Burney,Andrew J. Auge,2024-10-29 In June 1996 the British government convened multiparty talks trying to establish peace within Northern Ireland after thirty years of bloody civil war based on religious cultural political and economic tensions known as The Troubles The talks included political parties from the two factions central to the conflict Unionists largely Protestants committed to retaining Northern Ireland within the United Kingdom and Nationalists largely Catholics committed to the reunification of Northern Ireland with the independent Republic of Ireland Fundamental questions on national identity and democracy quickly turned these proceedings into faction bickering thus failing to produce any substantive progress The emergence of new leaders in 1997 Tony Blair prime minister of Great Britain and Bertie Ahern taoiseach in the Republic of Ireland created an opportunity for reenergizing the talks chaired by the former US senator George Mitchell with all parties making a concerted effort to reach a viable resolution among Nationalists and

Unionists In the game students will represent the major parties in Northern Ireland as they reconvene at the multiparty talks in 1997 to find ways to reconcile two competing visions of Northern Irish nationalism or at least find a way for each community to tolerate one another's participation in a common constitutional arrangement Much is at stake for another failure could lead to a full resumption of the civil war
