New Regionalism And Asylum Seekers Challenges Ahead Studies In Forced Migration:

New Regionalism and Asylum Seekers Susan Kneebone, Felicity Rawlings-Sanaei, 2007 Includes statistical tables

New Regionalism and Asylum Seekers Susan Kneebone, Felicity Rawlings-Sanaei, 2007-10-01 Taking the context of forced migration this book addresses the role that regional in contrast to national or global institutions and relationships play in shaping asylum policies and procedures It examines the causes of forced migration movements the direction of forced migration flows and its effect upon the immediate region policy responses towards forced migration in particular ASEAN and the European Community cooperative arrangements and agreements between regional states and the protection of human rights The book also considers the role that regional responses are likely to play in determining the direction of asylum policy in receiving states and procedures in the future

Not Born a Refugee Woman Maroussia Hajdukowski-Ahmed, Nazilla Khanlou, Helene Moussa, 2008 Not Born a Refugee Woman is an in depth inquiry into the identity construction of refugee women It challenges and rethinks current identity concepts policies and practices in the context of a globalizing environment and in the increasingly racialized post September 11th context from the perspective of refugee women This collection brings together scholar practitioners from across a wide range of disciplines The authors emphasize refugee women s agency resilience and creativity in the continuum of domestic civil and transnational violence and conflicts whether in flight or in resettlement during their uprooted journey and beyond Through the analysis of local examples and international case studies the authors critically examine gendered and interrelated factors such as location humanitarian aid race cultural norms and current psycho social research that affect the identity and well being of refugee women This volume is destined to a wide audience of scholars students policy makers advocates and service providers interested in new developments and critical practices in domains related to gender and forced migrations

Politics of Innocence Simon Turner, 2012 Based on thorough ethnographic fieldwork in a refugee camp in Tanzania this book provides a rich account of the benevolent disciplining mechanisms of humanitarian agencies led by the UNHCR and of the situated dynamic indeterminate and fluid nature of identity re construction in the camp While the refugees are expected to behave as innocent helpless victims the question of victimhood among Burundian Hutu is increasingly challenged following the 1993 massacres in Burundi and the Rwandan genocide The book explores how different groups within the camp apply different strategies to cope with these issues and how the question of innocence and victimhood is itself imbued with ambiguity as young men struggle to recuperate their masculinity and their political subjectivity

