Stemming the Tide Madeline Baer, 2017-08-01 When privatization of public services swept the developing world in the 1990s it was part of a seemingly unstoppable tide of neoliberal reforms aimed at reducing the role of the state and reorienting economies toward market led policymaking Water privatization one of the more unpopular policies of the neoliberal development paradigm sparked a particularly fierce debate and gave rise to a movement of self proclaimed water warriors who advocated for legal recognition of water as a basic human right to be protected and fulfilled by states Broadening the debate Madeline Baer questions whether either approach the market approach or a human rights based approach leads to improved access to water More specifically Baer explores how the human right to water and sanitation is fulfilled in different contexts whether neoliberal policies like privatization pose a threat to the right to water and whether rights fulfillment leads to meaningful social change Using two case studies Chile the most extreme case of water privatization in the developing world and Bolivia the birthplace of the global movement for the human right to water Stemming the Tide uncovers the conditions under which the right to water and sanitation can be fulfilled as well as the obstacles to fulfillment Ultimately this book argues that deepening mechanisms for citizen participation strengthening accountability and creating alternatives to the state market binary can help achieve meaningful social transformation in the water sector Rights-Based Community Practice and Academic Activism in a Turbulent World

Jim Torczyner, 2020-12-20 Drawing on a theoretical model of coexistence premised on universality reciprocity and inclusion this book focusses on the development of academic social work programs and cross border partnerships to promote social justice and peace in Israel Palestine and Jordan Using the model of rights based practice initiated by Professor Torczyner in Montreal and brought to the Middle East in the 1990s it shows how the creation and brokering of cross border partnerships added the concept of rights based practice to the lexicon of these countries established groundbreaking advocacy centers in the hearts of disadvantaged communities developed academic social work programs and initiated important policy changes in each country to reduce inequality and promote social inclusion Showing how this evolving method of rights based practice rooted in theories of coexistence was uniquely adapted in different contexts and cultures while negotiating complex volatile political environments it illustrates how long term peace can be advanced when like minded people irrespective of nationality or religion find ways to promote common interest and a regional culture where all people share the same rights This book will be of interest to all social work students and practitioners interested in community organization and rights based practice as well as scholars policy makers and practitioners of international development political science peace studies Jewish studies Middle Eastern studies reconciliation and conflict resolution The SAGE Encyclopedia of War: Social
