Gavin,James Campbell Quick,David J. Gavin,2021-03-23 How do we create a culture of zero tolerance for sexual violence on college campuses In a world where one in five women on campus experience some form of sexual assault what would it take to create a campus culture that was free of violence against women From a public health perspective sexual assault is an epidemic on campuses but why What is it about a campus community culture that permits or encourages this at a time when a majority of students are now female In this practical guide for colleges and universities Joanne H Gavin James Campbell Quick and David J Gavin lay out a community based model that is designed to eliminate sexual misconduct spot it before it happens punish its perpetrators support its victims survivors and end this epidemic Ending Sexual Violence in College is a prescriptive guide for creating a campus culture that is intolerant of sexual misconduct regardless of who is involved or the context in which it happens A culture of intolerance the authors argue does not consider the role or status of either the perpetrator or victim survivor Rather this culture protects all members Using a public health model with an emphasis on prevention to create this cultural change the book utilizes psychological and organizational research to understand the challenges of making these changes while enhancing the odds of permanent cultural change for the better Designed to spur community wide conversations on how we can make our campuses safe from sexual violence this book s preventive approach allows communities to self monitor The authors include case studies of institutions that have not been proactive in putting programs in place to protect students as well as examples of institutions that are effectively addressing these problems Aimed at college administrators and Title IX coordinators who are responsible for leading campuses that are safe for everyone Ending Sexual Violence in College also enables those who work or live on a college campus to take an active role in making the campus safer   Eurasian Economic Perspectives Mehmet Huseyin Bilgin,Hakan Danis,Gökhan Karabulut,Giray Gözgor,2020-03-31 This book presents selected papers from the 23rd Eurasia Business and Economics Society EBES Conference held in Madrid Spain While the theoretical and empirical papers presented cover diverse areas of economics and finance in different geographic regions the main focus is on the latest research concerning international trade public economics and regional studies The book also includes studies on the economics of innovation inequality and tourism particular the book scrutinizes and compares the security narratives of the former US presidents George W Bush and Barack Obama It shows how their framings of identity i e of the American self and the enemy other facilitated a certain construction of threat that shaped the presidents detention and interrogation policies By defining what was necessary in the name of national security Bush s narrative justified the operation of the detention center at Guantanamo Bay and rendered the mistreatment of detainees possible a situation that would have otherwise been illegal Bush s framings therefore enabled legal limits to be pushed and made the violation of rules appear legitimate Obama in contrast constructed a threat scenario that required an end to rule violations and the closure of Guantanamo for security reasons According to this narrative a return to the rule of law was imperative if the American people were to be kept safe However Obama s framing was continually challenged and it was never able to dominate public discourse Consequently Framing the Threat argues Obama was unable to implement the policy changes he had announced