Globalization and Its Impact on Violence Against Vulnerable Groups Boskovic, Milica S., 2019-08-16 Violence is most common when there is a power disparity between two groups of people and those with less power are far more likely to become the victim in a violent situation Environment has as much influence on whether or not violence will occur as the person or people involved and this relationship has drawn the attention of researchers worldwide Globalization and Its Impact on Violence Against Vulnerable Groups is an essential source that provides research that delves deeply into occurrences of violence and the environmental and personal influences that lead to violence in order to better understand and prevent it from happening Featuring a wide range of topics such as e blackmail human displacement and psychology this book is ideal for criminologists law enforcement psychologists therapists academicians sociologists anthropologists government officials researchers and students Deterritorialized Youth Dawn Chatty,2010-04-01 The Sahrawi and Afghan refugee youth in the Middle East have been stereotyped regionally and internationally some have been objectified as passive victims others have become the beneficiaries of numerous humanitarian aid packages which presume the primacy of the Western model of child development This book compares and contrasts both the stereotypes and Western based models of humanitarian assistance among Sahrawi youth with the lack of programming and near total self sufficiency of Afghan refugee youth in Iran Both extremes offer an important opportunity to further explore the impact which forced migration and prolonged conflict have had and continue to have on the lives of these refugee youth and their families This study examines refugee communities closely linked with the United Nations High Commission for Refugees UNHCR and a host of other UN agencies in the case of the Sahrawi and near total lack of humanitarian aid in the case of Afghan refugees in Iran Iron in the Soul Peter Loizos,2008 In his vivid lively account of how Greek Cypriot villagers coped with a thirty year displacement Peter Lo zos follows a group of people whom he encountered as prosperous farmers in 1968 yet found as disoriented refugees when revisiting in 1975 By providing a forty year in depth perspective unusual in the social sciences this study yields unconventional insights into the deeper meanings of displacement It focuses on reconstruction of livelihoods conservation of family community social capital health both physical and mental religious and political perceptions The author argues for a closer collaboration between anthropology and the life sciences particularly medicine and social epidemiology but suggests that qualitative life history data have an important role to play in the understanding of how people cope with collective stress Materialising Exile Sandra H. Dudley,2010 Focusing on the highly diverse Karenni refugee population living in camps on the Thai Burma border this innovative book explores materiality embodiment memory imagination and identity among refugees providing new and important ways of understanding how refugees make sense of experience self and other It examines how and to what ends refugees perceive represent manipulate use as metaphor and otherwise engage with material objects and spaces and includes a focus on the real and metaphorical journeys that bring about and perpetuate exile The combined emphasis on both displacement and materiality and the analysis of the cultural construction and intersections of exilic objects spaces and bodies are unique in the study of both refugees and material culture Drawing theoretical influences from phenomenology aesthetics and beyond as well as from refugee studies and anthropology the author addresses the current lack of theoretical analysis of the material visual spatial and embodied aspects of forced migration providing a fundamentally interlinked analysis of enforced exile and materiality Refugees, Asylum Seekers and the Rule of Law Susan Kneebone,2009-03-19 An assessment of the impact of asylum on the integrity of the rule of law in five common law jurisdictions Remaking Home Maja Korac, 2009-10-01 Rather than emphasising boundaries and territories by examining the integration and acculturation of the immigrant or the refugee this book offers insights into the ideas and practices of individuals settling into new societies and cultures It analyses their ideas of connecting and belonging their accounts of the past the present and the future the interaction and networks of relations practical strategies and the different meanings of home and belonging that are constructed in new sociocultural settings The author uses empirical research to explore the experiences of refugees from the successor states of Yugoslavia who are struggling to make a home for themselves in Amsterdam and Rome By explaining how real people navigate through the difficulties of their displacement as well as the numerous scenarios and barriers to their emplacement the author sheds new light on our understanding of what it is like to be a refugee Years of Conflict Jason Hart, 2008-09-01 Recent years have witnessed a significant growth of interest in the consequences of political violence and displacement for the young However when speaking of children commentators have often taken the situation of those in early and middle childhood as representative of all young people under eighteen years of age As a consequence the specific situation of adolescents negotiating the processes of transition towards social adulthood amidst conditions of violence and displacement is commonly overlooked Years of Conflict provides a much needed corrective Drawing upon perspectives from anthropology psychology and media studies as well as the insights of those involved in programmatic interventions it describes and analyses the experiences of older children facing the challenges of daily life in settings of conflict post conflict and refuge Several authors also reflect upon methodological issues in pursuing research with young people in such settings The accounts span the globe taking in Liberia Afghanistan South Africa Peru Jordan UK Western Europe Eastern Africa Iran USA and Colombia This book will be invaluable to those seeking a fuller understanding of conflict and displacement and its effects upon adolescents It will also be welcomed by practitioners concerned to develop more effective ways of providing support to this group

Comparative Regional Protection Frameworks for Refugees , The Legal Protection of Refugees with Disabilities Mary Crock, Laura Smith-Khan, Ron McCallum, Ben Saul, 2017-08-25 This ground breaking book focuses on the forgotten refugees detailing people with disabilities who have crossed borders in search of protection from disaster or human conflict The authors explore the intersection between one of the oldest international human rights treaties the 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees with one of the newest the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities CRPD Drawing on fieldwork in six countries hosting refugees in a variety of contexts Malaysia Indonesia Pakistan Uganda Jordan and Turkey the book examines how the CRPD is or should be changing the way that governments and aid agencies engage with and accommodate persons with disabilities in situations of displacement The timeliness of the book is underscored by the adoption in mid 2016 of the UN Charter on Inclusion of Persons with Disabilities in Humanitarian Action adopted at the World Humanitarian Summit 'Brothers' Or Others? Anita H. Fábos, 2008 Muslim Arab Sudanese in Cairo have played a fundamental role in Egyptian history and society during many centuries of close relations between Egypt and Sudan Although the government and official press describes them as brothers in a united Nile Valley recent political developments in Egypt have underscored the precarious legal status of Sudanese in Cairo Neither citizens nor foreigners they are in an uncertain position created in part through an unusual ethnic discourse which does not draw principally on obvious characteristics of difference This rich ethnographic study shows instead that Sudanese ethnic identity is created from deeply held social values especially those concerning gender and propriety shared by Sudanese and Egyptian communities The resulting ethnic identity is ambiguous and flexible allowing Sudanese to voice their frustrations and make claims for their own uniqueness while acknowledging the identity that they share with the dominant Egyptian community The Australia-ASEAN Dialogue S. Wood,B. He,2014-10-23 This book examines the Australia ASEAN Dialogue Partnership since its inception in 1974 and looks at the networks of engagement that have shaped relations across three areas regionalism non traditional security and economic engagement Trafficking and Human Rights Leslie Holmes,2010-01-01 Human trafficking is widely considered to be the fastest growing branch of trafficking As this important book reveals it has moved rapidly up the agenda of states and international organisations since the early 1990s not only because of this growth but also as its implications for security and human rights have become clearer This fascinating study by international experts provides original research findings on human trafficking with particular reference to Europe South East Asia and Australia A major focus is on why and how many states and organisations act in ways that undermine trafficked victims rights as part of quadruple victimisation It compares and contrasts policies and suggests which seem to work best and why The contributors also advocate radical new approaches that most states and other formal organisations appear loath to introduce for reasons that are explored in this unique book

