Digital Library Preservation Strategies Nicholas Lawson, 2018-01-29 Special libraries are facing increasing challenges today The biggest challenge before them is how to demonstrate that they are the best source of specialized information despite reliance on the web for information Special libraries therefore need to change in terms of their collections roles services and evolve strategies for managing the change Preservation refers to the set of activities that aims to prolong the life of a record and relevant metadata or enhance its value or improve access to it through noninterventive means This includes actions taken to influence records creators prior to selection and acquisition The purpose of preservation is to ensure protection of information of enduring value for access by present and future generations Libraries and archives have served as the central institutional focus for preservation and both types of institutions include preservation as one of their core functions In recent decades many major libraries and archives have established formal preservation programs for traditional materials which include regular allocation of resources for preservation preventive measures to arrest deterioration of materials remedial measures to restore the usability of selected materials and the incorporation of preservation needs and requirements into overall program planning This book attempts to provide all basic aspects of digital library in an authentic but simple style It describes the revolutionary changes brought out by digital libraries in the entire concept of library organisation managements and operations It also discusses the challenges emerging due to the adoption of newer technologies Digital Libraries Fabrice Papy, 2016-01-29 The technological interoperability of digital libraries must be rethought in order to adapt to new uses and networks Informative digital environments aimed at responding to heritage cultural scientific or commercial demands have taken over the global cyberspace and have redesigned the techno informative landscape of the Web However while the technological models demonstrate their effectiveness and explain to a large extent the creation of digital libraries archives and deposits the subjacent concept of uses continues to cause debate The information technologies used by heterogeneous digital libraries enable a technical interoperability of content This is not enough to allow the adhesion of a public connected to very different information profiles and techniques This book explores the avenues of a user orientated interoperability where the questions of consultation interfaces and content description processes are studied Discusses Metadata as a resource for linking Provides a practical approach A valuable resource for anyone involved in digital library developments and digital collections and services

Current Practices in Academic Librarianship V. Uma, V.J. Suseela, 2014-09-09 The book covers a wide variety of themes with good number of practical papers such as Library Automation Digitization Data Mining Data Warehousing Cloud Computing Management of e Journals e Resources Strategic Management and Stress Management It is hoped that the present work Current Practices in Academic Librarianship will have practical application and find wider audience not only among the academic librarians but also by a large number of enthusiastic and upcoming LIS professionals associated with all types of libraries It is a guiding manual with regard to current practices in LIS field Infonomics and the Business of Free: Modern Value Creation for Information Services Regazzi, John J., 2013-08-31 The term infonomics has been coined to convey the underlying value of information in terms of its production market demand and economic impact All consumers have come to assume that the information they seek is easily accessible and more importantly free of charge Infonomics and the Business of Free: Modern Value Creation for Information Services addresses the question of whether or not information has become a commodity and examines how infonomics and the business of free have changed the way companies must create and market their information to make it accessible and valuable for their customers Information professionals who are responsible for creating valuable information and making services sustainable and accessible will greatly benefit from this book s unique perspective and complete review of current research Nonprofit Organizations and the Intellectual Commons Jyh-An Lee, 2012-01-01 There is no issue more fundamental to the growth of the open source society than a more mature and penetrating understanding of the nature of the nonprofit organization in a digital culture Professor Lee s book is essential reading to this fundamental topic beautifully written and brilliantly conceived Lawrence Lessig Harvard Law School US Jyh An Lee provides the first comprehensive account of nonprofit organizations and their overlooked role in setting and working around intellectual property policy The reader will find a wealth of information and a novel theory of NPOs as part of the IP ecosystem Mark A Lemley Stanford Law School US Over the past twenty years a number of nonprofit organizations NPOs such as Creative Commons the Electronic Frontier Foundation and the Free Software Foundation have laid essential building blocks for intellectual commons as a social movement Through a detailed description of these NPOs and a series of in depth interviews with their officials this book demonstrates that NPOs have provided the social structures that are necessary to support the production of intellectual commons By illustrating NPOs role in shaping the commons realm this book provides a new lens through which to understand the intellectual commons environment Protecting intellectual commons has been one of the most important goals of recent innovation and information policies This book focuses on the NPOs that occupy an increasingly critical and visible position in the intellectual commons environment in recent years This detailed study will appeal to academics in intellectual property and internet law nonprofit organizations academics and professionals and those involved in the Free Culture and Open Source Software Movement
