moment too soon then that urbanization is suddenly at the centre of global policy making In 2015 the governments of the UN adopted the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and in 2016 they adopted the New Urban Agenda However the question of how these Agendas will be pursued concretely remains Unfortunately the prevailing model is rigidly technocratic Charter of Athens from 1933 the strict functionalist separation of activities that it prescribes still dominates planning practices worldwide The purpose of The Quito Papers and the New Urban Agenda is to start a discussion that both challenges this status quo and opens up new lines of enquiry It intentionally does not propose a manifesto made up of simplistic slogans and recommendations as cities in the 21st century are more fragile and complex Its content therefore is intentionally broad ranging from architecture planning and urban design to land ownership and regulation water management and environmental philosophy This multifaceted assembly of perspectives critiques the tenets of the Charter of Athens identify new trends and propose new insights on contemporary urbanization Part One outlines the overall challenges facing cities in the 21st century and Part Two offers a number of conceptual frameworks and approaches for dealing with those challenges Each Part is also composed of a body of illustrated arguments synthesized from selectively abridged background papers from over 15 commissioned authors interspersed with in depth papers

Mega-Events and Legacies in Post-Metropolitan Spaces Stefano Di Vita, Corinna Morandi, 2017-11-29 This book offers new perspectives through which to observe and interpret mega events Using the specific case studies of World's Fairs Di Vita and Morandi present a report of the Milan Expo 2015 and its trans scalar legacies While the event and post event have been affected by the world crisis the locations of exhibition areas have greatly expanded encompassing regional as well as post metropolitan spaces The two main aims of comparing Milan to previous expos such as Lisbon 1998 Zaragoza 2008 and Shanghai 2010 were to demonstrate the contribution of the 2015 World's Fair to the urban innovation process and to the debate surrounding a new urban agenda as well as to examine empirically and theoretically the international discussion regarding the growth of regional and macro regional scales of contemporary cities in order to offer suggestions for future urban agendas through mega events This book will be of great value to students researchers and policy makers in the area of urban planning and the urban studies more broadly geography and spatial politics

Crisis, Conflict and Celebration Katarzyna Kajdanek, Anna Bednarczyk, Rui Carvalho, 2025-02-03 This book illuminates how the profound challenges faced by contemporary societies over the past few decades encompassing climate change and other environmental risks global health threats warfare and mass migration manifest themselves in European cities The chapters bring cutting edge ethnographic studies which address these complex issues through three key conceptual dimensions of urban life crisis conflict and celebration The concept of crisis is critically explored in its various economic political and cultural dimensions affecting urban residents in multiple social and spatial aspects of their lives Crises often lead to conflicts dynamic processes that give rise to interest groups and complex social landscapes of resistance By examining conflicts in urban contexts the book uncovers the power dynamics and vulnerabilities emerging during turbulent times Crises and conflicts also present opportunities for urban transformation and regeneration bringing underlying beliefs and norms into question paving the way for new social dynamics within urban environments These conflictual spaces can therefore become arenas for celebration of urbanity where communities express resilience cultural identity and collective solidarity As well as providing new insights into the present and future of European cities and the pivotal role of urban areas as centers of social change contestation and community building the book provides an important methodological contribution through innovative qualitative research in a diverse range of European urban areas