The Oxford Handbook of International Refugee Law Cathryn Costello,Michelle Foster,Jane McAdam,2021-06-02 The Oxford Handbook of International Refugee Law is a comprehensive critical work which analyses the state of research across the refugee law regime as a whole Drawing together leading and emerging scholars the Handbook provides both doctrinal and theoretical analyses of international refugee law and practice It critiques existing law from a variety of normative positions with several chapters identifying foundational flaws that open up space for radical rethinking Many authors work directly in the field and their contributions demonstrate how scholarship and practice can mutually inform each other Contributions assess a wide range of international legal instruments relevant to refugee protection including from international human rights law international humanitarian law international migration law the law of the sea and international and transnational criminal law Geographically contributors examine regional and domestic laws and practices from around the world with 10 chapters focused on specific regions This Handbook provides an account as well as a critique of the status quo and in so doing it sets the agenda for future academic research in international refugee law

(Re)constructing Armenia in Lebanon and Syria Nicola Migliorino,2008-06-01 For almost nine decades since their

mass resettlement to the Levant in the wake of the Genocide and First World War the Armenian communities of Lebanon and Syria appear to have successfully maintained a distinct identity as an ethno culturally diverse group in spite of representing a small non Arab and Christian minority within a very different mostly Arab and Muslim environment The author shows that while in Lebanon the state has facilitated the development of an extensive and effective system of Armenian ethno cultural preservation in Syria the emergence of centralizing authoritarian regimes in the 1950s and 1960s has severely damaged the autonomy and cultural diversity of the Armenian community Since 1970 the coming to power of the Asad family has contributed to a partial recovery of Armenian ethno cultural diversity as the community seems to have developed some form of tacit arrangement with the regime In Lebanon on the other hand the Armenian community suffered the consequences of the recurrent breakdown of the consociational arrangement that regulates public life In both cases the survival of Armenian cultural distinctiveness seems to be connected rather incidentally with the continuing search for legitimacy of the state

Asylum as Reparation James Souter, 2021-12-10 This book argues that states have a special obligation to offer asylum as a form of reparation to refugees for whose flight they are responsible It shows the great relevance of reparative justice and the importance of the causes of contemporary forced migration for our understanding of states responsibilities to refugees Part I explains how this view presents an alternative to the dominant humanitarian approach to asylum in political theory and some practice Part II outlines the conditions under which asylum should act as a form of reparation arguing that a state owes this form of asylum to refugees where it bears responsibility for the unjustified harms that they experience and where asylum is the most fitting form of reparation available Part III explores some of the ethical implications of this reparative approach to asylum for the workings of states asylum systems and the international politics of refugee protection

The Oxford Handbook of Refugee and Forced Migration Studies Elena Fiddian-Qasmiyeh, Gil Loescher, Katy Long, Nando Sigona, 2014-06-12 Refugee and Forced Migration Studies has grown from being a concern of a relatively small number of scholars and policy researchers in the 1980s to a global field of interest with thousands of students worldwide studying displacement either from traditional disciplinary perspectives or as a core component of newer programmes across the Humanities and Social and Political Sciences Today the field encompasses both rigorous academic research which may or may not ultimately inform policy and practice as well as action research focused on advocating in favour of refugees needs and rights This authoritative Handbook critically evaluates the birth and development of Refugee and Forced Migration Studies and analyses the key contemporary and future challenges faced by academics and practitioners working with and for forcibly displaced populations around the world The 52 state of the art chapters written by leading academics practitioners and policymakers working in universities research centres think tanks NGOs and international organizations provide a comprehensive and cutting edge overview of the key intellectual political social and institutional challenges arising from mass displacement in the world today The chapters vividly illustrate the vibrant and engaging debates that characterize this rapidly expanding field of research and practice
