI people whose legal and literary stories are only now being told The final substantive chapter considers the experiences of children who may arrive as unaccompanied minors Using a mixture of poetry and first person accounts the chapter examines the post arrival lives of children some of whom may be citizens but who are continually made to feel like outsiders The conclusion follows starting with two stories about walls by Hadero and Lanchester which are used to illustrate the themes discussed in the book Few African lawyers write about literature and few books and articles in Western law and literature look at books by or about Africans so a book that engages with both is long overdue This book provides fascinating reading for academics students of law literature gender and migration studies and indeed the general public

Migration and Education in a Multicultural World U. Kelly, 2009-02-16 Arising from the legacies of the twentieth century unprecedented worldwide migration unrelenting global conflict and warring unchecked materialist consumption and unconscionable environmental degradation are important questions about the toll of loss such changes exact individually and collectively As large scale and ubiquitous as these changes are their deep specificity re inscribes the importance of place as a critical construct Attending to such specificity emphasizes the interconnections between contexts and broader movements and remains a prudent route to articulating critical interconnections among places and peoples in complex times This book of essays turns to such specificity as a means to examine the inflections of migration on identity displacement disorientation loss and difference as sites of both regression and possibility Fusing autobiography and cultural analysis it provides a framework for a critical education attuned to such concerns

Ethnic American Literature Emmanuel S. Nelson, 2015-02-17 Unlike any other book of its kind this volume celebrates published works from a broad range of American ethnic groups not often featured in the typical canon of literature This culturally rich encyclopedia contains 160 alphabetically arranged entries on African American Asian American Latino and Native American literary traditions among others The book introduces the uniquely American mosaic of multicultural literature by chronicling the achievements of American writers of non European descent and highlighting the ethnic diversity of works from the colonial era to the present The work features engaging topics like the civil rights movement bilingualism assimilation and border narratives Entries provide historical overviews of literary periods along with profiles of major authors and great works including Toni Morrison Maxine Hong Kingston Maya Angelou Sherman Alexie A Raisin in the Sun American Born Chinese and The House on Mango Street The book also provides concise overviews of genres not often featured in textbooks like the Chinese American novel African American young adult literature Mexican American autobiography and Cuban American poetry

The Greenwood Encyclopedia of African American Literature: D-H Hans A. Ostrom, J. David Macey, 2005 Designed to meet the needs of high school students undergraduates and general readers this encyclopedia is the most comprehensive reference available on African American literature from its origins to the present Other works include many brief entries or offer extended biographical sketches of a limited selection of writers This encyclopedia surpasses existing references by offering full and current coverage of a vast range of authors and topics While most of the entries are on individual authors the encyclopedia gathers together information about the genres and geographical and cultural environments in which these writers have worked and the social political and aesthetic movements in which they have participated Thus the encyclopedia gives special attention to the historical and cultural forces that have shaped African American writing Publisher
