thought about his enemy The book explains the background history of the organisations involved followed by short chapters based around a series of original documents This puts the original into context and also discusses whether the document that follows was correct in the picture it painted and what can be deduced about sources and the concerns of the intelligence officers who compiled the material Most of the documents were produced at the time by the British War Office or US War Department and cover different aspects of the German Army including tactics weapons and uniforms Subjects include Allied intelligence on the German Army from 1930 onwards British SIS MI6 and US Military Intelligence The organisations responsible how they worked and how they changed very rapidly with the coming of war The role of technology modern like the radio transmitter ancient as in scouring libraries and periodicals reports on military manoeuvres and parades Limitations of Ultra The German army itself from the tiny force left after Versailles to the rapid expansion in the late 1930s Innovation in tanks tactics machine guns rocket weaponry The problems of gathering intelligence not just danger but finance asking the right questions and the limitations of reporting and distribution occupation This was a true people's army drawn from across German society and reflecting that society as it existed under the Nazis Without the army and its conquests abroad Shepherd explains the Nazi regime could not have perpetrated its crimes against Jews prisoners of war and civilians in occupied countries The author examines how the army was complicit in these crimes and why some soldiers units and higher commands were more complicit than others Shepherd also reveals the reasons for the army's early battlefield successes and its mounting defeats up to 1945 the latter due not only to Allied superiority and Hitler's mismanagement as commander in chief but also to the failings moral political economic strategic and operational of the army's own leadership
