Norwichs Maps Of Africa An Illustrated And Annotated Carto Bibliography:

Norwich's Maps of Africa I. Norwich, Pam Kolbe, Jeffrey C. Stone, 1997 Over the course of forty years Oscar Norwich accumulated the world's greatest private collection of African maps This catalog comprises a record of foreign knowledge of the continent from the Age of Exploration to modern times and demonstrates how the rest of the world was quick to learn the shape of the African continent but slow to grasp the realities of its interior From the fabulous creatures depicted on early maps to the blank regions unknown of later ones from those that depicted the kingdom of the legendary Prester John to maps as late as the 19th century that still featured the imaginary Mountains of Kong this collection documents a long and troubled history of developing knowledge of the continent Each map is illustrated and carefully described including bibliographical citations Originally published in 1983 the book has been revised and edited by Jeffrey Stone for this second edition

Reference Guide to Africa Alfred Kagan, Atoma Batoma, 2014-10-16 This third edition of the Reference Guide to Africa explains the most important resources for the study of the continent of Africa It contains a general sources section and a larger disciplinary oriented section All sources are annotated A new edition is sorely needed since the last edition was published nine years ago The previous editions have been successfully used in research libraries worldwide since 1999 and it has been used to teach several African studies research courses The book provides an orientation for researching almost any topic in the arts humanities and social sciences concerning the continent of Africa and all of its countries and ethnic groups The first part explains and lists portals databases bibliographies indexes guides encyclopedias country sources biography primary sources government publications and statistics The second part presents 16 subject oriented chapters mostly in the arts humanities and social sciences from agriculture and food security to women studies It covers sources that broadly cover the continent or in some cases only North Africa and the Middle East It generally excludes sources limited to one country or region of Africa except for North Africa because of the nature of the literature One third of the sources in this edition are new and nearly half of them are available in electronic format There are author title and subject indexes This unique work is intended for students teachers librarians and researchers It likely will be used most by reference librarians and teachers for students in high school through graduate studies It will also be used independently by undergraduate and graduate students It can be used to answer simple reference questions provide the resources for an undergraduate paper or for comprehensive work by advanced students and researchers destiny but now beyond the raging roiling sea I have glimpsed the shore of verdant Valinor unveiled before me Though I may yet come to grief upon some reef washed by waves of disbelief I voyage on to vindication my vessel's ordained destination With greatness grazing on the verge of rediscovery we may surely see the resolution of this mystery So let my sail now be unfurled to catch the wind and win the world Alexander's long lost legacy the parted parts of his shattered tomb and battered body

Mastering the Niger David Lambert, 2013-11-15 In Mastering the Niger David Lambert recalls Scotsman James MacQueen 1778 1870 and his publication of A New Map of Africa in 1841 to show that Atlantic slavery as a practice of subjugation a source of wealth and a focus of political struggle was entangled with the production circulation and reception of geographical knowledge The British empire banned the slave trade in 1807 and abolished slavery itself in 1833 creating a need for a new British imperial economy Without ever setting foot on the continent MacQueen took on the task of solving the Niger problem that is to successfully map the course of the river and its tributaries and thus breathe life into his scheme for the exploration colonization and commercial exploitation of West Africa Lambert illustrates how MacQueen s geographical research began four decades before the publication of the New Map when he was managing a sugar estate on the West Indian colony of Grenada There MacQueen encountered slaves with firsthand knowledge of West Africa whose accounts would form the basis of his geographical claims Lambert examines the inspirations and foundations for MacQueen s geographical theory as well as its reception arguing that Atlantic slavery and ideas for alternatives to it helped produce geographical knowledge while geographical discourse informed the struggle over slavery

The Quest for the Tomb of Alexander the Great (Second Edition) Andrew Chugg,2012-06-01 In 2004 the author s first book The Lost Tomb of Alexander the Great was published to the accompaniment of international media attention since it reported the first credible suggestion as to the current whereabouts of the long vanished corpse of the illustrious conqueror In the intervening years progress by testing the candidate remains has been thwarted by the Church authorities yet much new information has emerged casting the enigma in an ever more probing light In this extensively updated and extended account the meanderings of the evidence have been tracked with scrupulous care and the tangled threads of erstwhile hidden history have been teased apart Thus the forgotten secrets of one of the greatest mysteries bequeathed to us by the ancient world are laid bare culminating in the novel suggestion that the body stolen from Alexandria in AD828 and now in Venice may have acquired a false identity at the time that paganism was outlawed by the Emperor of Rome in the 4th century AD

A Short History of the Cartography of Africa Jeffrey C. Stone,1995 Drawing on the recent work of historians of Africa this volume questions the contemporary wisdom about maps of Africa This book suggests that the history of African cartography has been misinterpreted

The New Nature of Maps J. B. Harley,2002-10-03 In these essays the author draws on ideas in art history literature philosophy and the study of visual culture to subvert the traditional positivist model of cartography and replace it with one grounded in an iconological and semiotic theory of the nature of maps

Geographic Thought George L. Henderson,Marvin Waterstone,2009 This unabridged reader offers a fresh approach to learning about Geographic Thought by showing through concrete examples and detailed editorial essays how the discipline has been forever altered by the rise of progressive social struggles of the last 30 years

Black Africans in Renaissance Europe T. F. Earle,K. J. P. Lowe,2005-05-26 This highly original book opens up the almost entirely neglected area of the black African presence in Western Europe during the Renaissance Covering history literature art history and anthropology it investigates a whole range of black African experience and representation across Renaissance Europe from various types of slavery to black musicians and dancers from real and symbolic Africans at court to the views of the Catholic Church and from writers of African descent to Black African criminality Their findings demonstrate the variety and complexity of black African life in fifteenth and sixteenth century Europe and how it was affected by firmly held preconceptions relating to the African continent and its inhabitants reinforced by Renaissance ideas and conditions Of enormous importance both for European and American history this book mixes empirical material and theoretical approaches and addresses such issues as stereotypes changing black African identity and cultural representation in art and literature Africa in Europe's Eyes ,1998
