The African Diaspora in the United States and Canada at the Dawn of the 21st Century John W. Frazier, Joe T. Darden, Norah F. Henry, 2010-09-01 Drawing on the work of social scientists from geographic historical sociological and political science perspectives this volume offers new perspectives on the African Diaspora in the United States and Canada It has been approximately four centuries since the first Africans set foot in North America and although it is impossible for any text to capture the complete Black experience on the continent the persistent legacy of Black inequality and the winds of dramatic change are inseparable parts of the current African Diaspora experience In addition to comparing and contrasting the experiences and geographic patterns of the African Diaspora in the United States and Canada the book also explores important distinctions between the experiences of African Americans and those of more recent African and Afro Caribbean immigrants

Translating in Linguistically Diverse Societies Gabriel González Núñez, 2016-09-09 This work is the first book length treatment on translation policy Nearly everywhere in the world populations are multilingual and mobile consequently language policies developed by the authorities must include choices about the use or non use of translation This book recognizes that these choices or the absence thereof become policies of their own in terms of translation It builds upon the work of scholars in the fields of translation studies and language planning and policy in order to develop a new theoretical perspective on translation policy In essence the book proposes that translation policy can be understood as the management practice and beliefs surrounding the use of translation The book deals with these issues under European and international law and then explores such management practice and beliefs in the UK as a case study Ultimately the reader can find a fuller appreciation of both the importance and complexity of translation policy Love and Liberation Lauren Carruth,2021-10-15 Lauren Carruth's Love and Liberation tells a new kind of humanitarian story. The protagonists are not volunteers from afar but rather Somali locals caring for each other, nurses, aid workers, policymakers, drivers, community health workers, and bureaucrats. The contributions of locals are often taken for granted, and the competencies, aspirations, and effectiveness of local staffers frequently remain muted or absent from the planning and evaluation of humanitarian interventions structured by outsiders. Relief work is traditionally imagined as politically neutral and impartial, and interventions are planned as temporary, extraordinary, and distant. Carruth provides an alternative vision of what humanitarian response means in practice, not driven by International Humanitarian Law, the missions of Western relief organizations, or trends in the aid industry or academia, but instead by what Somalis call samafal. Samafal is structured by the cultivation of lasting relationships of care, interdependence, kinship, and ethnic solidarity. Samafal is also explicitly political, and potentially emancipatory. Humanitarian responses present opportunities for Somalis to begin to redress histories of colonial partitions and to make the most out of their political and economic marginalization. By centering Love and Liberation around Somalis' understanding and enactments of samafal, Carruth offers a new perspective on politics and intervention in Africa.

African Migration to Thailand Elżbieta M. Goździak, Supang Chantavanich,2022-09-07 This book, based on exploratory ethnographic research, analyzes the experiences of African migrants in Thailand. Thailand has always been a regional migration hub, with Africans being the most recent. Sitting at the intersection of race and migration studies, this book focuses on the challenges Black and labor migrants face trying to integrate into a society that has had very limited contact with and knowledge about Black Africans. Bringing together research from African, Thai, and European scholars, this volume focuses on forced migrants such as Somali asylum seekers and labor migrants, largely African men seeking better livelihoods in niche economies such as gem trading, garment wholesale, and football playing and coaching. The book also includes theoretical contributions to the understanding of precarity and human security, the concept of invisibility to analyze the challenges African migrants face in Thailand, as well as the concept of othering to understand discrimination against Africans. The book also analyzes the Thai migration policy context and the challenges facing Thai policy makers, law enforcement representatives, and the migrants themselves. While not comparative in nature, this volume directly connects with studies of Africans in other parts of Asia, especially China. Addressing an important gap in migration research, this book will be of interest to researchers across the fields of migration and mobility studies, African Studies, and Asian Studies.
