The Global Lives of German Migrants Marcel Erlinghagen, Andreas Ette, Norbert F. Schneider, Nils Witte, 2021-04-29 Based on the German case this open access book highlights the increasing flows of migration and the internationalisation of individual life courses It analyses the experiences of migration across four central domains employment and income partners and families health and wellbeing as well as friends and social participation which potentially have far reaching consequences for social inequalities and life chances The book showcases results from an innovative probability sample that is representative of German emigrants who recently moved abroad and remigrants who recently returned from abroad and compares their international experiences with the sedentary population in Germany. Stays abroad, whether temporary or permanent, have become the new normal for increasing numbers of people from highly developed welfare states. Unnoticed from mainstream migration studies, these countries are today not only major immigration countries but also important sources of international mobility. By providing an empirically founded prism of the global lives of German migrants, this book is a valuable resource for students and researchers of migration, social inequality, and the life course, and provides practitioners with insights into these regularly overlooked aspects of international migration.

From Homemakers to Breadwinners to Community Leaders Norma Fuentes-Mayorga, 2023-05-12 In From Homemakers to Breadwinners to Community Leaders, Norma Fuentes Mayorga compares the immigration and integration experiences of Dominican and Mexican women in New York City, a traditional destination for Dominicans but a relatively new one for Mexicans. Her book documents the significance of women-led migration within an increasingly racialized context and underscores the contributions women make to their communities of origin and of settlement. Fuentes Mayorga's research is timely, especially against the backdrop of policy debates about the future of family reunification laws and the unprecedented immigration of women and minors from Latin America, many of whom seek human rights protection or to reunite with families in the US. From Homemakers to Breadwinners to Community Leaders provides a compelling look at the suffering of migrant mothers and the mourning of family separation, but also at the agency and contributions that women make with their imported human capital and remittances to the receiving and sending community. Ultimately, the book contributes further understanding to the heterogeneity of Latin American immigration and highlights the social mobility of Afro-Caribbean and indigenous migrant women in New York.
