Standards & Objectives

Addressed in Sound Energy

Overarching Question: How does sound energy travel?

Standard Addressed:
4.PS.2.2 Make observations to provide evidence that energy can be transferred from place to place by sound, light, heat, and electric currents.

Objectives:

Station 1
To make observations and provide evidence that a sound is a vibration.

Station 2
To make observations and provide evidence that sound travels in all directions.

To understand that sound waves travel occur through compression and rarefaction.

To make observations and find evidence that increasing force/energy increases the amplitude.

To make observations and find evidence that when sound waves travel through denser materials, the waves are longer, and the sound produced has a lower frequency.

To make observations and find evidence that dense materials can transmit sound better than less dense materials and that sound bounces off flat surfaces better than bumpy and/or rough surfaces.

To make observations and find evidence that sound travels best through solids, then through liquids, and worst through gases.

Pacing Guide

Suggested Order of Instruction - Energy

9-11 weeks

In the first six weeks, students engage and explore four types of energy in activities. These activity-based units can be taught in any order.

Sound 5-6 days

Students explore sound energy in six hands-on stations:

1. What is sound?
2. How does sound travel?
3. What is amplitude?
4. What is pitch?
5. Which materials conduct and insulate sound?
6. Does sound travel better through solids, liquids, or gases?

Light 5-6 days

Students explore light energy in six hands-on stations:

1. How does light travel?
2. Which materials are transparent, translucent, and opaque?
3. Which materials reflect light?
4. What is refraction?
5. What is color?
6. Light Reading

Heat 8-11 days

Students work in small groups to complete eight hands-on activities:

1. What is heat?
2. How does heat travel?
3. What is conduction?
4. What is convection?
5. What is radiation?
6. What materials insulate and conduct heat?
7. How does heat change matter?
8. How do we measure heat?

Next Generation Science Pacing Guide Grade 1:

Teacher's Guide to Using the Next Generation Science Standards With Gifted and Advanced Learners Cheryll M. Adams, Alicia Cotabish, Debbie Dailey, 2021-09-23 A Teacher's Guide to Using the Next Generation Science Standards With Gifted and Advanced Learners provides teachers and administrators with practical examples of ways to build comprehensive coherent and rigorous science learning experiences for gifted and advanced students from kindergarten to high school. It provides an array of examples across the four domains of science: physical sciences, Earth and space sciences, life sciences, and engineering technology and applications of science. Each learning experience indicates the performance expectation addressed and includes a sequence of activities, implementation examples, connections to the CCSS Math and CCSS ELA, and formative assessments. Chapters on specific instructional and management strategies, assessment, and professional development suggestions for implementing the standards within the classroom will be helpful for both teachers and administrators.

Helping Students Make Sense of the World Using Next Generation Science and Engineering Practices Christina V. Schwarz, Cynthia Passmore, Brian J. Reiser, 2017-01-31 When it's time for a game change, you need a guide to the new rules. Helping Students Make Sense of the World Using Next Generation Science and Engineering Practices provides a play-by-play understanding of the practices strand of A Framework for K-12 Science Education Framework and the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS). Written in clear, nontechnical language, this book provides a wealth of real-world examples to show you what's different about practice-centered teaching and learning at all grade levels. The book addresses three important questions: 1. How will engaging students in science and engineering practices help improve science education? 2. What do the eight practices look like in the classroom? 3. How can educators engage students in practices to bring the NGSS to life? Helping Students Make Sense of the World Using Next Generation Science and Engineering Practices was developed for K-12 science teachers, curriculum developers, teacher educators, and administrators. Many of its authors contributed to the Framework's initial vision and tested their ideas in actual science classrooms. If you want a fresh game plan to help students work together to generate and revise knowledge, not just receive and repeat information, this book is for you.

Planning Science Instruction for Emergent Bilinguals Edward G. Lyon, Kelly M. Mackura, 2023 Drawing on extensive and current research, the authors show how secondary educators can use students' own language and lived experiences coupled with authentic science practices to provide rich and relevant language support. The text offers a set of tools, including blank templates and completed examples, to guide educators through the planning process.

Transforming Teaching Through Curriculum-Based Professional Learning James B. Short, Stephanie Hirsh, 2022-08-12 The future of professional learning starts here. Analyzing the Curriculum George J. Posner, 1995 As a primary text this book provides the backbone for a basic curriculum course at either graduate or undergraduate level It attempts to teach how the parts of a curriculum fit together and how to identify assumptions underlying curricula In this way students develop the ability to determine why a curriculum proves better for some than for others what approaches to teaching are compatible with a particular curriculum what difficulties a curriculum is likely to encounter during implementation and what kinds of changes in the curriculum parents students and administrators are likely to demand These are important skills for evaluating selecting and adapting existing programmes to suit particular situations