Resilience vs Pandemics Ali Cheshmehzangi, Maycon Sedrez, Hang Zhao, Tian Li, Tim Heath, Ayotunde Dawodu, 2023-12-14 The COVID 19 pandemic and other highly transmissible diseases outbreaks have given a new significance to the concept of resilience placing it in the spotlight of built environment related studies New directions have emerged from expanding on adaptive planning urban layouts urban morphologies spatial planning healthy cities etc To enhance resilience in the post pandemic era various theories practices and hypotheses are being formulated by scholars around the world For this book project we invite chapter proposals that provide forefront discoveries about the built environment resilience during and after the ongoing pandemic Historical perspectives of resilience and other highly transmissible diseases are also relevant to understanding the COVID 19 issues The authors are encouraged to elaborate on critical exploratory innovative and cutting edge research approaches highlighting the effects of COVID 19 and other highly transmissible diseases in the design planning and perception of the built environment We aim to gather scientific experiences reviews analyses discussions recommendations and solutions in the fields of urban planning urban design urban management environmental science architecture etc The book aims to document resilience related innovations and new perspectives for the built environment how people s interactions adapt to new realities and which mechanisms tools and strategies are required for such transformations in the following two scales of the built environments 1 City district research on planning commuting and mobility politics urban configurations regulations transmission and prevention models top down processes innovation processes etc 2 Community neighborhood research on collaboration transmission and prevention isolation and quarantine social aspects accessibility to services technologies education policies and innovative solutions The book covers a wide range of studies including physical and non physical studies which may refer to the city infrastructure green blue spaces housing policy making health services social and economic issues etc The findings and results contribute to the decision making of governments organizations and institutions as well as inspire scholars and future research for developing resilience in the post pandemic era

Strengthening the resilience of city region food systems: A literature review following the COVID-19 pandemic FAO; CIRAD; RUAF,2024-11-29 To enhance the resilience of food systems it is essential to understand the long term impacts of recent global shocks and stresses and extract key lessons learned Shifts in consumption patterns and purchasing power are driving gradual adaptations and transformations within food systems making these changes difficult to fully comprehend Given this complexity it is crucial to analyse how various stakeholders respond to these shocks and the resulting implications for the resilience and sustainability of food systems This literature review seeks to clarify the concept of resilience in the context of city region food systems CRFS It highlights key principles that could strengthen CRFS resilience and focuses on the resilience capacities within these systems examining the attributes needed to develop and support these capacities By using the COVID 19 pandemic as a case study the report explores the impacts individual responses and collective actions that reveal the complexities of CRFS It also synthesizes a range of recommendations from the literature to improve food system resilience Finally it distills key lessons from the literature review and suggests a path forward This report does not aim to exhaustively review the extensive and growing body of literature on the impacts of the COVID 19 pandemic on food systems nor does it cover all aspects of food system resilience. Instead it offers a targeted perspective on how the pandemic has influenced current thinking around food system resilience.

Future City Architecture for Optimal Living Stamatina Th. Rassia, Panos M. Pardalos, 2015-04-01 This book offers a wealth of interdisciplinary approaches to urbanization strategies in architecture centered on growing concerns about the future of cities and their impacts on essential elements of architectural optimization: livability, energy consumption and sustainability. It portrays the urban condition in architectural terms as well as the living condition in human terms, both of which can be optimized by mathematical modeling as well as mathematical calculation and assessment. Special features include new research on the construction of future cities and smart cities, discussions of sustainability and new technologies designed to advance ideas to future city developments. Graduate students and researchers in architecture, engineering, mathematical modeling and building physics will be engaged by the contributions written by eminent international experts from a variety of disciplines including architecture, engineering, modeling, optimization and related fields.

Transforming Urban Economies Andrea Colantonio, Richard Burdett, Philipp Rode, 2013-08-15 Cities house the majority of the world's population and are the dynamic centres of 21st century life at the heart of economic, social and environmental change. They are still beset by difficult problems but often demonstrate resilience in the face of regional and national economic decline. Faced by the combined threats of globalisation and world recession, cities and their metropolitan regions have had to fight hard to maintain their global competitiveness and protect the quality of life of urban residents. Transforming Urban Economies Policy Lessons from European and Asian Cities, the first in an ongoing series of research volumes by LSE Cities, provides insights in how cities can respond positively to these challenges. The fine-grained and authoritative analysis of how Barcelona, Turin, Munich and Seoul have been transformed in the last 20 years examines comparative patterns of decline, adaptation and recovery of cities that have successfully managed to transform their economies in the face of economic hardship. This in-depth and practical analysis is aimed at urban leaders, designers, planners, policymakers and scholars who want to understand the dynamics of economic resilience while cities are still suffering from the aftershocks of the 2008 recession. The book highlights the importance of aligned and multi-level governance, the need for strategic public investments and the role of the private sector, universities and foundations in leading and guiding complex processes of urban recovery in an increasingly uncertain age.
