

Norfolk Southern Rail boosts safety and efficiency with IP network

One of North America's largest freight railways upgrades its microwave communications network to enhance safety, improve operational efficiency and support future business expansion.

Norfolk Southern Corporation, based in Norfolk, Virginia, is one of North America's premier transportation companies, with a market cap of 30 billion United States dollars and annual revenue of 11.6 billion dollars. Its Norfolk Southern Railway subsidiary operates approximately 20,000 route miles in 22 states and the District of Columbia. As the operator of the most extensive intermodal network in the eastern United States and a major transporter of coal, automotive, and industrial products, Norfolk Southern supports international trade with service to every major Atlantic seaport, ten river ports, and nine lake ports. In order to ensure safety, efficiency and its competitive edge, Norfolk Southern has upgraded its communications network to all-IP. Now this leading freight carrier can take advantage of new and emerging IP-based communications solutions and applications to enhance safety, increase operational efficiency and build a competitive advantage to support future business expansion.
